Lost In Translation Misadventures In English Abroad By Charlie Croker:

Lost in Translation Charlie Croker, 2007 Mr Renny's paintings are so good that they almost appear real. But no one seems to pay them any attention until a strange man offers to make everything that Mr Renny paints come to life. First there's the painting of the apple which Mr Renny can now eat. Then there's a huge hotdog, a new car, a cruise liner. Mr Renny paints himself a life of luxury until his friend Rose comes to ask if she can buy one of his paintings. But he doesn't have any real paintings left. The spell must be broken and soon. A book containing subtle references to the work of Belgian surrealist René Magritte, the illustrations are full of clever and amusing details.

Still Lost in Translation Charlie Croker, 2007 From a leaflet from the Museum of Rasputin in Russia to a song title on a pirated Pink Floyd CD, the scrambled sentences just kept flooding in. With such a wealth of material, a sequel wasn't just a necessity; it was a public service and is even more addictive, whimsical and side-splittingly hilarious than the first book.

Utterly Lost in Translation Charlie Croker, 2015-06-29 The search for the globe's funniest language howler continues apace. As with his two previous volumes, Charlie Croker has trawled hotel foyers in Kazakhstan, South Korean supermarkets and Argentinian airports, plucking from the mistranslation tree only the very choicest of fruits for your delectation. There is the French hotel advising that pets are not allowed in the breakfast. The bar in Rome requesting that you use the arse tray for your fags. And the bookshop in China boasting a section titled sports and hobbits. Who can tell what the Japanese camera manufacturer had in mind when they included 'beware the weatherly swell' in their instructions. Who would brave the Barcelona hotel where the pillows have firmness to take care of your cervicals. Who could resist the Austrian restaurant offering Saddle of Rabbit in a vortex sheet. This delightful book is an affectionate trawl through the gems that arise when people all round the world graciously indulge English speakers shunning of any language but their own. In fact, some of the gems are home-grown: a Hertfordshire restaurant warns that any person consumed in the restaurant without paying will be prospected. So eat some chicken soap in Bulgaria, drink Jack Denials in Italy, stay at the Budapest hotel offering non-sliding mates for the bathtubs and find yourself Utterly Lost in Translation.
