governance is increasingly recognized as the greatest impediment to economic development in Sub Saharan Africa Currently some impressive governance reforms are underway in many countries This includes cases such as Nigeria formerly the most corrupt country in the world according to Transparency International Yet other countries such as Chad are still in reform deadlock To account for these differences this book examines governance reform in Sub Saharan Africa based on an analysis of international and domestic pressures and counter pressures It develops a four phase model explaining why governance reforms advance in some instances whilst in others governance reforms stagnate or even relapse No study has sought to systematically examine the political forces both international and domestic behind the successful conduct of governance reform in Sub Saharan Africa Yet coordination collaboration and mutual support between international and domestic actors is critical to push individual governments onto the path of reform This book shows that while international and domestic pro reform pressures are important an analysis of anti reform pressures is also necessary to explain incomplete or failed reform The main theoretical arguments are structured around four hypotheses The hypotheses are theoretically generated and tested over four case studies Madagascar Kenya Nigeria and Chad On this basis the good governance socialization process is inductively developed in the concluding chapter This model illustrates how governance practices can evolve positively and negatively in all countries of Sub Saharan Africa based on the nature and relative strength of international and domestic pressures and counter pressures Routledge Handbook of Public Policy in the Global South Gedion Onyango, Ishtiaq

Local Governance in Africa Dele Olowu, James Stevenson Wunsch, 2004 An exploration of why some decentralization reforms have led to viable systems of local governance in Africa while others have failed It outlines the key issues involved provides historical context and identifies the factors that have encouraged or discouraged success

Governance and the postcolony David Everatt, 2019-08-01 Civil society NGOs governments and multilateral institutions all repeatedly call for improved or good governance yet they seem to speak past one another Governance is in danger of losing all meaning precisely because it means many things to different people in varied locations This is especially true in sub

Saharan Africa Here the postcolony takes many forms reflecting the imperial project with painful accuracy Offering a set of multidisciplinary analyses of governance in different sectors crisis management water food security universities in different locales across sub Saharan Africa and from different theoretical approaches network to adversarial network governance this volume makes a useful addition to the growing debates on how to govern It steers away from offering a correct definition of governance or from promoting a particular position on postcoloniality It gives no neat conclusion but invites readers to draw their own conclusions based on these differing approaches to and analyses of governance in the postcolony As a robust critical assessment of power and accountability in the sub Saharan context Governance and the Postcolony Views from Africa brings together topical case studies that will be a valuable resource for those working in the field of African international relations public policy public management and administration

Toward Better Governance in China Baogang Guo, Dennis V. Hickey, 2009-11-12 Toward Better Governance in China takes a fresh look at the latest efforts made by Chinese leaders to promote governance based reform It asserts that the improvement of governance has now become one of the breakthrough points of the much anticipated political reform Although the Chinese government continues to play down expectations about political reform many small scale reform experiments have been quietly undertaken by Chinese leaders at various levels in recent years including the new round of administrative reform centered on the creation of super ministries the enlargement of inner party democracy within the Chinese Communist Party CCP the strengthening of local legislative bodies and judicial reform designed to promote judicial independence and rule of law This strategy calls for strengthening governing capacity and changing government functions One of the advantages in placing the improvement of governance first is that it is less risky than embarking upon a full scaled electoral reform Electoral democracy is undoubtedly an important element in a functional democracy But equally important is the effectiveness transparency accountability and openness of the governing process Better governance implies greater transparency open deliberation and participation and less adversarial political confrontation and conflict If constructed properly China may become the sort of democratic administration or administrative democracy that Robert Dahl discussed in 1947 Clearly political reform of this kind does not follow the conventional wisdom of a democratic transition which places heavy emphasis on electoral reform or the precedence of the electoral reform to the government reform This book is intended to shed some new light on the ongoing debate about the direction of China s political development

African Parliaments M. Salih, 2005-12-10 This book offers in depth analysis of parliamentary development set in a historical context informed by Africa s post 1990s democratic resurgence In particular it illustrates how African parliaments are caught between the twin processes of being part of the machinery of government while exercising the function of holding government accountable

Public Administration in Africa Shikha Vyas-Doorgapersad, Lukamba-Muhiya. Tshombe, Ernest Peprah Ababio, 2016-04-19 With contributions from leading regional scholars Public Administration in Africa Performance and Challenges examines the complexities of the art of governance from the unique African perspective The editors bring together a cohesive study of the major issues and regions by taking an analytic approach with the strong problem solution application Regions addressed range from South Africa Congo Uganda Nigeria Ghana Mauritius and Botswana Themes include colonialism reform poverty economy decentralization financing media political structures and more Beginning with an analysis of the relationship of policy design and its destination service delivery the book discusses the historical development of a state that has gone through upheavals in government and explores a decayed political economy that ultimately results in a need for sweeping measures The text examines the issues emerging policy makers in Africa must tackle namely poverty and the denial or lack of resources to keep a dignified human life It highlights how the media can be a catalyst for good governance and provides analytical aspects of implementing good governance reforms The book concludes with an examination of the concepts of decentralization and devolution in measuring service delivery performance and an exploration of Africa s economic success story It also details the African Peer Review Mechanisms in selected African countries and provides a holistic analysis of local government functioning in Africa These features and more make it an interdisciplinary reference for diverse social economic political and administrative issues

