Ardeth #01 (I - 2017) AA.VV.,2017-08-30 Unlike the many magazines that revolve around the architectural world Ardeth concerns neither with outcomes architecture nor with the authors architects Ardeth concerns instead with their operational work i e projects The shift from subjects their good intentions as taught in Universities and reclaimed in the profession to objects the products of design at work within the social system that contains them engenders an analytical and falsifiable elaboration of the complex mechanisms that an open practice such as design involves Through a process of disciplinary redefinition Ardeth explores the falsifiability of design hypotheses as the object that allows the project to scientifically confront errors and approximations

A Philosopher Looks at Architecture Paul Guyer,2021-05-20 Argues that the fundamental goals of architecture remain valid despite constant changes in human activities technologies and styles

Nationalism and Architecture Darren Deane,Sarah Butler,2016-12-05 Unlike regionalism in architecture which has been widely discussed in recent years nationalism in architecture has not been so well explored and understood However the most powerful collective representation of a nation is through its architecture and how that architecture engages the global arena by expressing defining and sometimes negating a sense of nation in order to participate in the international world Bringing together case studies from Europe North and South America the Middle East Africa Asia and Australia this book provides a truly global exploration of the relationship between architecture and nationalism via the themes of regionalism and representation various national building projects ethnic and trans national expression national identities and histories of nationalist architecture and the philosophies and sociological studies of nationalism It argues that nationalism needs to be trans national as a notion to be critically understood and the geographical scope of the proposed volume reflects the continuing relevance of the topic within current architectural scholarship as an overarching notion The interdisciplinary essays are coherently grouped together in three thematic sections Revisiting Nationalism Interpreting Nationalism and Questioning Nationalism These chapters offer vignettes of the protean appearances of nationalism across nations and offer a basis of developing wider knowledge and critically situated understanding of the question beyond a singular nation's limited bounds

The Dissertation Iain Borden, Katerina Ruedi Ray, 2014-05-09 The Dissertation is one of the most demanding yet potentially most stimulating components of an architectural course This classic text provides a complete guide to what to do how to do it when to do it and what the major pitfalls are This is a comprehensive guide to all that an architecture student might need to know about undertaking the dissertation The book provides a plain guide through the whole process of starting writing preparing and submitting a dissertation with minimum stress and frustration The third edition has been revised throughout to bring the text completely up to date for a new generation of students Crucially five new and complete dissertations demonstrate and exemplify all the advice and issues raised in the main text These dissertations are on subjects from the UK USA Europe and Asia and offer remarkable insights into how to get it just right

Thinking about Architecture Colin Davies, 2011-10-17 In order to understand architecture in all its cultural complexity it is necessary to grasp such basic concepts as representation form and space The aim of this book is to provide teachers students practising architects and general readers with a set of ideas that will enrich their conversation their writing and above all their thinking about architecture The book is divided into eight chapters each covering a particular aspect of architecture and introduces difficult concepts gradually Architectural theorists and philosophers are mentioned in passing and their works are listed in the bibliography but they are not the subject of the book Architecture rather than philosophy is at the centre of the picture The aim is to enable the reader to understand architecture in all its aspects rather than to learn the names of particular theorists Written in a conversational style Thinking about Architecture is an invaluable and accessible standard introduction to architectural theory Craft Theory and Contemporary Architecture Grant Alford, 2025-05-28 This book offers a comprehensive exploration of craft theory in relation to contemporary architecture Craft is an old and familiar idea but the line between craft and art or craft and mere manufacturing for example is notoriously hard to describe In architecture a similarly blurred line between the design process on one hand and the physical making of buildings on the other lies at the center of various debates about what it means to do architecture The growth and development of craft theory in recent years suggest new insights into these architectural debates but situating the meaning of craft within architecture within today's technological landscape is a complex problem Alford responds to this challenge by collecting various narratives from craft theory and other fields and discerning among them new lenses through which to view contemporary architectural practice Episodes from this expanded view of craft in architecture go beyond predictable accounts of Ruskin and Morris to envision new models of practice new ways of engaging other building professionals and new ways for architects to understand their own labor and the nature of how and what kinds of things they themselves craft Architecture is changing and within the ongoing story of craft explored in this book are new and surprising ways to understand design and construct the built environment Written for students and scholars this book challenges and extends the legacy of craft thinking in architecture Getty Research Journal, No. 10 Gail Feigenbaum, 2018-03-06 The Getty Research Journal features the work of art historians museum curators and conservators from around the world as part of the Getty's mission to promote critical thinking in the presentation conservation and interpretation of the world's artistic legacy Articles present original research related to the Getty's collections initiatives and research projects This issue features essays on the cross cultural features of a small alabaster vessel in the international style of the ancient Mediterranean French and Flemish influences in the Montebourg Psalter a new identification for the so called bust of Saint Cyricus the effects of the Reformation on the art market in northern Europe sketchbooks kept by the Portuguese painter Jo o Glama Stroeberle containing comments from his teachers the origins of the architectural history survey Japanese ink aesthetics in non ink media the impact of the invention of adhesive tape in the 1930s on the artistic process of abstract painters and the importance of ephemeral artifacts for the documentation of Carolee Schneemann's performance works Shorter texts include notices on an Egyptian ushabti from the tomb of Neferibresaneith a bronze statuette newly identified as representing the Alexandrian god Hermanubis and an etching by Felix Bracquemond
