Beyond Windrush J. Dillon Brown, Leah Reade Rosenberg, 2015-07-10 This edited collection challenges a long sacrosanct paradigm Since the establishment of Caribbean literary studies scholars have exalted an elite cohort of migr novelists based in postwar London a group often referred to as the Windrush writers in tribute to the SS Empire Windrush whose 1948 voyage from Jamaica inaugurated large scale Caribbean migration to London In critical accounts this group is typically reduced to the canonical troika of V S Naipaul George Lamming and Sam Selvon effectively treating these three authors as the tradition s founding fathers These founders have been properly celebrated for producing a complex anticolonial nationalist literature However their canonization has obscured the great diversity of postwar Caribbean writers producing an enduring but narrow definition of West Indian literature Beyond Windrush stands out as the first book to reexamine and redefine the writing of this crucial era Its fourteen original essays make clear that in the 1950s there was already a wide spectrum of West Indian men and women Afro Caribbean Indo Caribbean and white creole who were writing publishing and even painting Many lived in the Caribbean and North America rather than London Moreover these writers addressed subjects overlooked in the more conventionally conceived canon including topics such as queer sexuality and the environment This collection offers new readings of canonical authors Lamming Roger Mais and Andrew Salkey hitherto marginalized authors Ismith Khan Elma Napier and John Hearne and commonly ignored genres memoir short stories and journalism The BBC and the Development of Anglophone Caribbean Literature, 1943-1958 Glyne A.

Griffith, 2016-11-23 This book is the first to analyse how BBC radio presented Anglophone Caribbean literature and in turn aided and influenced the shape of imaginative writing in the region Glyne A Griffith examines Caribbean Voices broadcasts to the region over a fifteen year period and reveals that though the program s funding was colonial in orientation the content and form were antithetical to the very colonial enterprise that had brought the program into existence Part literary history and part literary biography this study fills a gap in the narrative of the region s literary history Beyond "Understanding Canada" Melissa Tanti, Jeremy Haynes, Daniel Coleman, Lorraine York, 2017-04-21 The dismantling of Understanding Canada an international program eliminated by Canada s Conservative government in 2012 posed a tremendous potential setback for Canadianists Yet Canadian writers continue to be celebrated globally by popular and academic audiences alike Twenty scholars speak to the government s diplomatic and economic about face and its implications for representations of Canadian writing within and outside Canada s borders The contributors to this volume remind us of the obstacles facing transnational intellectual exchange but also salute scholars persistence despite these obstacles Beyond Understanding Canada is a timely trenchant volume for students and scholars of Canadian literature and anyone seeking to understand how Canadian literature circulates in a transnational world Contributors Michael A Bucknor Daniel Coleman Anne Collett Pilar Cuder Domnguez Ana Mar a Fraile Marcos Jeremy Haynes Cristina Ivanovici Milena Kali anin Smaro Kamboureli Katalin K rt si Vesna

Matria Redux Tegan Zimmerman, 2023-06-23 In Matria Redux Caribbean Women Novelize the Past author Tegan Zimmerman contends that there is a need for reading Caribbean women's texts relationally This comprehensive study argues that the writer's turn to maternal histories constitutes the definitive feature of this transcultural and transnational genre Through an array of Caribbean women's historical novels published roughly between 1980 and 2010 this book formulates the theory of matria an imagined maternal space and time as a postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist framework for reading fictions of maternal history written by and about Caribbean women Tracing the development of the historical novel in four periods of the Caribbean past slavery colonialism revolution and decolonization this study argues that a pan Caribbean generation of women writers of varying discursive racialized realities has depicted similar matria constructs and maternal motifs A politicized concept matria functions in the historical novel as a counternarrative to traditional historical and literary discourses Through close readings of the mother daughter plots in contemporary Caribbean women's historical fiction such as Andrea Levy's The Long Song Edwidge Danticat's The Farming of Bones Paule Marshall's Praisesong for the Widow and Marie Elena John's Unburnable Matria Redux considers the concept of matria an important vehicle for postcolonial psychoanalytic feminist literary resistance and political intervention Matria as a psychoanalytic postcolonial strategy therefore envisions by returning to history alternative feminist fictions futures and Caribbeans

