politics and economics this analysis casts a new light on recent architecture Starting with the lead up to events in the 1990s links are established between the global dominance of the North Atlantic economies architectural style and a dramatic increase in international architectural practice The widely observed homogeneity of the global consumer economy is examined in relation to branding tourism and international competition between cities and parallels are drawn with universal architectural and urban types iconic architecture and the rise of the star architect Contrasting pressures to maintain differences are identified in the break up of nation states identity politics targeted marketing and environmentalism and these are related to attempts to reinforce local identity through architecture and urban design Using social political and economic change as a guide to new directions in architecture and urban design the book ends by tracing the changes in global power revealed by the 2008 Western financial crash and its immediate impact on the built environment By comparing past patterns of cultural influence the book speculates on how architecture and urban design may come to reflect wider global trends
