Irish and British Reflections on Catholic Education Sean Whittle, 2021-02-20 This volume presents an interdisciplinary and systematic review of Catholic Education Studies across Ireland and Britain Taken together the chapters drill down to the foundations identity and leadership matters in Catholic education and schools It is in reading the complete volume that a more precise picture of Catholic education in Ireland and Britain develops into sharper focus This is important because it reflects and crystallises the complexity which has almost organically developed within the field of Catholic Education Studies It also provides a powerful antidote to the na ve reductionism that would boil Catholic education down to just one or two fundamental issues or principles Contemporary Catholic education perhaps globally but certainly in Ireland and Britain is best depicted in terms of being a colourful kaleidoscope of differing perspectives However this diversity is ultimately grounded in the underlying unity of purpose because each of the contributors to this volume is a committed advocate of Catholic education The volume brings together a rich range of scholars into one place so that these voices can be listened to as a whole It includes contributions from leading scholars blended with a plethora of other voices who are emerging to become the next generation of leading researchers in Catholic education It also introduces a number of newer voices to the academic context They present fresh perspectives and thinking about matters relating to Catholic education and each of them confidently stand alongside the other contributors Moreover these reflections on Catholic education are important fruits to have emerged from the collaboration made possible through the creation of the Network for Researchers in Catholic Education which was established in 2016 under the auspices of Heythrop College University of London

Understanding Religion Ulrich Riegel, Stefan Heil, Boris Kalbheim, Alexander Unser, 2019-10-14. Today religion is a complex issue. In Western Europe, the so-called Christian heritage is challenged by both other religious traditions and secular worldviews. It is therefore essential to understand the complexity of religion in different contexts. This volume addresses four questions in this regard: How can we assess religion and religiosity appropriately? What are important markers of religiosity? How does religion affect recent society? How can religion be taught in modern society? By dealing with these questions, the contributions to this volume offer an insight into the recent state of the art of research on religion and religiosity within the field of religious education on an international level.

Issues in Religion and Education, 2015-02-04. Issues in Religion and Education: Whose Religion? is a contribution to the dynamic and evolving global debates about the role of religion in public education. This volume provides a cross-section of the debates over religion's role in public education and the theoretical and political conundrums associated with resolutions. The chapters reflect the contested nature of the role of religion in public education around the world and explore some of the issues mentioned from perspectives reflecting the diverse contexts in which the authors are situated. The differences among the chapters reflect some of the particular ways in which various jurisdictions have come to see the problem and how they have addressed religious diversity in public education in the context of their own histories and politics. Hungary Finland and Canada The authors rely on the widely shared argument that religious change can primarily be understood as an intergenerational process Based on a mixed methods design the book investigates the question of how when exactly and under what conditions the following generations become less religious than the previous ones From the perspective of familial and historical generations the authors examine the significance of religious socialization for the transmission of non religious worldviews affiliation practice and identity According to a central finding religious change takes place primarily in the phase of adolescence against the background of the respective social context Religions, Beliefs and Education in the European Court of Human Rights Nigel Fancourt,2024-02-20 This book represents an exposition of judicial pedagogies as a new concept and discusses juridical educational issues in detail through an analysis of the educational claims and assumptions of judges decisions in the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR It sheds light on how within courtrooms around the world judges are increasingly being asked to decide upon issues of religion and belief in schooling whether about admissions policies curriculum planning or pupils and teachers dress and jewellery With key human rights principles at stake these proceedings are often fraught clashing with strong opinions about education and schooling Focusing on decisions made in the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR the author considers how the supranational court looks at these issues and considers the ECtHR s role within the European Education space Drawing upon research and scholarship surrounding these questions the book surveys a series of educational issues including curriculum and assessment and takes a comparative approach in the discussion of case studies to demonstrate the variety and depth of judges thinking Thus rather than considering the national or supranational legal principles and questions as jurisprudential issues typically about religion or human rights it reviews them from an educational perspective as folk theories of teaching and learning Finally it considers the implications of a theory of judicial pedagogy for the courts educational competence in deciding on these matters for education and educational policy research the European education space legal scholarship and for legal and judicial education Developing a novel and innovative approach to the pedagogies at play in a courtroom and providing fresh insights into the courts as agents of social change it will appeal to scholars and researchers working across the disciplines of education law and religious studies Religious Plurality in Africa Marloes Janson,Kai Kresse,Benedikt Pontzen,Hassan Mwakimako,2024 Grounded in ethnographic and historiographic research and taking a cross regional approach this book explores the complex dynamics of similarity and difference rapprochement and detachment and divergence and competition between practitioners of Christianity Islam and African religious traditions Across Africa Muslims Christians and practitioners of African religious traditions live in shared settings demarcating themselves in opposition to one another and at times engaging in violent conflicts but also being entangled in complex ways and showing unexpected similarities and mutual cross overs However while encounters and entanglements of African religious traditions with either Islam or Christianity have long been a central research issue the configuration as a whole has barely been taken into account even though Muslims Christians and practitioners of African religious traditions have long co existed and still co exist more or less peacefully in many settings in Africa Building on recent interventions to move beyond the compartmentalization of the study of religion in Africa this edited volume will spotlight why and how an integrated approach to Islam Christianity and African religious traditions is important Bringing together stimulating case studies from Kenya Nigeria Zanzibar Ghana and Mozambique that offer new directions for ethnographic and historical research the volume will not only shed light on an important phenomenon out there in the world the long overlooked ways in which Muslims Christians and practitioners of African religious traditions interact with one another in various majority minority configurations but will also engage with a critical rethinking of the study of religion in Africa and beyond

Religious Education in a Global-Local World Jenny Berglund, Yafa Shanneik, Brian Bocking, 2016-07-15 This book examines Religious Education RE in over ten countries including Australia Indonesia Mali Russia UK Ireland USA and Canada Investigating RE from a global and multi interdisciplinary perspective it presents research on the diverse past present and possible future forms of RE In doing so it enhances public and professional understanding of the complex issues and debates surrounding RE in the wider world The volume emphasizes a student centred approach viewing any kind of RE or its absence as a formative lived experience for pupils It stresses a bottom up sociological and ethnographic anthropological research based approach to the study of RE rather than the top down approaches which often start from prescriptive legal ideological or religious standpoints The twelve chapters in this volume regard RE as an entity that has multiple and contested meanings and interpretations that are constantly negotiated For some RE means religious nurturing either tailored to parental views or meant to inculcate a uniform religiosity For others RE means learning about the many religious and non religious world views and secular ethics that exist not promoting one religion or another Some seek to avoid the ambiguous term religious education replacing it with terms such as education about religions and beliefs or the religious dimension of intercultural education

Putting Burdens on Broken Shoulders Ken Crispin,2023-03-22 Conservative Christian views on marriage and divorce are often presented as bulwarks against the tragedy of marital breakdown Yet the advice given to divorced Christians and those facing the disintegration of their relationships is often irresponsible and damaging Women fleeing domestic violence are told they are bound to their abusers by indissoluble spiritual bonds Some are sent back to face further violence Children are exposed to further abuse People are condemned to lives of unnecessary loneliness and second marriages are undermined A pall is cast over many lives Why Why should vulnerable people be given advice that is so damaging Those who protest are told that this is what the Bible teaches But does it This book critically examines the relevant texts revealing fundamental errors due to theological misconceptions and difficulties of understanding nuances of the original languages and the contexts in which crucial words were spoken Properly understood the relevant biblical passages do not lock people into intolerable situations Christians are called to be faithful in their marital relationships but not to pretend that former marriages still exist or refuse to recognize subsequent ones And we are called to embrace not condemn the brokenhearted