Sexuality, Gender and Nationalism in Caribbean Literature Kate Houlden, 2016-11-18 This book focuses on sex and sexuality in post war novels from the Anglophone Caribbean Countering the critical orthodoxy that literature from this period dealt with sex only tangentially implicitly transmitting sexist or homophobic messages the author instead highlights the range and diversity in its representations of sexual life She draws on gender and sexuality studies postcolonial theory and cultural history to provide new readings of seminal figures like Samuel Selvon and George Lamming whilst also calling attention to the work of innovative lesser studied authors such as Andrew Salkey Oscar Dathorne and Rosa Guy Offering a coherent and expansive overview of how post war Caribbean novelists have treated the persistently controversial topic of sex this book addresses one of the blind spots in Caribbean literary criticism It mines a range of little studied archival materials and texts to argue that fiction of the post war era exhibits both continuities with the sexual emphases of earlier writing and connections to later trends The author also presents nationalist ideology as central to the literature of this era It is in the fictional rendering of sexuality that the contradictions of the nationalist project are most apparent sex both exceeds and threatens the imagined unity on which the political vision depends

The Cambridge History of Black and Asian British Writing Susheila Nasta, Mark U. Stein, 2020-01-16 The Cambridge History of Black and Asian British Writing provides a comprehensive historical overview of the diverse literary traditions impacting on this field's evolution from the eighteenth century to the present. Drawing on the expertise of over forty international experts, this book gathers innovative scholarship to look forward to new readings and perspectives while also focusing on undervalued writers, texts, and research areas. Creating new pathways to engage with the naming of a field that has often been contested, readings of literary texts are interwoven throughout with key political, social, and material contexts. In making visible the diverse influences constituting past and contemporary British literary culture, this Cambridge History makes a unique contribution to British Commonwealth postcolonial, transnational, diasporic, and global literary studies, serving both as one of the first major reference works to cover four centuries of black and Asian British literary history and as a compass for future scholarship.

The Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies Lieven Ameen, 2022-08-10 Over the past decades, the growing interest in the study of literature of the city has led to the development of literary urban studies as a discipline in its own right. The Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies provides a methodical overview of the fundamentals of this developing discipline and a detailed outline of new directions in the field. It consists of 33 newly commissioned chapters that provide an outline of contemporary literary urban studies. The Companion covers all of the main theoretical approaches as well as key literary genres, with case studies covering a range of different geographical, cultural, and historical settings. The final chapters provide a window into new debates in the field. The three focal issues are key concepts and genres of literary urban studies, a reassessment and critique of classical urban studies theories, and the canon of literary capitals and methods for the analysis of cities in literature. The Routledge Companion to Literary Urban Studies provides the reader with practical insights into the methods and approaches that can be applied to the city in literature and serves as an important reference work for upper-level students and researchers working on city literature. Chapter 15 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com>.

The Routledge Handbook of Black Canadian Literature Andrea A. Davis, Leslie Sanders, 2024-12-09 The Routledge Handbook of Black Canadian Literature offers a comprehensive overview of the growing and increasingly significant field of Black Canadian literary studies. Including historical and contemporary analysis, this volume is an essential text that maps the field over the almost 200 years of its existence across a range of genres, from slave narratives to prose fiction, poetry, theatre, and dub and spoken word. It presents Black Canadian literature as encompassing a diverse set of viewpoints, approaches, and practices touching every aspect of Canadian territory and life and as deeply influencing debates and understandings of Black peoples far beyond its borders. This Handbook employs an interdisciplinary framework that incorporates literary, historical, geographical, and cultural analysis. This book, comprising 32 chapters, is organized into five sections that chart the literature's development into a recognizable canon trace Black literary geographies across Canada from east to west delineate the literature's various genres and expressive forms and honor the writers and thinkers who have influenced the growth of the field This volume's range of subject and plurality of perspectives provide an excellent resource for teachers researchers and students from multiple disciplines including Canadian studies and literature Caribbean studies global Black studies hemispheric studies diaspora studies history and cultural studies

Topographies of Caribbean Writing, Race, and the British Countryside Joanna Johnson, 2019-01-04 How do Caribbean writers see the British countryside Do they feel included ignored marginalised In Topographies of Caribbean Writing Race and the British Countryside Joanna Johnson shows how writers like Derek Walcott V S Naipaul Jean Rhys Grace Nichols Andrea Levy and Caryl Phillips have very different and unexpected responses to this rural space Johnson demonstrates how Caribbean writing shows greater complexity and wider significance than accounts and understandings of the British countryside have traditionally admitted at the same time close examination of these works illustrates that complexity and ambiguity remain an essential part of these authors' relationships with the British countryside of their colonial or postcolonial imaginations This study examines accepted norms and raises questions about urgent issues of belonging Britishness and Commonwealth identity

