

A photograph of a modern, two-story house with dark, horizontal wood siding. The house has a complex, angular roofline with a prominent gable on the left side. Large, multi-paned windows are visible, some of which are illuminated from within, showing a warm interior. The house is set against a clear blue sky. In the foreground, there is a gravel path and some landscaping. The text "Scandinavian architecture" is overlaid in a white, serif font, with a large initial "S" and a horizontal line passing through the middle of the text.

Architecture In The Scandinavian Countries:

Architecture in the Scandinavian Countries Marian Card Donnelly,1992 The most complete survey of Nordic architecture available today Architecture in the Scandinavian Countries Marian Card Donnelly,1992

Architecture in the Scandinavian Countries Marian Card Donnelly,1991 The most complete survey of Nordic architecture available today From Viking structures to Renaissance housing projects Medieval stave churches to modern crematoriums Architecture in the Scandinavian Countries presents the most complete survey of Nordic architecture available today Its more than 400 illustrations provide a visual introduction to nearly 10 000 years of building in the region with examples of ecclesiastical domestic and civic buildings showing how Scandinavian architects used their own resources and traditions as well as adapting the styles of medieval Renaissance baroque and modern Europe to generate ideas that were to have major international consequences More than three decades after Thomas Paulsson published his pioneering book Scandinavian Architecture the first serious attempt to present a unified history of Nordic building Marian Donnelly has written an even more comprehensive work Donnelly s account begins with the earliest known remains of dwellings dating to around 7500 B C and closes with the commercial buildings of the 1970s In between she covers every important figure movement and style in Denmark Sweden Norway Finland Iceland and the Faroes Included are both canonical and unknown structures obscure and celebrated architects There is an extensive bibliography and a guide to biographical references for the architects Scandinavian Architecture Thomas Paulsson,1959 Selected list of books p 245 50 High On...

