Mallworld By Somtow Sucharitkul:

Mallworld Somtow Sucharitkul, 1984 Our solar system locked in a force field and towed to an uninhabited parallel universe occupies its time when not trying to escape at a shopping center the size of a planet Spree Pamela Klaffke, 2003 In this age of high consumption shopping is going stronger than ever as a national pastime We are a culture obsessed and beguiled by the desire for consumer goods Journalist and shopping addict Klaffke documents the history of shopping from a time when cattle were currency to the current age of contemporary shopping phenomenon like QVC and eBay From the history of the mall to a look at the darker side of shopping culture kleptomania shopping addictions anti consumerism this is the definitive chronology of the materialist age Building Imaginary Worlds Mark J.P. Wolf, 2014-03-14 Mark J P Wolf's study of imaginary worlds theorizes world building within and across media including literature comics film radio television board games video games the Internet and more Building Imaginary Worlds departs from prior approaches to imaginary worlds that focused mainly on narrative medium or genre and instead considers imaginary worlds as dynamic entities in and of themselves Wolf argues that imaginary worlds which are often transnarrative transmedial and transauthorial in nature are compelling objects of inquiry for Media Studies Chapters touch on a theoretical analysis of how world building extends beyond storytelling the engagement of the audience and the way worlds are conceptualized and experienced a history of imaginary worlds that follows their development over three millennia from the fictional islands of Homer's Odyssey to the present internarrative theory examining how narratives set in the same world can interact and relate to one another an examination of transmedial growth and adaptation and what happens when worlds make the jump between media an analysis of the transauthorial nature of imaginary worlds the resulting concentric circles of authorship and related topics of canonicity participatory worlds and subcreation's relationship with divine Creation Building Imaginary Worlds also provides the scholar of imaginary worlds with a glossary of terms and a detailed timeline that spans three millennia and more than 1 400 imaginary worlds listing their names creators and the works in which they first appeared Index to Science Fiction Anthologies and Collections William Contento, 1978 Consuming Youth Robert Latham, 2007-11-01 From the novels of Anne Rice to The Lost Boys from The Terminator to cyberpunk science fiction vampires and cyborgs have become strikingly visible figures within American popular culture especially youth culture In Consuming Youth Rob Latham explains why showing how fiction film and other media deploy these ambiguous monsters to embody and work through the implications of a capitalist system in which youth both consume and are consumed Inspired by Marx's use of the cyborg vampire as a metaphor for the objectification of physical labor in the factory Latham shows how contemporary images of vampires and cyborgs illuminate the contradictory processes of empowerment and exploitation that characterize the youth consumer system While the vampire is a voracious consumer driven by a hunger for perpetual youth the cyborg has incorporated the machineries of consumption into its own flesh Powerful fusions of technology and desire these paired images symbolize the forms of labor and leisure that American society has staked out for contemporary youth A startling look at youth in our time Consuming Youth will interest anyone concerned with film television and popular culture Black Cat Weekly #50
