Benchmarking in Institutional Research Gary D. Levy, Nicolas A. Valcik, 2012-12-21 While the term benchmarking is commonplace nowadays in institutional research and higher education less common is a solid understanding of what it really means and how it has been and can be used effectively This volume begins by defining benchmarking as a strategic and structured approach whereby an organization compares aspects of its processes and or outcomes to those of another organization or set of organizations to identify opportunities for improvement Building on this definition the chapters provide a brief history of the evolution and emergence of benchmarking in general and in higher education in particular The authors apply benchmarking to Enrollment management and student success Institutional effectiveness The potential economic impact of higher education institutions on their host communities They look at the use of national external survey data in institutional benchmarking and selection of peer institutions introduce multivariate statistical methodologies for guiding that selection and consider a novel application of baseball sabermetric methods The volume offers a solid starting point for those new to benchmarking in higher education and provides examples of current best practices and prospective new directions This is the 156th volume of this Jossey Bass series Always timely and comprehensive New Directions for Institutional Research provides planners and administrators in all types of academic institutions with guidelines in such areas as resource coordination information analysis program evaluation and institutional management Community-Based Research and Higher Education Kerry J. Strand, Nicholas Cutforth, Randy Stoecker, Sam Marullo, Patrick Donohue, 2003-06-03 Community Based Research and Higher Education is the long awaited guide to how to incorporate a powerful and promising new form of scholarship into academic settings The book presents a model of community based research CBR that engages community members with students and faculty in the course of their academic work Unlike traditional academic research CBR is collaborative and change oriented and finds its research questions in the needs of communities This dynamic research model combines classroom learning with social action in ways that can ultimately empower community groups to address their own agendas and shape their own futures At the same time it emphasizes the development of knowledge and skills that truly prepare students for active civic engagement A Future for Everyone David Maurrasse, 2004-04-02 The original essays in this timely collection discuss the many ways to foster innovative and unprecedented collaborations leading to more effective partnerships between major institutions and corporations to poor and disenfranchised communities Many of today's pressing issues are covered in depth bridging the digital divide community reinvestment university and corporate partnerships and corporate responsibility Handbook of Research Methods in Complexity Science Eve Mitleton-Kelly, Alexandros

Community Engagement in Higher Education W. James Jacob,Stewart E. Sutin,John C. Weidman,John L. Yeager,2015-06-17 There seems to be renewed interest in having universities and other higher education institutions engage with their communities at the local national and international levels But what is community engagement Even if this interest is genuine and widespread there are many different concepts of community service outreach and engagement The wide range of activity encompassed by community engagement suggests that a precise definition of the community mission is difficult and organizing and coordinating such activities is a complex task This edited volume includes 18 chapters that explore conceptual understandings of community engagement and higher education reforms and initiatives intended to foster it Contributors provide empirical research findings including several case study examples that respond to the following higher education community engagement issues What is the community and what does it need and expect from higher education institutions Is community engagement a mission of all types of higher education institutions or should it be the mission of specific institutions such as regional or metropolitan universities technical universities community colleges or indigenous institutions while other institutions such as major research universities should concentrate on national and global research agendas and on educating internationally competent researchers and professionals How can a university be global and at the same time locally relevant Is it or should it be left to the institutions to determine the scope and mode of their community engagement or is a state mandate preferable and feasible If community engagement or community service are mandatory what are the consequences of not complying with the mandate How effective are policy mandates and university engagement for regional and local economic development What are the principal features and relationships of regionally engaged universities Is community engagement to be left to faculty members and students who are particularly socially engaged and locally embedded or is it or should it be made mandatory for both faculty and students How can community engagement be better integrated with the other two traditional missions of the university research and teaching Cover image

The Towering Four fold Mission of Higher Education by Natalie Jacob Making Writing Matter Ann M.
