Acute injuries require resource-intensive care and are often complex cases, especially when coupled with underlying pre-existing medical conditions. Anesthesiologists are involved with trauma patients beginning with airway and shock resuscitation, continuing with intraoperative care during surgery, and extending on to pain management and critical care postoperatively. This reference focuses on a broad spectrum of traumatic injuries and the procedures anesthesiologists perform to adequately care for trauma patients perioperatively, surgically, and postoperatively. Special emphasis is given to the assessment and treatment of coexisting disease.
