Design and Ethics Emma Felton, Oksana Zelenko, Suzi Vaughan, 2013-06-19 The value of design for contributing to environmental solutions and a sustainable future is increasingly recognised It spans many spheres of everyday life and the ethical dimension of design practice that considers environmental social and economic sustainability is compelling Approaches to design recognise design as a practice that can transform human experience and understanding expanding its role beyond stylistic enhancement The traditional roles of design designer and designed object are therefore redefined through new understanding of the relationship between the material and immaterial aspects of design where the design product and the design process are embodiments of ideas values and beliefs This multi disciplinary approach considers how to create design which is at once aesthetically pleasing and also ethically considered with contributions from fields as diverse as architecture fashion urban design and philosophy The authors also address how to teach design based subjects while instilling a desire in the student to develop ethical work practices both inside and outside the studio

Design for Fragility Esther Charlesworth, John Fien, 2022-12-30 The demand is now urgent for architects to respond to the design and planning challenges of rebuilding cities and landscapes being destroyed by civil conflict un natural disasters political instability and poverty The number of people fleeing their homes and being displaced by such conflict now totals almost 100 million Despite the massive human and physical costs of these crises the number of architects planners and landscape architects equipped to work with disaster and development professionals in rebuilding in the aftermath of conflict floods fires earthquakes typhoons and tsunamis remains chronically low Design for Fragility expands the nascent but rapidly growing field of humanitarian architecture by exploring 13 design responses to such conflict and displacement across 11 countries including Australia Bangladesh Fiji India Iran Pakistan and the USA Linked to this displacement is the systemic poverty that often lingers from previous colonial territories and eras in which many of the featured projects in the book are located This book follows Charlesworth s Humanitarian Architecture 15 Stories of Architects Working After Disasters Routledge 2014 which analysed the role for architects in exercising spatial agency while designing shelter and settlement projects for communities after conflict and disaster Since that time the humanitarian architecture movement has expanded globally with the prominence of design agencies including the MASS Design Group and Architecture Sans Frontières ASF International Design for Fragility analyses this role of spatial agency in architecture by addressing diverse conditions of fragility across 13 built projects from refugee housing in Uganda and an orphanage for teenage girls in Iran to a residential centre in Northern Australia for people with acquired brain injury Each of the projects profiled in this book explore The experiences and perceptions of fragility or precarity that provided a design challenge and directed the particular spatial response The specific typology of the project whether that be a housing health children s or a First Nations project The personal values that influenced the architects to work on humanitarian community projects and how consultation occurred with diverse and often contested project stakeholders The experiences of the design team as well as project managers occupants and donors of the built project exploring what they deemed successful about the project and what if any were its limitations Beautifully designed with over 150 illustrations this practical and inspiring book is for architects landscape architects design educators humanitarian and development aid agencies that are involved or seeking to be part of future disaster mitigation and reconstruction strategies and projects globally Humanitarian Architecture Esther Charlesworth, 2014-06-27 Never has the demand been so urgent for architects to respond to the design and planning challenges of rebuilding post disaster sites and cities In 2011 more people were displaced by natural disasters 42 million

than by wars and armed conflicts And yet the number of architects equipped to deal with rebuilding the aftermath of these floods fires earthquake typhoons and tsunamis is chronically short This book documents and analyses the expanding role for architects in designing projects for communities after the event of a natural disaster The fifteen case studies featured in the body of the book illustrate how architects can use spatial sensibility and integrated problem solving skills to help alleviate both human and natural disasters The cases include Lizzie Babister Department of International Development UK Shigeru Ban Winner of The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2014 Shigeru Ban Architects and Voluntary Architects Network Japan Eric Cesal Disaster Reconstruction and Resiliency Studio and Architecture for Humanity Japan Hsieh Ying Chun Atelier 3 Taiwan Nathaniel Corum Education Outreach and Architecture for Humanity USA Sandra D Urzo Shelter and Settlements and International Federation of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Brett Moore World Vision International Australia Michael Murphy MASS Design Group USA David Perkes Gulf Coast Community Design Studio USA Paul Pholeros Healthabitat Australia Patama Roonrakwit Community Architects for Shelter and Environment Thailand Graham Saunders International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Kirtee Shah Ahmedabad Study Action Group India Maggie Stephenson UN HABITAT Haiti Anna Wachtmeister Catholic Organisation for Relief and Redevelopment Aid the Netherlands The interviews and supporting essays show built environment professionals collaborating with post disaster communities as facilitators collaborators and negotiators of land space and shelter rather than as save the world modernists as often portrayed in the design media The goal is social and physical reconstruction as a collaborative process involving a damaged community and its local culture environment and economy not just shelter projects that build houses but leave no economic footprint or longer term community infrastructure What defines and unites the architects interviewed for Humanitarian Architecture is their collective belief that through a consultative process of spatial problem solving the design profession can contribute in a significant way to the complex post disaster challenge of rebuilding a city and its community

