Richard Wright, New Edition Harold Bloom,2009 Presents a selection of criticism devoted to the work of African American author Richard Wright A Fatherless Child Tara T. Green,2014-02-28 The impact of absent fathers on sons in the black community has been a subject for cultural critics and sociologists who often deal in anonymous data Yet many of those sons have themselves addressed the issue in autobiographical works that form the core of African American literature A Fatherless Child examines the impact of fatherlessness on racial and gender identity formation as seen in black men's autobiographies and in other constructions of black fatherhood in fiction Through these works Tara T Green investigates what comes of abandonment by a father and loss of a role model by probing a son's understanding of his father's struggles to define himself and the role of community in forming the son's quest for self definition in his father's absence. Closely examining four works: Langston Hughes's The Big Sea, Richard Wright's Black Boy, Malcolm X's The Autobiography of Malcolm X and Barack Obama's Dreams from My Father, Green portrays the intersecting experiences of generations of black men during the twentieth century both before and after the Civil Rights movement. These four men recall feeling the pressure and responsibility of caring for their mothers, resisting public displays of care and desiring a loving, noncontentious relationship with their fathers. Feeling vulnerable to forces they may have identified as detrimental to their status as black men, they use autobiography as a tool for healing, a way to confront that vulnerability and to claim a lost power associated with their lost fathers. Through her analysis, Green emphasizes the role of community as a father substitute in producing successful black men, the impact of fatherlessness on self-perceptions and relationships with women, and black men's engagement with healing the pain of abandonment. She also looks at why these four men visited Africa to reclaim a cultural history and identity, showing how each developed a clearer understanding of himself as an American man of African descent. A Fatherless Child conveys important lessons relevant to current debates regarding the status of African American families in the twenty-first century. By showing us four black men of different eras, Green asks readers to consider how much any child can heal from fatherlessness to construct a positive self-image and shows that, contrary to popular perceptions, fatherlessness need not lead to certain failure.

Single Mother Jane Juffer, 2006-04-01 Long perceived as the ultimate symbol of social breakdown and sexual irresponsibility, the single mother is now in the context of welfare-to-work policies often hailed as the new spokesperson for hard work and self-sufficiency. A dozen years after Dan Quayle denounced the television character Murphy Brown for making the decision to become a single mother just another lifestyle choice, President George W. Bush applauded single mothers for heroic work and positive on-screen representations of single mothers abound from The Gilmore Girls to Sex and the City to American Idol. Single Mother describes the recent cultural valorization of this figure that, in the midst of demographic changes in the U.S., has emerged as the unlikely heroic and seductive voice of the new American family. Drawing on her own life as a single mother, interviews with dozens of other single mothers, cultural representations, and policies on welfare, immigration, childcare, and child custody, Juffer analyzes this contingent acceptance of single mothers. Finally critiquing the relentless emphasis on self-sufficiency to the exclusion of community, Juffer shows the remarkable organizing skills of these new mothers of invention. At a moment when one-third of all babies are born to single moms, Single Mother is a fascinating and necessary examination of these new domestic intellectuals.

African American Literature Beyond Race Gene Andrew Jarrett, 2006-04-01 Fiction by Toni Morrison, James Baldwin, Octavia E. Butler, and others that isn't focused on race, with original introductions by leading scholars. It is widely accepted that the canon of African American literature has racial realism at its core. African American protagonists, social settings, cultural symbols, and racial political discourse. As a result, writings that are not preoccupied with race have long been invisible, unpublished, out of print, absent.

from libraries rarely discussed among scholars and omitted from anthologies. However, some of our most celebrated African American authors from Zora Neale Hurston and Richard Wright to James Baldwin and Toni Morrison have resisted this canonical rule even at the cost of critical dismissal and commercial failure. African American Literature Beyond Race revives this remarkable literary corpus presenting sixteen short stories, novelettes, and excerpts of novels from the postbellum nineteenth century to the late twentieth century that demonstrate this act of literary defiance. Each selection is paired with an original introduction by one of today's leading scholars of African American literature. By casting African Americans in minor roles and marking the protagonists as racially white, neutral, or ambiguous, these works of fiction explore the thematic complexities of human identity, relations, and culture. At the same time, they force us to confront the basic question: What is African American literature? Includes fiction by James Baldwin, Octavia E. Butler, Samuel R. Delany, Paul Laurence Dunbar, Frances Ellen Watkins Harper, Chester B. Himes, Zora Neale Hurston, Nella Larsen, Toni Morrison, Ann Petry, Wallace Thurman, Jean Toomer, Frank J. Webb, Richard Wright, and Frank Yerby. Critical Introductions by Hazel V. Carby, John Charles Gerald, Early Hazel Arnett Ervin, Matthew Guterl, Mae G. Henderson, George B. Hutchinson, Gene Jarrett, Carla L. Peterson, Amritjit Singh, Werner Sollors, and Jeffrey Allen Tucker. The essays are succinct, interesting, and informative. Journal of African American Studies

Raising Boys Without Men Peggy Drexler, Linden Gross, 2005-08-20. A research psychologist offers an incisive study of boys raised in female-headed households without a male role model in the house, arguing that such young men grow up more empathetic and well-rounded than those in traditional mother-father families and offers a definitive blueprint for raising happier, healthier sons. 30,000 first printing.

Dynamic Psychotherapy with Adult Survivors Lori Bennett, 2012-04-26. Dynamic Psychotherapy with Adult Survivors: Living Past Neglect by Lori Bennett examines the aftereffects of emotional neglect in order to help clinicians to better serve survivors. Bennett makes an important contribution by expanding upon the definition of neglect to include emotional neglect while fostering a more profound understanding of the impact of childhood neglect upon adult survivors. The book compiles former clients' stories of recovery in order to illustrate and explore effective therapy and treatment techniques that will aid in the training of the clinicians who serve survivors of neglect. How do young adults climb out of their histories of neglect? How can they hope to feel loved if they never experienced the love they needed in their families of origin? How do they combat the damage to trust? How do they learn to stop the self-blame over circumstances to move beyond the past and to embrace a new future? These questions are answered in Dynamic Psychotherapy with Adult Survivors.

Staring Back Kenny Fries, 1997. The disability experience has until very recently been marginalized, stereotyped, and ignored in literature. Now, through the vehicles of nonfiction, poetry, fiction, and drama, Staring Back is the first anthology to open the landscape of the disabled.

experience for exploration and discussion The presence of such well known authors as Lucy Grealy John Hockenberry and Marilyn Hacker in this anthology gives immediate lie to the notion that disability is a limitation to insight and productivity But just as importantly Staring Back challenges us to look anew at the disabilities of FDR and Matisse the lives of Helen Keller and Frida Kahlo the work of Stephen Hawking It urges us to redefine what is meant by cure to understand hidden disabilities and even to find humor in ways that defy our expectations If there is one theme that binds this diverse body of work aside from its subject matter it is the theme of human connection a connection with the past with each other with our bodies and with ourselves As Kenny Fries writes in his introduction Throughout history those who live with disabilities have been silenced by those who did not want to hear what we have to say We have also been silenced by our own fear the fear that if we told our stories people would say See it isn't worth it You would be better off dead Staring Back emphatically demonstrates the power of these writers stories to overcome that fear and to break that silence The Publishers Weekly, 1995
