Just Above My Head James Baldwin, 1994-10-27 After the death of Arthur Montana a world famous Gospel singer in a London pub his friends and loved ones remember his greatness and vulnerability      Black Manhood in James Baldwin, Ernest J. Gaines, and August Wilson Keith Clark, 2022-08-15 Challenging the standard portrayals of Black men in African American literature From Frederick Douglass to the present the preoccupation of black writers with manhood and masculinity is a constant Black Manhood in James Baldwin Ernest J Gaines and August Wilson explores how in their own work three major African American writers contest classic portrayals of black men in earlier literature from slave narratives through the great novels of Richard Wright and Ralph Ellison Keith Clark examines short stories novels and plays by Baldwin Gaines and Wilson arguing that since the 1950s the three have interrupted and radically dismantled the constricting literary depictions of black men who equate selfhood with victimization isolation and patriarchy Instead they have reimaged black men whose identity is grounded in community camaraderie and intimacy Delivering original and startling insights this book will appeal to scholars and students of African American literature gender studies and narratology      Just Above My Head James Baldwin, 1979-08-01 Love and courage bind three extraordinary people a former child evangelist a famous gospel singer and the latter's manager brother as they shape and are shaped by the events of the past three decades      Salvific Manhood Ernest L. Gibson (III), 2019-10-2020 Choice Outstanding Academic Title Salvific Manhood foregrounds the radical power of male intimacy and vulnerability in surveying each of James Baldwin's six novels Asserting that manhood and masculinity hold the potential for both tragedy and salvation Ernest L Gibson III highlights the complex and difficult emotional choices Baldwin's men must make within their varied lives relationships and experiences In Salvific Manhood Gibson offers a new and compelling way to understand the hidden connections between Baldwin's novels Thematically daring and theoretically provocative he presents a queering of salvation a nuanced approach that views redemption through the lenses of gender and sexuality Exploring how fraternal crises develop out of sociopolitical forces and conditions Salvific Manhood theorizes a spatiality of manhood where spaces in between men are erased through expressions of intimacy and love Positioned at the intersections of literary criticism queer studies and male studies Gibson deconstructs Baldwin's wrestling with familial love American identity suicide art incarceration and memory by magnifying the potent idea of salvific manhood Ultimately Salvific Manhood calls for an alternate reading of Baldwin's novels introducing new theories for understanding the intricacies of African American manhood and American identity all within a space where the presence of tragedy can give way to the possibility of salvation      Just Above My Head James Baldwin, 1994-10-27 This is the fictional story of the great gospel singer Arthur Montana Arthur was found dead in the basement of a London pub at the age of thirty nine yet he lives on in this memoir Written by Hall his brother and manager it is in part a subtle and moving study of the treacherous ebb and flow of memory Set against a vividly drawn background of the civil rights movement of the sixties Just Above My Head explores how Arthur discovers his love for Jimmy with his smile like a lantern and a voice like Saturday nights and portrays how profoundly racial politics can shape the private business of love Colored Women Sittin' on High Melanie R. Hill, 2025-04-29 From blue note turmoil to grace note power Black women preachers stand tall In Colored Women Sittin on High Melanie R Hill offers a new perspective on the art of the sermon in African American literature music and theology Drawing on the womanist cadence of Alice Walker in literature and the rhythmical flow of named womanist theologians Hill makes interventions at the intersections of African American literary criticism music and religious studies Pushing against the patriarchal dominance that often exists in religious spaces Hill argues that Black women's religious practice creates a sermonic space that thrives inside and outside the church allowing for a critique of sexism and anti Black racism She examines literature by writers such as Zora Neale Hurston and James Baldwin music by Aretha Franklin and Ms Lauryn Hill and sermons by theologians Ruby Sales and Vashti M McKenzie and she takes readers into a sermonic artwork of artists preachers and freedom movement activists who are as Hill contends the greatest virtuosic alchemists of our time

James Baldwin's Later Fiction Lynn O. Scott, 2002-02-28 James Baldwin's Later Fiction examines the decline of Baldwin's reputation after the middle 1960s his tepid reception in mainstream and academic venues and the ways in which critics have often misrepresented and undervalued his work Scott develops readings of Tell Me How Long the Train's Been Gone If Beale Street Could Talk and Just Above My Head that explore the interconnected themes in Baldwin's work the role of the family in sustaining the arts the price of success in American society and the struggle of black artists to change the ways that race sex and masculinity are represented in American culture Scott argues that Baldwin's later writing crosses the cultural divide between the 1950s and 1960s in response to the civil rights and black power movements Baldwin's earlier works his political activism and sexual politics and traditions of African American autobiography and fiction all play prominent roles in Scott's analysis Black Women in the Fiction of James Baldwin Trudier Harris, 1985 In James Baldwin's fiction according to Trudier Harris Black women are conceptually limited figures until their author ceases to measure them by standards of the community fundamentalist church Harris analyzes works written over a thirty year period to show how Baldwin's development of female character progresses through time Black women in the early fiction responding to their elders as well as to religious influences see their lives in terms of duty as wives mothers sisters and lovers Failure in any of these roles leads to feelings of guilt and the expectation of damnation In his later works Baldwin adopts a new point of view acknowledging complex extenuating circumstances in lieu of pronouncing moral judgement Female characters in works written at this stage eventually come to believe that the church affords no comfort Baldwin subsequently makes villains of some female churchgoers and caring women who do not attend church become his most attractive characters Still later in Baldwin's career a woman who frees herself of guilt by moving completely beyond the church attains greater contentment than almost all of her counterparts in the earlier works Talking at the Gates James
