Between Father And Son Family Letters:

Between Father and Son Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul, 2000 In 1948 at the age of 18 V S Naipaul left home on a scholarship furnished by the government of Trinidad Following his first airplane ride and a two week journey by steamer he found himself in Oxford England a world that could not have been more unlike the one he longed to escape the one to which he would never really return This startling collection of letters between the young Naipaul and his family written while he was up at Oxford allow us as nothing previously published has to enter the intimacy of his formative years It is a moving story of family members oceans apart clinging to one another against the sadness of dislocation and isolation the young Naipaul desperate not for a degree but to become a writer his beloved sister Kamla anxious and bewildered away at school in India and his melancholy father the seeds of whose thwarted aspirations as a writer would bear fruit in the singular achievement of his son Of him Naipaul would write what we are he has made us Alongside this poignant family drama is the tale of a young man out in the world seeing London and Paris longing for love for success and recognition suffering material want of his own powerless to assuage that of his loved ones And it is also the story of one writer s beginnings ending triumphantly with the publication of his first novel as we witness the flowering of one of the great literary geniuses of the century Between

Father and Son V. S. Naipaul, 2001-03-13 At seventeen V S Naipaul wanted to follow no other profession but writing Awarded a scholarship by the Trinidadian government he set out to attend Oxford where he encountered a vastly different world from the one he yearned to leave behind Separated from his family by continents and grappling with depression financial strain loneliness and dislocation Vido bridged the distance with a faithful correspondence that began shortly before the young man s two week journey to England and ended soon after his father s death four years later Here for the first time we have the opportunity to read this profoundly moving correspondence which illuminates with unalloyed candor the relationship between a sacrificing father and his determined son as they encourage each other to persevere with their writing For though his father s literary aspirations would go unrealized Naipaul s triumphant career would ultimately vindicate his beloved mentor s legacy Letters Between a Father and Son Vidiadhar Surajprasad Naipaul, V. S.

Naipaul, 2009 In 1950 V S Naipaul travelled from Trinidad to England to take up a place at Oxford University Over the next few years letters passed back and forth between V S Naipaul and his family particularly his beloved father Seepersad but also his mother and siblings The result is a fascinating chronicle of Naipaul s time at university the love of writing that he shared with his father and their mutual nurturing of literary ambition the triumphs and depressions of Oxford life and the travails of his family back at home This engrossing collection has been updated with new material Spanning the early years of V S Naipaul s burgeoning literary career these letters touch time and again on the craft of writing and reveal the relationships and experiences that formed and influenced one of the greatest and most enigmatic literary figures of our age Extraordinary and moving this book is both heartening and terribly sad Alain de Botton Sunday Telegraph Rare and precious if any modern