Architecture & Design versus Consumerism Ann Thorpe, 2012-06-14 The mentality that consumerism and economic growth are cure alls is one of the biggest obstacles to real sustainability but any change seems impossible unthinkable Our contemporary paradox finds us relying for our well being on consumer driven economic growth that we actually can't afford not in environmental economic or social terms Although architecture and design have long been seen as engines for consumerism and growth increasing numbers of designers are concerned about the problems resulting from growth But designers face a paradox of their own in scenarios of sustainable consumption where people consume or build significantly less what will be left for designers to do This book informed by recent research into the viability of a steady state economy sets an agenda for addressing the designer's paradox of sustainable consumption The agenda includes ways that architecture and design can help transition us towards a new kind of economy that prioritizes real wellbeing rather than economic growth Packed with examples and illustrations the book argues that taking action or activism is an important but so far

underexplored way for architects and designers to confront consumerism The first chapters explore how economic growth and consumerism shape and are shaped by the professions of architecture product and landscape design and how we can understand the problem of consumerism as four main challenges that designers are already addressing The book maps out the main issues surrounding the development of metrics that designers and others can use to measure wellbeing instead of simply measuring economic growth The second half of the book looks at how design activism works and its connection to growth and consumerist issues These chapters examine how activist practices are financed highlight five specific methods that designers use in working for social change and investigate the power of these methods The book concludes with a consideration of what design's role might be in a post growth society

Elgar Encyclopedia in Urban and Regional Planning and Design Kristof Van Assche,Raoul Beunen,Martijn Duineveld,2023-12-11 This ground breaking Encyclopedia provides a nuanced overview of the key concepts of urban and regional planning and design Embracing a broad understanding of planning and design within and beyond the professions it examines what planners and designers can do in and for a community

The EcoEdge Esther Charlesworth,Rob Adams,2013-09-13 Presenting diverse case studies of contemporary sustainable urban practice from Europe Africa India South America the USA and Australia this book offers the reader a fantastic wealth of practical material from a range of internationally renowned authors Each practical case study has addressed issues and then offered solutions to implement sustainable cities across a range of urban scales and cultures Urgent design challenges explored include population density recreating infrastructure that supports carbon neutral or low carbon emission intensive urban activities and retrofitting for sustainability Highly illustrated thematically focused and with superb global coverage this book presents a multi voiced and yet highly cohesive reference for anyone interested in green issues in urban design and architecture

The Oxford Conference Susan Roaf,Andrew Bairstow,2008 50 years after the first Oxford Conference on Architectural Education the 2008 conference brought together over 500 people from 42 countries to share best practice discuss how when where and why we teach architecture now and in the future

Questioning Architectural Judgment Steven A. Moore,Barbara B. Wilson,2013-07-24 The book shines light on the problem of judgment particularly in the realm of architectural technics and the codes that regulate it The struggle to define sustainability and thus judge architecture through such lenses is but one dimension of the contemporary problem of judgment By providing the reader with an inherently interdisciplinary study of a particular discipline architecture it brings to the topic lenses that challenge the too frequently unexamined assumptions of the discipline By situating architecture within a broader cultural field and using case studies to dissect the issues discussed the book emphasizes that it is not simply a matter of designing better more efficient or more stringent codes to guide place making but a matter of reconstructing the boundaries of the systems to be coded The authors are winners of the EDRA Place Research Award 2014 for their work on the Green Alley Demonstration Project used in the book

Statehood and Self-Determination Duncan French,2013-02-21 This detailed and timely examination of fundamental issues of statehood and recognition self determination and the rights of indigenous peoples includes analysis of some of the most controversial examples of disputed territorial status including Kosovo and the Palestinian Authority Spatial Agency: Other Ways of Doing Architecture Nishat Awan,Tatjana Schneider,Jeremy Till,2013-09-13 This book offers the first comprehensive overview of alternative approaches to architectural practice At a time when many commentators are noting that alternative and richer approaches to architectural practice are required if the profession is to flourish this book provides multiple examples from across the globe of how this has been achieved and how it might be achieved in the future Particularly pertinent in the current economic climate this book offers the reader new approaches to architectural practice in a changing world It makes essential reading for any architect aspiring or practicing

