Underground Andrew McGahan, 2011-03-04 Underground is the novel that at least half the country has been waiting for Think ahead five or so years from now to an Australia transformed by the never ending war on terror Canberra has been wiped out in a nuclear attack There is a permanent state of emergency Security checkpoints citizenship tests identity cards and detention without trial have all become the norm Suspect minorities have been locked away into ghettos And worse no one wants to play cricket with us anymore Enter Leo James burnt out property developer and black sheep twin brother of the all powerful Bernard James Prime Minister of Australia In an event all too typical of the times Leo finds himself abducted by terrorists But this won't be your average kidnapping Instead vast and secret forces are at work here and Leo and his captors are about to embark on a journey into the underworld of a nation gone mad Like some bastard child of Dr Strangelove and George Orwell Underground is both an adrenalin pumped thriller and a gleefully barbed satire that takes a chainsaw to political neo correctness and Australia's new ultra nationalism Blistering and blackly comic this book goes straight to the heart of the country's future and it isn't pretty

By the Book Belinda McKay, Patrick Buckridge, 2011-05-14 By the Book is an indispensable history of the literature of Queensland from its establishment as a separate colony in the mid nineteenth century through major economic political and cultural transformations to the beginning of the twenty first century Queensland figures in the Australian imagination as a frontier a place of wild landscapes and wilder politics but also as Australia's playground a soft tourist paradise of warm weather and golden beaches Based partly on real historical divergences from the rest of Australia these contradictory images have been questioned and scrutinised in Queensland literature for 150 years and writers today maintain that complicated imaginative relationship with the idea of Queensland as both different and paradoxical By the Book looks at Queensland literature in terms of its regional cultures while also devoting chapters to Indigenous writing writing for children and travel writing In the process it rediscovers lost literary traditions and forgotten writers to stir the imagination Re evaluations of early writers like Rosa Praed and George Essex Evans set contemporary writers like David Malouf Janette Turner Hospital and Venero Armano in a new context

Praise Andrew McGahan, 2005-09-01 Praise is an utterly frank and darkly humorous novel about being young in the Australia of the 1990s A time when the dole was easier to get than a job when heroin was better known than ecstasy and when ambition was the dirtiest of words A time when for two hopeless souls sex and dependence were the only lifelines McGahan's book is a bracing slap in the face to conventional platitudes and hypocrisies The Australian Praise is one of those books that takes a hefty bite out of a piece of subject matter chews it to a pulp and then spits it out Peter Craven A represent the new normal in Australian politics Once Queensland was seen as the land that time forgot with a narrow economy based on agriculture mining and transport and conservative values Then from the 1980s a transformation took place as the state modernised entrenching democratic reforms and civil liberties Yet now in the era of Campbell Newman the Palmer United Party and national politics that oozes alarmist populism it feels like Queensland's history of eccentricity and unrest has colonised the whole country So how does Queensland both point the way forward and shine a light on the way we live now Political commentator and Queenslander Mark Bahnisch looks closely and boldly at the Queensland experience from the Joh Era to the present His must read book reaches some surprising conclusions Words to Walk by Todd Barr, Rodney John Sullivan, 2005 Unveils Brisbane through the lives and works of the city's best loved authors With 25 scenic walks through Brisbane's literary past and present Meanjin to Brisvegas: Snapshots of Brisbane's journey from colonial backwater to new world city John Tilston, 2014-09-14 This book describes seminal moments in the history of the capital city of Queensland which in just one generation has grown from country town to vibrant modern metropolis It had a tough start It became a separate state with less financial support from London than any other colony in the mighty British Empire Almost a century later it was briefly the Allied Forces headquarters for the Pacific War delighting and depressing its citizens in equal measure Then it had to shake off corruption in high places before it could realise its great potential There was some intrigue along the way Early Brisbane society was enlivened by its own aristocratic Lady Di a gruesome murder started a dynasty the Battle of Brisbane was hushed up to maintain morale and the local Rat Pack played a rather different Joke Prior to European settlement as Meanjin it was a busy meeting place for the many indigenous clans in the Moreton Bay region Australian Political Lives John Nethercote, Tracey Arklay, John Wanna, 2006-10-01 This monograph brings together some of the best practitioners of the art and craft of political biography in Australia They are simultaneously some of our best scholars who at least in part have turned their attention to writing Australian political lives They are not merely chroniclers of our times but multidisciplinary analysts constructing layers of explanation and theoretical insight They include academic professional and amateur biographers scholars from a range of disciplines politics history sociology public administration gender studies and politicians who for a time strutted the political stage The assembled papers explore the strengths and weaknesses of the biographical approach the enjoyment it can deliver the problems and frustrations of writing biographies and the various ways the project can be approached by those constructing these lives They probe the art and craft of the political biographer The Bulletin, 2006 Journeying and Journalling Giselle Bastin, 2010 In December 2004 the town of Penneshaw Kangaroo Island provided the backdrop for an international conference titled Journeying and Journalling The conference created a space for creative and critical meditations on travel writing Collectively the essays in this collection provide a snapshot of current directions and preoccupations in contemporary travel writing scholarship They function as a reminder of the work that has been done on representations of Indigeneity and of writing marginalised narratives into the travel canon

However these chapters also remind us of the important work that remains particularly in relation to travel writing as form of reconciliation for example between Indigenous people and colonisers and between colonisers and neo colonials Scholars also bear the responsibility of considering the complexities of representing culture and place in a post colonial even post traumatic world This collection includes essays by Tim Youngs Helen Tiffin and Paul Sharrad and many other leading writers in the field of travel writing
