Le Grand Cahier By Gota Kristof:

Autour de l'extrême littéraire Alastair Hemmens, Russell Williams, 2012-12-18 The extreme is an essential aspect of contemporary experience Thrill seekers spend the weekend in the search of the adrenaline rush of extreme sports In the political arena the world has begun to rediscover the split between the extreme left and the extreme right Through 24 hour rolling news images of violence torture and war are televised unremittingly into the living room while the Internet places hardcore pornography snuff film and cannibalism within easy reach of anyone with a personal computer or a smartphone The extreme has even become a quality companies seek to associate with the most banal of commodities such as ice cream and hair gel These different manifestations of extremity suggest a contradictory even paradoxical relationship with the extreme The contributors to this book explore how writing in French from the Middle Ages to the present day has interrogated extremity Taken together these essays demonstrate that the quality of the extreme can be applied to a great number of texts for different reasons and from myriad perspectives Moreover the extreme is revealed as a quality both distinct from and in tension with the crossing of boundaries associated with transgression It is a movement towards and away from a centre of radiation that escapes cultural norms without necessarily reinforcing them This sensation of rushing and wandering outside the boundaries of what is considered safe and normal provides the extreme with its adrenaline charged response of excitement or horror The analyses contained in this volume consider a number of manifestations of the extr me litt raire The ambiguities of gender in medieval romance are explored in the context of the Arthurian court The 19th century is examined through the prose poems of Baudelaire and the litt rature sauvage of the Zutistes The difficulties of writing the trauma of war and genocide in the 20th century are discussed through the work of Jorge Sempr n and Agota Kristof The contemporary extreme in French literature is examined in the autofiction of Christine Angot the work of Annie Ernaux and Catherine Millet the controversial novels of Michel Houellebecq and the worldwide influence of the Marquis de Sade on writing today Whilst the extr me litt raire may have a wide variety of expressions in French literature it is always outside beyond and far from the centre of our everyday experience It shocks us excites us and horrifies us often all at once This book seeks to provide an insight into how and why the extreme has fascinated and continues to fascinate the French literary imagination Un

montre comment par la mise en critique du double bind au moyen du double et de la schizophrénie ces écrivains sont parvenus à chapper une situation contraignante et à reorienter l'auteur montre que dans ces textes empreints de postmodernisme deleuzo guattarien les deux mondes formateurs ont été traités de façon galitair et que seul un tel traitement garantit le succès de la transculturation en permettant la création d'un tiers espace non mais distinct des deux mondes originels on peut s'panouir la tierce identité du sujet transculturel

European Literary Immigration Into the French Language Tijana Miletić, 2008 The critical emotional and intellectual change which every immigrant is obliged to endure and confront is experienced with singular intensity by immigrant writers who have also adopted another language for their literary expression Concentrating on European authors of the second half of the twentieth century who have chosen French as a language for their literary expression and in particular the novels by Romain Gary Agota Kristof Milan Kundera and Jorge Semprun with reference to many others European Literary Immigration into the French Language explores some of the common elements in these works of fiction which despite the varied personal circumstances and literary aesthetics of the authors follow a similar path in the building of a literary identity and legitimacy in the new language The choice of the French language is inextricably linked with the subsequent literary choices of these writers This study charts a new territory within Francophone and European literary studies in treating the European immigrants as a separate group and in applying linguistic sociological and psychoanalytical ideas in the analysis of the works of fiction and thus represents a relevant contribution to the understanding of European cultural identity This volume is relevant to French and European literature scholars and anyone with interest in immigration European identity or second language adoption

The Novel and Europe Andrew Hammond, 2016-10-05 This book examines the ways in which fiction has addressed the continent since the Second World War Drawing on novelists from Europe and elsewhere the volume analyzes the literary response to seven dominant concerns ideas of Europe conflict borders empire unification migration and marginalization offering a ground breaking study of how modern and contemporary writers have participated in the European debate The sixteen essays view the chosen writers not as representatives of national literatures but as participants in transcontinental discussion that has occurred across borders cultures and languages In doing so the contributors raise questions about the forms of power operating across and radiating from Europe challenging both the institutionalized divisions of the Cold War and the triumphalist narrative of continental unity currently being written in Brussels

The Exile and Return of Writers from East-Central Europe John Neubauer, Borbála Zsuzsanna Török, 2009-10-28 This is the first comparative study of literature written by writers who fled from East Central Europe during the twentieth century It includes not only interpretations of individual lives and literary works but also studies of the most important literary journals publishers radio programs and other aspects of exile literary cultures The theoretical part of introduction distinguishes between exiles migrants and expatriates while the historical part surveys the pre twentieth century exile traditions and provides an overview of the exilic events between 1919 and 1995 one section is devoted to exile cultures in Paris London and New York as well as in Moscow Madrid Toronto Buenos Aires and other cities The studies focus on the factional divisions within each national exile culture and on the relationship between the various exiled national cultures among each other They also investigate the relation of each exile national culture to the culture of its host country Individual essays are devoted to Witold Gombrowicz Paul Goma Milan Kundera Monica Lovinescu Milo Crnjanski Herta and Paul Miller and to the internal exile of Imre Kertész Special attention is devoted to the new forms of exile that emerged during the ex-Yugoslav wars and to the problems of homecoming of exiled texts and writers

