L'acte littéraire à l'ère de la posthistoire Pierre Ouellet, Philippe Daros, 2017-03-30 T00:00:00-04:00 La littérature des dernières décennies après les engagements politiques qui ont tissés les siens au cours du XX^e siècle a donné lieu à un scepticisme plus ou moins radical pouvant confiner au cynisme et au nihilisme Ce qui a entraîné deux attitudes fondamentales de la part des écrivains d'abord le repli sur soi où la vie intime prend le relais de l'engagement social au profit d'une activité autofictionnelle qui gravite dans la sphère du privé puis l'usage documentariste ou archivistique de la littérature suivant lequel la fiction se met au service des faits non plus des idéologies ou des utopies en témoignant des problèmes sociaux traversés des cas particuliers qu'on documente de façon empirique la manière du journalisme de l'historiographie ou des sciences humaines Le présent ouvrage vise caractériser le type d'efficacité symbolique propre à la littérature actuelle entre le repli esthétique dans l'œuvre et le rejet éthique de l'œuvre L'hypothèse de fond est que la littérature ne relève pas d'une simple action sociale ni d'un pur activisme politique et encore moins d'un acte privé isolé autotélique ou autosuffisant mais d'une force et d'une forme symboliques essentielles au fonctionnement de nos sociétés comme peuvent l'être les mythes et les rites dans les cultures dites traditionnelles C'est le phénomène même de la littérature bien plus que telle ou telle œuvre plus ou moins impliquée dans son temps qui doit être interrogé en profondeur dans sa nature ses enjeux et sa portée pour qu'on puisse mieux comprendre le rôle fondateur qui est le sien l'époque de la post-historicité et de la post-humanité où l'on revient sur la définition même de l'Homme et de l'Histoire comme sur celle de l'Art ou de l'Acte littéraire en tant qu'Ars au sens originnaire de manière d'être ou de vivre

Augustine Robin Lane Fox, 2015-11-05 WINNER OF THE WOLFSON PRIZE FOR HISTORY 2015 A major new interpretation of how one of the great figures of Christian history came to write the greatest of all autobiographies Augustine is the person from the ancient world about whom we know most He is the author of an intimate masterpiece the Confessions which continues to delight its many admirers In it he writes about his infancy and his schooling in the classics in late Roman North Africa his remarkable mother his sexual sins Give me chastity but not yet he famously prayed his time in an outlawed heretical sect his worldly career and friendships and his gradual return to God His account of his own eventual conversion is a classic study of anguish hesitation and what he believes to be God's intervention. It has inspired philosophers, Christian thinkers and monastic followers but it still leaves readers wondering why exactly Augustine chose to compose a work like none before it. Robin Lane Fox follows Augustine on a brilliantly described journey combining the latest scholarship with recently found letters and sermons by Augustine himself to give a portrait of his subject which is subtly different from older biographies. Augustine's heretical years as a Manichaean, his relation to non-Christian philosophy, his mystical aspirations and the nature of his conversion are among the aspects of his life which stand out in a sharper light. For the first time, Lane Fox compares him with two contemporaries: an older pagan and a younger Christian, each of whom also wrote about themselves and who illumine Augustine's life and writings by their different choices. More than a decade passed between Augustine's conversion and his beginning the Confessions. Lane Fox argues that the Confessions and their thinking were the results of a long gestation over these years, not a sudden change of perspective but that they were then written as a single, swift composition and that its final books are a coherent consummation of its scriptural meditation and personal biography. This exceptional study reminds us why we are so excited and so moved by Augustine's story. Hồn Việt, 2012
