1. Identifying the Problem
The first step in the problem-solving process is to identify the problem. This involves understanding the situation, gathering information, and defining the problem clearly.

2. Generating Solutions
Once the problem is identified, the next step is to generate potential solutions. This involves brainstorming ideas, considering different perspectives, and evaluating the feasibility of each solution.

3. Evaluating Solutions
After generating solutions, the next step is to evaluate them. This involves comparing the solutions against the problem, considering the pros and cons of each, and selecting the most appropriate solution.

4. Implementing the Solution
Once a solution has been selected, the next step is to implement it. This involves developing a plan, allocating resources, and putting the solution into action.

5. Evaluating the Outcome
Finally, the last step in the problem-solving process is to evaluate the outcome. This involves assessing the results of the solution, determining if the problem has been solved, and identifying any lessons learned for future reference.
