

For Whom the Bell Tolls

by John Donne

*No man is an island,
Entire of itself.
Each is a piece of the continent,
A part of the main.
If a clod be washed away by the sea,
Europe is the less,
As well as if a promontory were.
As well as if a manor of thine own
Or of thine friend's were.
Each man's death diminishes me,
For I am involved in mankind.
Therefore, send not to know
For whom the bell tolls,
It tolls for thee.*

He was appointed secretary to Sir Thomas Egerton, the Lord Keeper, later Lord Chancellor, in 1598 but forfeited his worldly prospects when he secretly married Ann More, Lady Egerton's niece, in 1601. He was dismissed by Egerton and briefly imprisoned. The next twelve years or so were passed in poverty without regular employment. He entered the Church and in 1621 was made Dean of St Paul's where he became a renowned preacher. His first collection of poems was published posthumously in 1633. The Complete English Poems of John Donne John Donne, 1985 The Poems of John Donne John Donne, 1896 The Poems of John Donne John Donne, 1957 The Collected Poems of John Donne John Donne, 1994 John Donne's poetry is marked by a scientific colloquial directness and a complex even tortured intelligence. It falls into two classes. There is the early ironic and erotic poetry that contains some of the finest English love poetry and also his later religious poetry. The Variorum Edition of the Poetry of John Donne: The epigrams, epithalamions, epitaphs, inscriptions, and miscellaneous poems John Donne, 1995 Based on an exhaustive study of the manuscript and print history of Donne's poetry, this edition presents newly edited critical texts of the poems and a comprehensive digest of the critical scholarly commentary on them from Donne's time forward. Provided by publisher The Complete English Poems John Donne, 1986 No poet has been more wilfully contradictory than John Donne, whose works forge unforgettable connections between extremes of passion and mental energy. From satire to tender elegy, from sacred devotion to lust, he conveys an astonishing range of emotions and poetic moods. Constant in his work, however, is an intensity of feeling and expression and complexity of argument that is as evident in religious meditations such as Good Friday 1613 Riding Westward as it is in secular love poems such as The Sun Rising or The Flea. The intricacy and subtlety of his imagination are the length and depth of the furrow made by his passion, wrote Yeats, pinpointing the unique genius of a poet who combined ardour and intellect in equal measure.