Bicultural Literature and Film in French and English Peter I. Barta, Phil Powrie, 2015-12-22 This book focuses on literature and cinema in English or French by authors and directors not working in their native language Artists with hybrid identities have become a defining phenomenon of contemporary reality following the increased mobility between civilisations during the postcolonial period and the waves of emigration to the West Cinema and prose fiction remain the most popular sources of cultural consumption not least owing to the adaptability of both to the new electronic media This volume considers cultural products in English and French in which the explicitly multi-focal representation of authors' experiences of their native languages/cultures makes itself conspicuous The essays explore work by the peripheral and those without a country while problematising what might be meant by the widely used but not always well-defined term bicultural The first section looks at films by such well-known filmmakers working in France as Bouchareb, Kechiche, Legzouli and Dridi as well as the animated feature Persepolis Here the focus is on the representation of human experience in spatial terms exploring the appropriation of territory cohabited by local people, newcomers and their children haunted by the cultural memories of distant places The second part is devoted to multicultural authors whose native language was English, Russian, Polish, Hungarian or Spanish: Beckett, Herzen, Vovochkina, Triolet, Conrad, Hoffmann, Kristof, Dorfman and their creative engagement with difference A study of the emergence of multilingual writing in Montaigne and an autobiographical essay by Elleke Boehmer on growing up surrounded by English, Dutch, Afrikaans and Zulu frame the volume's chapters The collection relishes the freedom provided by liberation from the confines of one language and culture and the delight in creative multilingualism This book will be of significant interest to those studying the subject of biculturalism as well as the fields of comparative literature and cinema

French XX Bibliography William J. Thompson, 2006-09 Provides a listing available of books, articles and book reviews concerned with French literature since 1885 This work is a reference source in the study of modern French literature and culture The bibliography is divided into three major divisions: general studies, author subjects arranged alphabetically and cinema

History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope, John Neubauer, 2010-09-29 Types and stereotypes is the fourth and last volume of a path-breaking multinational literary history that incorporates innovative features relevant to the writing of literary history in general Instead of offering a traditional chronological narrative of the period 1800-1989 the History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe approaches the region's literatures from five complementary angles focusing on literature's participation in and reaction to key political events literary periods and genres the literatures of cities and sub regions literary institutions and figures of representation The main objective of the project is to challenge the self enclosure of national literatures in traditional literary histories to contextualize them in a regional perspective and to recover individual works writers and minority literatures that national histories have marginalized or ignored Types and stereotypes brings together articles that rethink the figures of National Poets figurations of the Family Women Outlaws and Others as well as figures of Trauma and Mediation As in the previous three volumes the historical and imaginary figures discussed here constantly change and readjust to new political and social conditions An Epilogue complements the basic history focusing on the contradictory transformations of East Central European literary cultures after 1989 This volume will be of interest to the region's literary historians to students and teachers of comparative literature to cultural historians and to the general public interested in exploring the literatures of a rich and resourceful cultural region Le grand cahier, d'après le roman form explaining why and in exactly what ways that writer is important. Similarly an entry on an individual novel discusses the importance of that novel not only from analyzing the particular innovations that novel has introduced and the ways in which it has influenced the subsequent course of the genre. A wide range of topic entries explore the history, criticism, theory, production, dissemination, and reception of the novel. A very important component of the Encyclopedia of the Novel is its long surveys of development of the novel in various regions of the world.

Saint Genet decanonized Loren Ringer, 2021-11-01
2002 will mark the 50th anniversary of the publication of Saint Genet. Ever since that date Jean Genet's work has largely been read and interpreted through Sartre's analysis of the author. In this study the author seeks to liberate Genet's fiction from the philosopher's stranglehold and reopen the work to new venues of interpretation. After challenging the accuracy and pertinence of Sartre's project and describing the problematic influence it has had, the author begins his own investigation of Genet by examining the notion of precarious identity which informs the Genetian text. Through a dense web of textual maneuvers arises an aesthetically playful approach to sexual identity. From the beginnings of work in the field of sexology, homosexual desire has defied certain types of rigid schematization such as Freud's Oedipus complex. Indeed it can be better viewed through the alternative interpretive lenses of Deleuze and Guattari who challenge patriarchal order in the study of sexuality. Such an approach eventually leads to a discovery of the body's centrality in Genet's fiction, especially in his last novel Querelle. It is precisely this ludic body that has escaped Sartre's critical eye and many subsequent studies of Genet's literature.

Exiles, Travellers and Vagabonds, 2016-10-20
Travel writing, migrant writing, exile writing, expatriate writing, and even the fictional travelling protagonists that emerge in literary works from around the globe have historically tended to depict mobility as a masculine phenomenon. The presence of such genres in women's writing however poses a rich and unique body of work. This volume examines the texts of Francophone women who have experienced or reflected upon the experience of transnational movement. Due to the particularity of their relationship to home and the consequent impact of this on their experience of displacement, the study of women's mobility opens up new questions in our understanding of the movement from place to place and in our broader understanding of colonial and postcolonial worlds. Addressing the proximities and overlaps that exist between the experiences of women, exiles, migrants, expatriates, and travellers, the collected essays in this book seek to challenge the usefulness, relevance, or validity of such terms for conceptualising today's complex patterns of transnational mobility and the gendered identities produced therein.