Difficult Reading Jason R. Marley, 2023-09-07 Difficult Reading offers a new approach to formal experimentation in Caribbean literature In this insightful study Jason Marley demonstrates how the aggressive antagonistic elements common to the mid twentieth century Caribbean novel foster emotional responses that spark new forms of communal resistance against colonial power Marley illustrates how experimental Caribbean writers repeatedly implicate their readers in colonial domination in ways that are intended to unsettle and discomfort In works such as Denis Williams's The Third Temptation Wilson Harris's The Secret Ladder and Vera Bell's overlooked prose poem Ogog acts of colonial atrocity such as the eradication of Indigenous populations in Guyana the construction of the Panama Canal or the disenfranchisement of Afro Jamaican communities become mired in aesthetic obfuscation forcing the reader to confront and rethink their own relationship to these events In this way new literary forms engender new forms of insight and outrage fostering a newly inspired relation to resistance

The Methuen Drama Handbook of Women in Contemporary British Theatre Marissia Fragkou, Rebecca Benzie, 2025-02-06 Across the 20 contributed chapters this volume provides a detailed exploration of the rich and diverse theatrical work produced by women in the first two decades of 21st century British theatre It explores key issues and methodologies including the legacies of feminism and its role in shaping contemporary work by women the politics of visibility and inclusion in theatrical institutions and collaborative strategies in creating original work Chapters analyse the work of key artists and how they tackle urgent social issues such as environmental risk the representation of marginalised identities mental and physical wellbeing

Territories of the Soul Nadia Ellis, 2015-08-27 Nadia Ellis attends to African diasporic belonging as it comes into being through black expressive culture Living in the diaspora Ellis asserts means existing between claims to land and imaginative flights unmoored from the earth that is to live within the territories of the soul Drawing on the work of Jose Mu oz Ellis connects queerness utopian potential with diasporic aesthetics Occupying the territory of the soul being neither here nor there creates in diasporic subjects feelings of loss desire and a sensation of a pull from elsewhere Ellis locates these phenomena in the works of C L R James the testy encounter between George Lamming and James Baldwin at the 1956 Congress of Negro Artists and Writers in Paris the elusiveness of the queer diasporic subject in Andrew Salkey s novel Escape to an Autumn Pavement and the trope of spirit possession in Nathaniel Mackey s writing and Burning Spear s reggae Ellis use of queer and affect theory shows how geographies claim diasporic subjects in ways that nationalist or masculinist tropes can never fully capture Diaspora Ellis concludes is best understood as a mode of feeling and belonging one fundamentally shaped by the experience of loss

Turn the World Upside Down Imani D. Owens, 2023-07-04 Honorable Mention 2024 Gordon K and Sybil Lewis Award Caribbean Studies Association Shortlisted 2024 MSA Prize for a First Book Modernist Studies Association In the first half of the twentieth century Black hemispheric culture grappled with the legacies of colonialism U S empire and Jim Crow As writers and performers sought to convey the terror and the beauty of Black life under oppressive conditions they increasingly turned to the labor movement speech sound and ritual of everyday folk Many critics have perceived these representations of folk culture as efforts to reclaim an authentic past Imani D Owens recasts

Black creators relationship to folk culture emphasizing their formal and stylistic innovations and experiments in self invention that reach beyond the local to the world Turn the World Upside Down explores how Black writers and performers reimagined folk forms through the lens of the unruly that which cannot be easily governed disciplined or managed Drawing on a transnational and multilingual archive from Harlem to Havana from the Panama Canal Zone to Port au Prince Owens considers the short stories of Eric Walrond and Jean Toomer the ethnographies of Zora Neale Hurston and Jean Price Mars the recited poetry of Langston Hughes Nicol s Guill n and Eusebia Cosme and the essays dance work and radio plays of Sylvia Wynter Owens shows how these figures depict folk culture and Blackness itself as a site of disruption ambiguity and flux Their works reveal how Black people contribute to the stirrings of modernity while being excluded from its promises Ultimately these works do not seek to render folk culture more knowable or worthy of assimilation but instead provide new forms of radical world making