Aid that Works James Manor, 2007 Research in recent years on aid effectiveness shows that significant obstacles in fragile states insecurity poor governance and weak implementation capacity usually prevent aid from achieving the desired results in these environments This study investigates the attributes and effectiveness of donor supported programmes and projects that worked well under difficult conditions in fragile states Presented in this study are nine development initiatives in six less developed countries Afghanistan Cambodia Mozambique Sierra Leone Timor Leste and Uganda The cases show that development initiatives which engage local communities and local level governments are often able to have significant impact However for more substantial improvements to take places localized gains need to be scaled up either horizontally other localities or vertically to higher levels Given the advantages of working at the local level and the difficulty of working through mainstream bureaucratic agencies at higher levels in these countries donors often prefer to create parallel agencies to reach out to larger numbers of beneficiaries However this may in the long run weaken the legitimacy of mainstream government institutions and donor agencies may therefore choose to work as closely as possible with government officials from the beginning to build trust and demonstrating that new initiatives are non threatening and help prepare the eventual mainstreaming of parallel agencies

Public Budgeting in African Nations Peter Fuseini Haruna, Shikha Vyas-Doorgapersad, 2016-04-14 Public Budgeting in African Nations aims to provide usable budgeting and fiscal policy management information to development practitioners interested in improving the performance of governments in the context of good governance It shares regional and cross cultural experiences with international audiences and gives reflective attention to comparative budgeting and fiscal policy management With a promising economic and fiscal forecast such information is timely for international development practitioners and for scholars and researchers interested in advancing development management This book adopts an interdisciplinary pragmatic approach to analyze and present research findings on public budgeting as a sustainable development tool The central argument is that development practice will benefit from a bottom up decentralized approach to budgeting and fiscal policy management involving national sub national and civil society institutions From this perspective a balanced budget should draw from and reflect values and priorities across the full spectrum of social and political life Public Policy in Ghana Michael Kpessa-Whyte, James Dzisah, 2023-12-15 This book provides analytical conceptual and practical insights into how public policy processes and outcomes are conceptualized and framed Drawing on Ghanaian experiences but with extensive illustrations from other African countries it showcases issues of commonality and diversity in public policy with analytical insights and real life policy concerns that specifically address how citizens engage with the state and how they think and function as social actors within the socio cultural settings of Africa The book brings public policy to life as a practical and problem solving discipline with examples of how policy actors such as the legislature governance architects the media and the judiciary become arenas for contest Linking public policy to development paradigms governance and responsible citizenship it is important reading for students and scholars of public policy governance and politics in Africa as well as practitioners Handbook of Globalization, Governance, and Public Administration Ali Farazmand, Jack Pinkowski, 2006-07-25 Globalization transcends borders and cultures as it develops both from the natural flow of information and communication technologies and as a directed and driven quest for global hegemony by self serving corporations and world political heavyweights It bears a multifaceted web of influence that manifests in inequalities in growth prosperity and AIDS and Governance Alan Whiteside, 2016-03-23 The political impact of HIV AIDS varies greatly and is difficult to map States depend on how governments choose to manage the political implications of HIV and AIDS both those stemming from the erosions of its own capacity as well as those that originate from their changing relationship on a national and international level Across the developing world HIV AIDS is slowly killing adults in their most productive years hollowing out state structures deepening poverty and raising profound questions that touch on the organization of all aspects of social economic and political life With the epidemic showing scant signs of slowing down this innovative volume assesses how HIV AIDS affects governance and conversely how governance affects the course of the epidemic In particular the volume Contemporary Issues in Africa's Development Ehimika A. Ifidon, Richard A. Olaniyan, 2018-04-18 This volume reports on the state of crisis in Africa in the early twenty first century Africa on the eve of the independence revolution was the continent of hope and high expectations By the third decade of independence optimism had been replaced by dismay African states had been beset by ethnic political squabbles military rule civil wars Islamic and insurgent movements extreme poverty and disease With the ascent of redemocratization in the 1990s and of new pan Africanism derived from the formation of the African Union Africa appeared set to claim its vaunted destiny This book asks with hindsight to the first decade of the twenty first century how real was the renaissance in African life If the dismal African condition is a phase in the historical development of Africa this volume does not see any golden age in the past to which Africa aspires to return There is clearly a continuation and persistence of crisis with an absence of good governance personalisation of state power widespread disease and policy failure in education economy and infrastructural development Although endowed with abundant human and natural resources Africa remains the least developed and most indebted continent Whither then the African Renaissance The methodologies that underpin the contributions in this book are as diverse as the specialisations of the contributors The collection questions ideologically protected assumptions and presumptions presenting Africa as it is because it is only by knowing where Africa truly stands that a proper direction can be charted for it The Policy Paradox in Africa Elias Ayuk, Mohamed Ali Marouani, 2007 It provided technical and financial support to economic research centres in sub Sahara Africa SSA so that they can undertake policy relevant research with the goal of influencing economic policy making In January 2005 the Secretariat organized an international conference in Dakar Senegal during which participants from key economic think tanks presented their experiences in the policy development process in Africa Of particular interest was the role of economic research and economic researchers in policy making The authors examine the extent to which economic policies that are formulated in the sub continent draw from research based on local realities and undertaken by local researchers and research networks in Africa