Scandinavian Architects Tanja Schmelzer,2021 Scandinavian design is a movement characterised by simplicity minimalism and functionality that emerged in the early 20th century and subsequently flourished in the 1950s throughout the five Nordic countries Norway Sweden Finland Denmark and Iceland Scandinavian designers are known especially for household goods including furniture textiles ceramics lamps and glass but Scandinavian design has been extended to be an influential movement in architecture and industrial design High On Scandinavian Architects presents twenty eight architects from Scandinavia with their latest projects from the areas of residential commercial and public buildings Whether large or small sharp edged or soft coarse or fine the architecture depicted in this volume is characterised by the iconoclastic flair of Scandinavia Publisher s description Modernism in Scandinavia Charlotte Ashby,2017-02-23 Scandinavia is a region associated with modernity modern design modern living and a modern welfare state This new history of modernism in Scandinavia offers a picture of the complex reality that lies behind the label a modernism made up of many different figures impulses and visions It places the individuals who have achieved international fame such as Edvard Munch and Alvar Aalto in a wider context and through a series of case studies provides a rich analysis of the art architecture and design history of the Nordic region and of modernism as a concept and mode of practice Modernism in Scandinavia addresses the decades between 1890 and 1970 and presents an intertwined history of modernism across the region Charlotte Ashby gives a rationale for her focus on those countries which share an interrelated history and colonial past but also stresses influences from outside the region such as the English Arts and Crafts movement and the impact of emergent American modernism Her richly illustrated account guides the reader through key historical periods and cultural movements with case studies illuminating key art works buildings designed products and exhibitions Scandinavia Elizabeth Gaynor,1987-09-15 A survey of homes and furnishings adapted to their natural environment Architecture, Society, and Ritual in Viking Age Scandinavia Marianne Hem Eriksen,2019-02-28 This book explores households social organization and rituals in Viking Age Scandinavia through a study of dwellings and their doorways Neue Holzarchitektur in Skandinavien Christoph Affentranger,1997 Wood architecture is gaining importance worldwide The aesthetic technical and ecological advantages of this regenerative building material are obvious This monograph is the first to present a definitive documentation of the important examples in wood architecture in Denmark Iceland Norway Sweden and Finland The book offers a detailed analysis of 19 buildings with photographs drawings and technical details and briefly introduces 71 further buildings The selection is based not only on aesthetic and architectural criteria but also on the merit of innovative solutions to technical problems All manner of buildings are represented here from single family homes to churches from industrial buildings to libraries from temporary experimental architecture to large halls Historical exponents illustrate the importance of a centuries old tradition in Scandinavia modular construction framed church buildings etc and analyse their inspirational role for today s architects This monograph offers an extensive and exciting image and a few surprises of contemporary wood architecture in Northern Europe An indispensable book including a commented bibliography as well as indices of names and locations for specialists and non specialists interested in wood architecture Women in Scandinavian Landscape Architecture Svava Riesto,Henriette Steiner,2024-12-02 Women were active in landscape architecture in Scandinavia throughout the twentieth century yet little is known about their contribution This volume therefore asks where are the women in Scandinavian landscape architecture It thus presents new knowledge about women s contributions to the shaping of modern cities and landscapes in the Scandinavian welfare states With chapters by some of the most respected architectural and landscape architectural historians as well as up and coming scholars and practice based artistic researchers the book make three major contributions First it asks the previously neglected question of women s contributions to twentieth century landscape architecture in Denmark Sweden and Norway Second it does so from a transnational perspective bringing together researchers from Scandinavia and Finland Third it documents how collaborative formats for knowledge creation can generate new insights and fruitful links between researchers and research materials The book brings to light new knowledge and new forms of architectural historical work on the contributions of many women landscape architects to designed open spaces Post-Western Histories of Architecture Pilar Maria Guerrieri,Marco Biraghi,2023-06-23 This book seeks to provide an alternative post Western perspective to the history of contemporary architecture It puts forward detailed critical analyses of various areas of the world including Europe Latin America Africa China Australia India and Japan where particular movements of architecture have developed as active political acts The authors focus on a broad spectrum of countries architectures and architects that have developed a design approach closely linked to the building context The concept of context is broad and includes various economic social cultural political and natural aspects In all cases the architects selected in this book have chosen to view context as an opportunity However each architect has considered certain specific aspects of context some have been very attentive to the social context others to material aspects or typological issues and still others to aspects related to political visions or economic factors The analysis critically highlights interesting creative and respectful design approaches towards local conditions such as sustainability in Nordic Europe climate conscious design in Africa and the bottom up sensitivity of India The book's main aim is to retrace through both theoretical arguments and case studies the debate that focuses on politics and the environment Thanks to its valuable examples this book strives to make a conscious contribution to establishing a bulwark against the current flattening out processes that architecture is experiencing This book will be of relevance to researchers teachers and students interested in the history of architecture architecture and planning and postcolonial studies

Scandinavia House, the Nordic Center in America, 2008 Modern Architecture and the Mediterranean Jean-Francois Lejeune, Michelangelo Sabatino, 2009-12-04

Bringing to light the debt twentieth century modernist architects owe to the vernacular building traditions of the Mediterranean region this book considers architectural practice and discourse from the 1920s to the 1980s The essays here situate Mediterranean modernism in relation to concepts such as regionalism nationalism internationalism critical regionalism and postmodernism an alternative history of the modern architecture and urbanism of a critical period in the twentieth century Sustainability in Scandinavia Ali Malkawi, Marius Nygaard, Anne Beim, Erik Stenberg, 2018 The challenges of the global climate crisis are heightened in large part by a pervasive uncertainty regarding how architects and designers can address this challenge most effectively In a situation where action is needed but the correct strategies remain unknown it is essential for architects to share their experiences and knowledge as broadly as possible They must seek out perspectives that can help them overcome these impasses When climate change was put at the top of the international environmental agenda more than a decade ago Scandinavian countries were ready and able to respond quickly and methodically Today Scandinavia is still on the forefront of sustainable development reorienting cultural engagement and economic growth to face climate change The experience and knowledge accumulated by architects from Denmark Norway and Sweden have the potential to enrich the exchange of ideas that is vital to a shift towards holistic thinking and sustainable architectural practice In this book essential aspects of sustainability in architecture and planning are approached from many diverse perspectives They exemplify the breadth and depth of explorations underway The collection of writings is based on six years of visits made to the three Scandinavian countries and sustained engagements with the schools of architecture in the capital cities of Copenhagen Oslo and Stockholm The book aims to illuminate lessons being learned by architects in Scandinavia that are also relevant in a global perspective The main drivers of sustainability are highlighted through case studies that cover all scales from planning and infrastructure to buildings and components The cases illustrate central themes such as energy lifecycles industrialization durability transformation and history More acutely architectural topics such as adaptability integrated design and architectural education tradition further permeate the cases At the same time the projects exemplify the best practices of sustainable architecture in Scandinavia including housing offices cultural buildings and urban development

