narratives and highlights their potential to universalise the refugee experience It argues that while contemporary refugee literature challenges dominant representations and reclaims subjectivity it is also shaped by the Western literary marketplace which refashions displacement into marketable narratives of resilience and redemption tempering its radical potential and framing it within apolitical humanitarian discourse that prioritises empathy over structural critique The book calls for refugee narratives to resist market driven expectations and engage in epistemic disobedience challenging dominant frameworks that dictate how refugee experiences should be represented understood and consumed

The Poetics and Ethics of Attention in Contemporary British Narrative Jean-Michel Ganteau, 2022-12-27 This book uses attention as a prism through which to interrogate the literary text. It starts from analyses of the changes that the mediasphere and communication technologies have brought for the contemporary subject, submitting him/her to the tyranny of a new attention economy. My point is that the contemporary novel and memoir resist such influences and evince a great deal of resilience by promoting an ecology of attention. Cillonis based on poetic options whose pragmatic effect is to develop an ethics of the particularist type. To do this I draw on critical and theoretical literature hailing from various fields: psychology but also more prominently phenomenology, political philosophy and analytical philosophy, essentially Ordinary Language Philosophy alongside the ethics of care and vulnerability. By using a selection of fictional and non-fictional narratives I address such issues as social invisibilities, climate change, AI and cognitive disability and end up drafting a poetics of attention. The Routledge Companion to Literature and Human Rights Sophia McClennen, Alexandra Schultheis Moore, 2018-02-05 The Routledge Companion to Literature and Human Rights provides a comprehensive transnational and interdisciplinary map to this emerging field, offering a broad overview of human rights and literature while providing innovative readings on key topics. The first of its kind, this volume covers essential issues and themes necessarily crossing disciplines between the social sciences and humanities. Sections cover subjects with pieces on subjectivity, humanity, identity, gender, universality, the particular, the body, forms, visiting the different ways human rights stories are crafted and formed via the literary, the visual, the performative and the oral contexts, tracing the development of the literature over time and in relation to specific regions and historical events, impacts, considering the power and limits of human rights literature, rhetoric and visual culture. Drawn from many different global contexts, the essays offer an ideal introduction for those approaching the study of literature and human rights for the first time, looking for new insights and interdisciplinary perspectives or interested in new directions for future scholarship.
