Beyond All Reason The Radical Assault On Truth In American Law:

Race in the Jury Box Hiroshi Fukurai, Richard Krooth, 2012-02-01 Race in the Jury Box focuses on the racially unrepresentative jury as one of the remaining barriers to racial equality and a recurring source of controversy in American life. Because members of minority groups remain underrepresented on juries, various communities have tried race-conscious jury selection termed affirmative jury selection. The authors argue that affirmative jury selection can insure fairness, verdict legitimization, and public confidence in the justice system. This book offers a critical analysis and systematic examination of possible applications of race-based jury selection, examining the public perception of these measures and their constitutionality. The authors make use of court cases, their own experiences as jury consultants, and jury research as well as statistical surveys and analysis. The work concludes with the presentation of four strategies for affirmative jury selection.

Farber,Suzanna Sherry,2024-05-31 Irreverent provocative and engaging Desperately Seeking Certainty attacks the current legal vogue for grand unified theories of constitutional interpretation On both the Right and the Left prominent legal scholars are attempting to build all of constitutional law from a single foundational idea Dan Farber and Suzanna Sherry find that in the end no single all encompassing theory can successfully guide judges or provide definitive or even sensible answers to every constitutional question Their book brilliantly reveals how problematic foundationalism is and shows how the pragmatic multifaceted common law methods already used by the Court provide a far better means of reaching sound decisions and controlling judicial discretion than do any of the grand theories African American Perspectives on Political Science Wilbur Rich,2007-01-15 Race matters in both national and international politics Starting from this perspective African American Perspectives on Political Science presents original essays from leading African American political scientists Collectively they evaluate the discipline its subfields the quality of race related research and omissions in the literature They argue that because Americans do not fully understand the many faceted issues of race in politics in their own country they find it difficult to comprehend ethnic and racial disputes in other countries as well In addition partly because there are so few African Americans in the field political science faces a danger of unconscious insularity in methodology and outlook Contributors argue that the discipline needs multiple perspectives to prevent it from developing blind spots Taken as a whole these essays argue with great urgency that African American political scientists have a unique opportunity and a special responsibility to rethink the canon the norms and the directions of the discipline Critical Resource Theory Leslie S. Schools for Misrule Walter Olson, 2011-03 From Barack Obama Harvard and Chicago to Bill and Hillary Clinton Yale many of our current national leaders emerged from the rarefied air of the nation's top law schools The ideas taught there in one generation often shape national policy in the next The trouble is Walter Olson reveals in Schools for Misrule our elite law schools keep churning out ideas that are catastrophically bad for America From class action lawsuits that promote the right to sue anyone over anything to court orders mandating the mass release of prison inmates from the movement for slavery reparations to court takeovers of school funding all of these appalling ideas were hatched in legal academia And the worst is yet to come A fast rising movement in law schools demands that sovereignty over U.S. legal disputes be handed over to international law and transnational courts It is not by coincidence Olson argues that these bad ideas all tend to confer more power on the law schools' own graduates In the overlawyered society that results they are the ones who become the real rulers
