R. R. Tolkien* Nicholas Birns,2023-12-22 This volume analyzes the literary role played by history in the works of J R R Tolkien It argues that the events of The Lord of the Rings are placed against the background of an already existing history both in reality and in the fictional worlds of the books History is unfolded in various ways both in explicitly archival annals and in stories told by characters on the road or on the fly and in which different visions of history emerge In addition the history within the work can resemble or be patterned on histories in our world These histories range from the deep past of prehistoric and ancient worlds to the early medieval era of the barbarian invasions and Byzantium to the modern worlds of urbane civility and a paradoxical longing for nature and finally to great power rivalries and global prospects The book argues that Tolkien did not employ these histories indiscriminately or reductively Rather he regarded them as aspects of aesthetic and representative figuration that are above all literary While most criticism has concentrated on Tolkien s use of historical traditions of Northern Europe this book argues that Tolkien also valued Southern and Mediterranean pasts and registered the Germanic and the Scandinavian pasts as they related to other histories as much as his vision of them included a primeval mythic aura

Solitude Djelal Kadir,2025-07-07 What is solitude How does it manifest itself How is solitude related to writing and reading How do the core values of ethics politics religion and aesthetics manifest themselves in the face of solitude whether in mythological time in history or in our own era of telecommunications and instant connectivity This volume explores these questions and by way of demonstration dramatizes critical predicaments of solitude through thirty nine letters The letters in this collection ranging from mythological and epic antiquity through the twentieth century are based on thorough scholarly research and written through the voices of mythical literary religious scientific and historical figures as the archival and documentary record allows us to understand them in their respective crises of extreme solitude The letters aim to capture the perennial attempts to deal with the paradoxes of solitude as timeless universal human condition a condition most common yet one that must be experienced alone Each letter is introduced with an explanatory context philological in the case of mythological figures and historical when writers from the annals of history are purported to be writing This unusual and distinctive meditation on the pervasive phenomenon of solitude will resonate productively in the study of philosophy literature history and the arts and humanities in general as well as with readers who have considered or experienced solitude
