Is It 'Cause It's Cool? Astrid M. Fellner, Susanne Hamscha, Klaus Heissenberger, Jennifer J* Moos, 2014 Even a global political watershed such as the end of the Cold War seems to have left a fundamental characteristic of cultural relations between the US and the rest of the world unchanged American popular culture still stirs up emotion American popular culture's products artifacts and practices entangle their consumers in affective encounters characterized by feelings of fascination excitement or even wholesale rejection What is it that continues to make American popular culture cool Which role does cool play in the consumers affective encounters with America This volume of essays offers new insights on the post Cold War dissemination of American popular culture exploring the manifold ways in which cool has emerged as an elusive yet determining factor of an American culture gone global Series American Studies in Austria Vol 13

The Varieties of Joycean Experience Tim Conley, 2020-12-15 The Varieties of Joycean Experience is a collection of ten essays that display the wide range and diversity of perspectives and critical approaches that can be drawn upon to enrich our readings of James Joyce's works With special attention to Ulysses and Finnegans Wake these essays explore such problems as the difficulties these books pose to categories and summaries and our understanding of Joyce's composition methods The book explores Joyce's ambiguities around death scatology and the weather to propose new understandings of these phenomena as key ways into Joyce's works The book concludes with an examination of the tricky problem what makes an interpretation untenable and why do Joyce's works inspire far fetched and even crackpot readings

Navigating Urban Soundscapes Annika Eisenberg, 2023-01-01 Navigating Urban Soundscapes Dublin and Los Angeles in Fiction offers an innovative analytical framework to explore sound in different media and across two distinct urban soundscapes Studying a wide range of novels films and radio dramas using Dublin and Los Angeles as case studies Annika Eisenberg asks how sounds are aestheticised to signify urban space in fiction and how sounds allow such fictional urban spaces to be navigated both by auscultators the characters listening within a work of fiction and by auditeurs the implied audience of a fictional work Eisenberg argues that the concept of urban sound is a cultural and aesthetic construct and in doing so she shows why aesthetics needs to be front and center in sound studies

