Kiwis Might Fly By Polly Evans:

Kiwis Might Fly Polly Evans, 2009-05-27 When Polly Evans read a survey claiming that the last bastion of masculinity the real Kiwi bloke was about to breathe his last she was seized by a sense of foreboding Abandoning the London winter she took off on a motorbike for the windswept beaches and golden plains of New Zealand hoping to root out some examples of this endangered species for posterity But her challenges didn't stop at the men Just weeks after passing her test Polly rode from Auckland's glitzy Viaduct Basin to the vineyards of Hawkes Bay and on to the Southern Alps She found wild kiwis in the dead of night kayaked among dolphins at dawn and spent an evening on a remote hillside with a sheep shearing gang As she travelled Polly reflected on the Maori warriors who carved their enemies bones into cutlery the pioneer family who lived in a tree and the flamboyant gold miners who lit their pipes with five pound notes and wondered how their descendents have become pathologically obsessed with helpfulness and Coronation Street The author of the highly acclaimed It's Not About the Tapas reaches some unexpected conclusions about the new New Zealand man and finds that evolution has taken some unlikely twists

Evans,2009-05-27 When she learnt that the Chinese had built enough new roads to circle the equator sixteen times Polly Evans decided to go and witness for herself the way this vast nation was hurtling into the technological age But on arriving in China she found the building work wasn t quite finished Squeezed up against Buddhist monks squawking chickens and on one happy occasion a soldier named Hero Polly clattered along pot holed tracks from the snow capped mountains of Shangri La to the bear infested jungles of the south She braved encounters with a sadistic masseur a ridiculously flexible kung fu teacher and a terrified child who screamed at the sight of her In quieter moments Polly contemplated China s long and colourful history the seven foot tall eunuch commander who sailed the globe in search of treasure the empress that chopped off her rivals hands and feet and boiled them to make soup and pondered the bizarre traits of the modern mandarins And as she travelled she attempted to solve the ultimate gastronomic conundrum just how does one eat a soft fried egg with chopsticks On A Hoof And A Prayer Polly Evans,2010-01-26 At the age of thirty four Polly Evans finally fulfilled a childhood dream to learn how to ride a horse But rather than do so conveniently close to home she decided to travel to Argentina and saddle up among the gauchos Overcoming battered limbs a steed hell bent on bolting and an encounter with the teeth of one very savage dog Polly cantered through Andean vineyards and galloped beneath snow capped Patagonian peaks She survived a hair raising game of polo and a back breaking day herding cattle Taking a break from riding she delved into Argentina s tumultuous history the Europeans first terrifying acquaintances with the native giants the sanguinary demise of the early missionaries and the gruesome drama of Evita s wandering corpse On a Hoof and Prayer is the stampeding story of Polly s journey from timorous equestrian novice to wildly whooping cowgirl It s a tale of ponies painkillers and peregrinations not just around present day Argentina but also into the country s glorious and turbulent past Mad Dogs

And An Englishwoman Polly Evans,2009-05-27 In the dead of winter Polly Evans ventures to the remote Yukon Territory in Canada s far northwest where temperatures plunge to minus forty and the sun rises for just a few hours each day Her mission to learn to drive sled dogs But when she arrives she finds there s more to this unspoilt wilderness than deathly cold In a pristine landscape patrolled by wolves and caribou Polly takes her first bruising lessons in the art of mushing But before the snows melt in spring she hones her skills and becomes infatuated with this brutal beautiful land where jagged gems of hoar frost glisten on the spruce boughs and the northern lights weave green and red across the skies Above all she discovers a deep affection for the loving mischievous huskies who with such courage and enthusiasm escort her through the lone white trails of the unforgiving north The Irresponsible Traveller Jennifer Barclay,2014-09-24 Publishing to coincide with Bradt's 40th anniversary The Irresponsible Traveller is a light but edgy collection of travellers' tales. Travel writers and celebrities alike recount their exciting and often dangerous adventures which include being chased by a sea lion accosted by Brazilian kidnappers and a midnight raid to free turtles on the Amazon. Over 40 years Bradt has built a reputation for publishing books covering the road less travelled and this collection celebrates exactly the sort of writing and storytelling about unusual travel experiences that has helped to establish the company as a firm favourite amongst adventurous travellers. Featuring contributions from Hilary Bradt, Michael Palin, Ben Fogle and Jonathan Scott, the title is a perfect tome to dip in and out of. The Publishers Weekly*, 2007 Vroom with a View Peter Moore, 2005. Readers will fall for a side of Italy rarely seen with the just-turned forty Peter Moore rattling around the country on the back of an ageing Vespa scooter like himself, a little rough around the edges and a bit slow in the mornings perhaps but basically still OK. Library Journal Melvil Dewey, Richard Rogers Bowker, L. A few years ago Alice Steinbach, a Pulitzer prize-winning journalist, decided to take a break from her life. She took a leave from her job, friends and family to go on a European journey of self-discovery and her first book WITHOUT RESERVATIONS was the exquisite result of that trip. But once Steinbach had opened the door to a new way of living, she found herself unwilling to return to her old routine. She left her job and went travelling again, only this time her objective was not so much one of self-discovery as it was a reaching out. She wanted to learn by taking lessons and courses but also by connecting to and learning from the people she would encounter along the way. Choosing exactly where to go and what to study turned out to be harder than she'd anticipated but Steinbach found herself repeatedly drawn to the interests and fantasies of her youth. And so her lifelong fascination with writing, animals, gardening and food led her to study dog training in Scotland, writing in Prague, gardening in Provence, calligraphy and flower arranging in Kyoto, music in Cuba, cooking in Paris and Jane Austen in Exeter. Her weeks and months spent with fellow students of all ages are as she'd hoped every bit as educational as her courses. And studying side by side with people preparing for careers in these various fields gives Steinbach a second chance at some roads not taken, a chance to reconnect with her past when so many options were still open to her. In pursuing interests she's never had time to fully explore, she finds that her sense of curiosity is as strong as it ever was and as she discovers during the course of this wonderful trip, we are never too old to learn. New Zealand Carolyn Bain, George Dunford, Korina Miller, 2006.
