Questions of Tradition Mark Salber Phillips, Mark Phillips, Gordon J. Schochet, 2004-01-01 Tradition is a central concern for a wide range of academic disciplines interested in problems of transmitting culture across generations Yet the concept itself has received remarkably little analysis A substantial literature has grown up around the notion of invented tradition but no clear concept of tradition is to be found in these writings since the very notion of invented tradition presupposes a prior concept of tradition and is empty without one this debunking usage has done as much to obscure the idea as to clarify it In the absence of a shared concept the various disciplines have created their own vocabularies to address the subject Useful as they are these specialized vocabularies of which the best known include hybridity canonicity diaspora paradigm and contact zones separate the disciplines and therefore necessarily create only a collection of parochial and disjointed approaches Until now there has been no concerted attempt to put the various disciplines in conversation with one another around the problem of tradition Combining discussions of the idea of tradition by major scholars from a variety of disciplines with synoptic synthesizing essays Questions of Tradition will initiate a renewal of interest in this vital subject A Legal History of Rome

The Economics of Lawmaking Francesco Parisi, Vincy Fon, 2009. The Economics of Lawmaking explores the relative advantages and limits of alternative sources of law. Francesco Parisi and Vincy Fon explore the process of legal rule production while considering issues of institutional design from a law and economics point of view. The authors provide a comprehensive overview of the four fundamental sources of law: legislation, judge-made law, customary law, and international law. The defining features of these four sources are then dissected and closely examined using economic analysis and public choice theory. Each part includes an introduction into the lawmaking process for each source and goes on to discuss such other issues as the optimal specificity of law in legislation to the theories of legal precedent and to changes in customary lawmaking.

Symbolism 21 Florian Klaeger, Klaus Stierstorfer, Marlena Tronicke, 2021-10-25. Special Focus Law and Literature. This special focus issue of Symbolism takes a look at the theoretical equation of law and literature and its inherent symbolic dimension. The authors all approach the subject from the perspective of literary and book studies, foregrounding literature's potential to act as supplementary to a very wide variety of laws spread over historical, geographical, cultural, and spatial grounds. The theoretical ground laid here thus posits both literature and law in the narrow sense. The articles gathered in this special issue analyse Anglophone literatures from the Renaissance to the present day and cover the three major genres: narrative, drama, and poetry. The contributions address questions of the law's psychoanalytic, subconscious, copyright, and censorship; literary negotiations of colonial and post-colonial territorial laws; the European refugee debate and migration narratives; fictional debates on climate change; contemporary feminist drama; and classic 19th-century legal narratives. This volume includes two insightful analyses of poetic texts with a special focus on the fact that poetry has often been neglected within the field of law and literature research.