A Critical History of Contemporary Architecture Elie G. Haddad, David Rifkind, 2016-12-05

1960 following as it did the last CIAM meeting signalled a turning point for the Modern Movement From then on architecture was influenced by seminal texts by Aldo Rossi and Robert Venturi and gave rise to the first revisionary movement following Modernism Bringing together leading experts in the field this book provides a comprehensive critical overview of the developments in architecture from 1960 to 2010 It consists of two parts the first section providing a presentation of major movements in architecture after 1960 and the second a geographic survey that covers a wide range of territories around the world This book not only reflects the different perspectives of its various authors but also charts a middle course between the aesthetic histories that examine architecture solely in terms of its formal aspects and the more ideological histories that subject it to a critique that often skirts the discussion of its formal aspects

History of Modern Architecture Leonardo Benevolo, 1977 A serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author's closely reasoned formulations Let it be said at once that the format of this work is richly handsome it is a two volume boxed set comprising 844 pages and well over 1 000 high quality illustrations and it reflects throughout its publisher's conviction that good design is an essential not superficial part of bookmaking Beyond that it should be emphasized that this work is not another facile cultural tour of modern architecture It is a serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author's closely reasoned formulations rather than to gloss over a lack of substantive content The book is a translation of the third Italian edition published in 1966 Benevolo who is on the faculty of architecture in Venice has earned an international reputation as a historian of architecture and town planning and his publications embrace the span of time from the Renaissance to the foreseeable future One such publication The Origins of Modern Town Planning The MIT Press 1967 may be read as a prelude to the present work as well as an independent contribution Perhaps more than any other architectural historian in our time Benevolo has made a determined effort to place developments in design and planning in their proper social and political settings Indeed the author argues that the development of the modern movement in architecture was determined not by aesthetic formalisms but largely by the social changes that have occurred since about 1760 After the middle of the eighteenth century without the continuity of formal activity being in any way broken indeed while architectural language seems to be acquiring a particular coherence the relations between architect and society began to change radically New material and spiritual needs new ideas and modes of procedure arise both within and beyond the traditional limits and finally they run together to form a new architectural synthesis that is completely different from the old one In this way it is possible to explain the birth of modern architecture which otherwise would seem completely incomprehensible This second volume is concerned with the modern movement proper from 1914 to 1966 The author emphasizes the unity of the movement rejecting the usual treatment that allots to the individual architects separate and unconnected biographical accounts Benevolo remarks at one point When one talks about modern architecture one must bear in mind the fact that it implies not only a new range of forms but also a new way of thinking whose consequences have not yet all been calculated His main concern is to provide a more exact calculation of those consequences

Renaissance Architecture Christy Anderson, 2013-02-28 A completely new approach to the history of Renaissance architecture encompassing the entire continent and dealing with the work of well known architects such as Michelangelo and Andrea Palladio alongside lesser known though no less innovative designers such as Juan Guas in Portugal and Benedikt Ried in Prague and Eastern Europe

Understanding Architecture Hazel Conway, Rowan Roenisch, 2005-07-22 First published in 1994 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Organic Design in Twentieth-Century Nordic Architecture Erik Champion, 2019-02-18 Organic Design in Twentieth Century Nordic Architecture presents a communicable and useful definition of organic architecture that reaches beyond constraints The book focuses on the works and writings of architects in Nordic countries such as Sigurd Lewerentz J rn Utzon Sverre Fehn and the Aaltos Aino Elissa and Alvar among others It is structured around the ideas of organic design principles that influenced them and allowed their work to evolve from one building to another Erik Champion argues organic architecture can be viewed as a concerted attempt to thematically unify the built environment through the allegorical expression of ongoing interaction between designer architectural brief and building as process With over 140 black and white images this book is an intriguing read for architecture students and professionals alike