Archinesia 04 Imelda Akmal (Editor in Chief),2013-01-01 Cross Border Architecture Architects, Sustainability and the Climate Emergency Peter Raisbeck,2022-11-16 Architects Sustainability and the Climate Emergency A Political Ecology chronicles how architects have shaped their ideas of the city and sustainability as knowledge of the climate emergency has unfolded Have architects responded to the climate crisis too slowly The Heritage of War Martin Gegner,Bart Ziino,2011-08-16 The Heritage of War is an interdisciplinary study of the ways in which heritage is mobilized in remembering war and in reconstructing landscapes political systems and identities after conflict It examines the deeply contested nature of war heritage in a series of places and contexts highlighting the modes by which governments communities and individuals claim validity for their own experiences of war and the meanings they attach to them From colonizing violence in South America to the United States Civil War the Second World War on three continents genocide in Rwanda and continuing divisions in Europe and the Middle East these studies bring us closer to the very processes of heritage production The Heritage of War uncovers the histories of heritage it charts the constant social and political construction of heritage sites over time by a series of different agents and explores the continuous reworking of meaning into the present What are the forces of contingency agency and political power that produce define and sustain the heritage of war How do particular versions of the past and particular identities gain legitimacy while others are marginalised In this book contributors explore the active work by which heritage is produced and reproduced in a series of case studies of memorialization battlefield preservation tourism development private remembering and urban reconstruction These are the acts of making sense of war they are acts that continue long after violent conflict itself has ended Slum[e]scape Francesca De Filippi,2009 Recoded City Thomas Eramcora,Lucy Bullivant,2016-07-01 Recoded City examines alternative urban design planning and architecture for the other 90% namely the practice of participatory placemaking a burgeoning practice that co author Thomas Eramcora terms recoding In combining bottom up and top down means of regenerating and rebalancing neighbourhoods affected by declining welfare or struck by disaster this growing movement brings greater resilience Recoded City sheds light on a new epoch in the relationship between cities and civil society by presenting an emerging range of collaborative solutions and distributed governance models The authors draw on their own fresh research of global pioneers forging localist design strategies public realm interventions and new stakeholder dynamics As the world becomes increasingly digital and virtual a myriad of online tools and technological options is becoming available These give unprecedented co creation opportunities to communities and professionals alike yielding the benefits of a more open DIY society Because of its close engagement with people place and local identity the field of participatory placemaking has huge untapped potential Responding to the challenges of the Anthropocene era Recoded City is for decision makers developers and practitioners working globally to make better and more liveable cities Art Centre Architecture Kate

Goodwin,2024-06-03 This book examines the architecture of Aboriginal art centres in the Northern Territory Art centres emerged in Australia in the 1970s alongside Aboriginal self determination and the rise of the Indigenous art market Primarily located in remote communities and towns their economic and social value has been widely acknowledged Together with supporting artists and facilitating the production and sale of art works they provide an invaluable safe space for community to come together and to practice Culture Art centres occupy existing adapted or purpose designed buildings often developed over time with varying degrees of architect involvement While each art centre is specific to Country and community they share commonalities in their activities facilities and architectural strategies This study provides a contextual introduction to art centres and remote communities in the Northern Territory It documents and analyses the architecture of twelve centres across diverse regions from the Tiwi Islands and the tropical Top End to the Central Desert The study identifies some of the key factors impacting building outcomes and pinpoints ideas that can inform discussions between architects community and funding bodies As well as the architectural profession it is intended as an informative document for those involved in art centres and anyone interested in these unique hybrid entities Research into Design for a Connected World Amaresh

Chakrabarti,2019-01-08 This book showcases cutting edge research papers from the 7th International Conference on Research into Design ICoRD 2019 the largest in India in this area written by eminent researchers from across the world on design processes technologies methods and tools and their impact on innovation for supporting design for a connected world The theme of ICoRD 19 has been Design for a Connected World While Design traditionally focused on developing products that worked on their own an emerging trend is to have products with a smart layer that makes them context aware and responsive individually and collectively through collaboration with other physical and digital objects with which these are connected The papers in this volume explore these themes and their key focus is connectivity how do products and their development change in a connected world The volume will be of interest to researchers professionals and entrepreneurs working in the areas on industrial design manufacturing consumer goods and industrial management who are interested in the use of emerging technologies such as IOT IIOT Digital Twins I4 0 etc as well as new and emerging methods and tools to design new products systems and services Recovery from Disaster Ian Davis,David Alexander,2015-08-20 Disasters can dominate newspaper headlines and fill our TV screens with relief appeals but the complex long term challenge of recovery providing shelter rebuilding safe dwellings restoring livelihoods and shattered lives generally fails to attract the attention of the public and most agencies On average 650 disasters occur each year They affect more than 200 million people and cause 166 trillion of damage Climate change population growth and urbanisation are likely to intensify further the impact of natural disasters and add to reconstruction needs Recovery from Disaster explores the field and provides a concise comprehensive source of knowledge for academics planners architects engineers construction managers relief and development officials and reconstruction planners involved with all sectors of recovery including shelter and rebuilding With almost 80 years of first hand experience of disaster recovery between them Ian Davis an architect and David Alexander a geographer draw substantially from first hand experiences in a variety of recovery situations in China Haiti Italy Japan New Zealand Pakistan the Philippines and the USA The volume is further enriched by two important and unique features 21 models of disaster recovery are presented seven of which were specifically developed for the book The second feature is a survey of expert opinion about the nature of effective disaster recovery the first of its kind More than 50 responses are provided in full along with an analysis that integrates them with the theories that underpin them By providing a framework and models for future study and applications Davis and Alexander seek both to advance the field and to provide a much needed reference work for decision makers With a broad perspective derived from the authors roles held as university professors researchers trainers consultants NGO directors and advisors to governments and UN agencies this comprehensive guide will be invaluable for practitioners and students of disaster management