Reading Uncreative Writing David Kaufmann, 2017-10-13 This book examines Uncreative Writing the catch all term to describe Neo Conceptualism Flarf and related avant garde movements in contemporary North American poetry against a decade of controversy David Kaufman analyzes texts by Kenneth Goldsmith Vanessa Place Robert Fitterman Ara Shirinyan Craig Dworkin Dan Farrell and Katie Degentesh to demonstrate that Uncreative Writing is not a revolutionary break from lyric tradition as its proponents claim Nor is it a racist reactionary capitulation to neo liberalism as its detractors argue Rather this monograph shows that Uncreative Writing's real innovations and weaknesses become clearest when read in the context of the very lyric that it claims to have left behind      The Lyric in the Age of the Brain Nikki Skillman,2016-06-06 Science has transformed understandings of the mind supplying physiological explanations for what once seemed transcendental Nikki Skillman shows how lyric poets caught between a reductive scientific view and naïve literary metaphors struggled to articulate a vision of consciousness that was both scientifically informed and poetically truthful      The Body in Language: An Anthology Contributors,2019-03-13 The question of the body's place in language has enduring significance Is there a more equivalent imprint on the language of our life than our own bodies The Body In Language An Anthology collects an extraordinary range of voices including writers artists performers and healing practitioners to present new perspectives on the body in art by exploring the body in language The selves cells we release in creativity embody our fundamental being Can we activate our connective senses to better understand how others make others      Make It the Same Jacob Edmond,2019-07-30 The world is full of copies This proliferation includes not just the copying that occurs online and the replication enabled by globalization but the works of avant garde writers challenging cultural and political authority In Make It the Same Jacob Edmond examines the turn toward repetition in poetry using the explosion of copying to offer a deeply inventive account of modern and contemporary literature Make It the Same explores how poetry an art form associated with the singular inimitable utterance is increasingly made from other texts through sampling appropriation translation remediation performance and other forms of repetition Edmond tracks the rise of copy poetry across media from the tape recorder to the computer and through various cultures and languages reading across aesthetic linguistic geopolitical and technological divides He illuminates the common form that unites a diverse range of writers from dub poets in the Caribbean to digital parodists in China samizdat wordsmiths in Russia to Twitter trolling provocateurs in the United States analyzing the works of such writers as Kamau Brathwaite Dmitri Prigov Yang Lian John Cayley Caroline Bergvall M NourbeSe Philip Kenneth Goldsmith Vanessa Place Christian B k Yi Sha Hsia Y and Tan Lin Edmond develops an alternative account of modernist and contemporary literature as defined not by innovation as in Ezra Pound's oft repeated slogan make it new but by a system of continuous copying Make It the Same transforms global literary history showing how the old hierarchies of original and derivative center and periphery are overturned when we recognize copying as the engine of literary change      Counterfeit Culture Rob Turner,2019-06-20 Explores the possibility of writing epic in an age of alternative facts      Unnatural Ecopoetics Sarah Nolan,2017-04-28 What constitutes an environment in American literature is an issue that has undergone much debate across environmental humanities in the last decade In the field some have argued that environments are markedly natural or wild sites while others contend literary spaces can be both wild and urban or even cultural Yet few of the works produced to date have addressed the pronounced influence the author of a text has on a literary environment Despite exciting work on materiality and culture in conceptions of environments critics have not yet fully examined the contributions of poetry's language form and self awareness in rethinking what constitutes an environment By approaching environments in a new way Nolan closes this gap and recognizes how contemporary poets employ self reflexive commentary and formal experimentation in order to create new natural cultural environments on the page She proposes a radical new direction for ecopoetics and deploys it in relation to four major American poets Working from literal to textual spaces through the contemporary poetry of A R Ammons s Garbage Lyn Hejinian s My Life Susan Howe s The Midnight and Kenneth Goldsmith s Seven American Deaths and Disasters the book presents applications of unnatural ecopoetics in poetic environments ones that do not engage with traditional ideas of nature and would otherwise remain outside the scope of ecocritical and ecopoetic studies Nolan proposes a new practical approach for reading poetic language Ecocriticism is a very fluid and evolving discipline and Nolan s pioneering new book pushes the boundaries of second wave ecopoetics the fundamental issue being what is nature natural and how does poetic language particularly self conscious contemporary poetic agency contribute to and complicate that question The New American West in Literature and the Arts Amaia Ibarraran-Bigalondo,2020-05-12 The story of the American West is that of a journey It is the story of a movement of a geographical and human transition of the delineation of a route that would soon become a rooted myth The story of the American West has similarly journeyed across boundaries in a two way movement sometimes feeding the idea of that myth sometimes challenging it This collection of essays relates to the notion of the traveling essence of the myth of the American West from different geographical and disciplinary standpoints The volume originates in Europe in Spain where the myth traveled was received assimilated and re presented It intends to travel back to the West in a two way cross cultural journey which will hopefully contribute to the delineation of the New always self renewing American West It includes the work of authors of both sides of the Atlantic ocean who propose a cross cultural transdisciplinary dialogue upon the idea the geography and the representation of the American West Through David Herd,2016-04-15 The poems in Through resume David Herd s inquiry into the language of public space taken up in All Just 2012 Here five extended texts address the ways in which contemporary public language has been rendered officially hostile Considering the risks that such official hostility poses to human intimacy Through sets out to register broken affections to re explore possibilities of solidarity and trust Countering the enclosures of public discourse the poems embrace instead a language in transition one in which meaning is multiple echoing into place a genuine and subsisting relationship Best of the Web 2009 Lee K. Abbott,Nathan Leslie,2009 Annual series highlighting the best fiction poetry nonfiction and flash fiction from exclusively online literary journals Postmodern Plagiarisms Mirjam Horn,2015-07-01 This monograph takes on the question of how literary plagiarism is defined exposed and sanctioned in Western culture and how appropriating language assigned to another author can be considered a radical subversive act in postmodern US American literature While various forms of art such as music painting or theater have come to institutionalize appropriation as a valid mode to ventilate what authorship originality and the anxiety of influence may mean the literary sphere still has a hard time acknowledging the unmarked acquisition of words ideas and manuscripts The author shows how postmodern plagiarism in particular serves as a literary strategy of appropriation at the interface between literary economics law and theoretical discourses of literature She investigates the complex expectations surrounding the strong link between an individual author subject and its alienable text a link that several postmodern writers powerfully question and violate Identifying three distinct practices of postmodern plagiarism the book examines their specific situatedness precepts and subversive potential as litmus tests for the literary market and the ongoing dynamic notion of the concepts authorship originality and creativity The Novel: An Alternative History, 1600-1800 Steven Moore, 2013-08-29 Winner of the Christian Gauss Award for excellence in literary scholarship from the Phi Beta Kappa Society Having excavated the world's earliest novels in his previous book literary historian Steven Moore explores in this sequel the remarkable flowering of the novel between the years 1600 and 1800 from Don Quixote to America's first big novel an homage to Cervantes entitled Modern Chivalry This is the period of such classic novels as Tom Jones Candide and Dangerous Liaisons but beyond the dozen or so recognized classics there are hundreds of other interesting novels that appeared then known only to specialists Spanish picaresques French heroic romances massive Chinese novels Japanese graphic novels eccentric English novels and the earliest American novels These minor novels are not only interesting in their own right but also provide the context needed to appreciate why the major novels were major breakthroughs The novel experienced an explosive growth spurt during these centuries as novelists experimented with different forms and genres epistolary novels romances Gothic thrillers novels in verse parodies science fiction episodic road trips and family sagas along with quirky unclassifiable experiments in fiction that resemble contemporary avant garde works As in his previous volume Moore privileges the innovators and outriders those who kept the novel novel In the most comprehensive history of this period ever written Moore examines over 400 novels from around the world in a lively style that is as entertaining as it is informative Though written for a general audience The Novel: An Alternative History also provides the scholarly apparatus required by the serious student of the period This sequel like its predecessor is a zestfully encyclopedic avidly opinionated and dazzlingly fresh history of the most elastic of literary forms Booklist Forms at War R. M. Berry, 2009 Forms at War FC2 1999 2009 collects twenty three experimental prose works published by Fiction Collective Two during the last decade Together they contest the false present of the Bush years continuing the political and aesthetic struggle that gave birth to modernism's dream of form These fictions by Kim Addonizio Diane Williams Michael Martone Brian Evenson and nineteen others first published by FC2 between 1999 and 2009 all locate America not in the neverland of free trade or the lost Eden of cultural homogeneity but through the truer landscape of language Kate Bernheimer's portents Lidia Yuknavitch's embodied medium Steve Tomasula's engagement of the letter all refuse the nowhere of Bush speak each insists on itself here and now In these works the vendettas of post 9 11 confront a limit Their counter history not of narratives but of forms brings to the surface what our ceaseless violence has repressed an alienation so widespread it feels
