Making War To Keep Peace By Jeane J Kirkpatrick:

The Small Wars of the United States, 1899-2009 Benjamin R. Beede, 2012-08-06 The Small Wars of the United States 1899 2009 is the complete bibliography of works on US military intervention and irregular warfare around the world as well as efforts to quell insurgencies on behalf of American allies The text covers conflicts from 1898 to present with detailed annotations of selected sources In this second edition Benjamin R Beede revises his seminal work bringing it completely up to date including entries on the current conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan An invaluable research tool The Small Wars of the United States 1899 2009 is a critical resource for students and scholars studying US military history The Morality and Law of War, 2007 Risk and Resolution R. Greg Brown, 2019-05-20 America repeatedly finds itself mired in military interventions long after public buy in to the national interest has waned Why is the timely disengagement of military forces so difficult to achieve Traditional international relations theories diminish the role of the individual leader in favor of the state or international institutions Behavioral science theories have in recent years experienced a resurgence However the dominant behavioral explanation of foreign policy decision making prospect theory while it focuses on how people tend to make decisions under risk still minimizes the influence of the individual president Decisions to disengage military forces are presidential decisions just like the decisions to commit forces to foreign interventions If we accept this then it is important to understand if and if so why some presidents inherently are more or less acceptant of the risks disengagement presents This book operationalizes a competing personality based model of decision making under risk Referred to here as the trait based model it is assessed using disengagement opportunities in three varied levels of military intervention across four presidencies humanitarian relief turned nation building under George H W Bush and Bill Clinton in Somalia compelling air campaigns turned peace making keeping in Bosnia and Kosovo under Clinton and major combat operations turned irregular warfare in Iraq under George W Bush and Barack Obama Data for the model predominantly comes from existing presidential personality profiles based on the dominant model of personality theory the five factor model augmented by Myers Briggs Type Inventory data from public sources This study aims to explain the roughly 30 percent of cases which defy prospect theory's predictions and to better explain those cases where prospect theory might heretofore have sufficed The results suggest specific personality traits do in fact point to presidents predispositions toward risk which in turn help explain their disengagement decisions This work may be only the second to apply the five factor model to presidential foreign policy decision making and is the first to do so in the context of disengagement decisions Hopefully it will foster further work in both areas Making War to Keep Peace Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, 2008-08-05 With the powerful words that marked her long and distinguished career Jeane J Kirkpatrick explores where America has gone wrong and raises lingering questions about what perils tomorrow might hold In Making War to Keep Peace the former U S Ambassador to the UN traces the course of diplomatic initiatives and armed conflict in Iraq Somalia Haiti Bosnia and Kosovo to illuminate the dangerous shift from the first Bush administration's ambitious vision of a New World Order to the overambitious nation building efforts of the Clinton administration Kirkpatrick questions when how and why the United States should resort to military solutions especially in light of the George W Bush administration's challenging war in Iraq about which Kirkpatrick shares her grave reservations for the first time The Art of Selling War Pierre Gilly,2020-06-25 Making War to Keep Peace Jeane J.

Chollet,2010-05 When the Berlin Wall collapsed on November 9 1989 signaling the end of the Cold War America and the West declared victory Democracy and free markets had prevailed and the United States emerged as the world's triumphant superpower The finger on the button tension that had defined a generation was over and it seemed that peace was at hand The next twelve years rolled by in a haze of self congratulation what some now call a holiday from history When that complacency shattered on September 11 2001 setting the U S on a new and contentious path confused Americans asked themselves How did we get here In America Between The Wars Derek Chollet and James Goldgeier examine how the decisions and debates of the years between the fall of the Wall on 11 9 and the collapse of the Twin Towers on 9 11 shaped the events arguments and politics of the world we live in today Reflecting the authors deep expertise and broad access to key players across the political spectrum this book tells the story of a generation of leaders grappling with a moment of dramatic transformation changing how we should think about the recent past and uncovering important lessons for the future

Neoconservatism and American Foreign Policy Danny Cooper,2010-11-10 The purpose of this book is to critically engage with a set of ideas and beliefs that define the neoconservative approach to American foreign policy and illuminate many of the core foreign policy debates that have taken place within the United States over the past several years during the administrations of both George W Bush and Barack Obama

Women as Foreign Policy Leaders Sylvia Bashevkin,2018-08-02 What difference does gender make to foreign diplomacy What do we know about women s participation as decision makers in international affairs Is it fair to assume as many observers do that female elites will mirror the relatively pacifist preferences of women in the general public as well as the claims of progressive feminist movements And of particular importance to this book what consequences follow from the appointment of firsts to these posts Inspired by recent work in the field of feminist diplomatic history this book offers the first comparative examination of women s presence in senior national security positions in the United States executive branch Sylvia Bashevkin looks at four high profile appointees in the United States since 1980 Jeane Kirkpatrick during the Reagan years Madeleine Albright in the Clinton era Condoleezza Rice during the George W Bush presidency and Hillary Rodham Clinton in the first Obama mandate Bashevkin explores the extent to which each of these women was able to fully participate in a domain long dominated by men focusing in particular on the extent to which each shaped foreign policy in meaningful ways She looks particularly at two specific phenomena first the influence of female decision makers notably their ability to make measurable difference to the understanding and practice of national security policy and second leaders actions with respect to matters of war and women s rights The track records of these four women reveal not just a consistent willingness to pursue muscular aggressive approaches to international relations but also widely divergent views about feminism

Women as Foreign Policy Leaders shows how Kirkpatrick Albright Rice and Clinton staked out their presence on the international scene and provided a crucial antidote to the silencing of women s voices in global politics
