Behnaz Hosseini, 2025-07-01 Religious minorities in the Middle East have long faced challenges in maintaining their identities and rights While the region has historically been home to diverse faith communities pressures from both governments and societal groups continue to shape their experiences This publication based on empirical and ethnographic research examines the status of these minorities the obstacles they encounter and the role of Islamic societies in ensuring their protection By fostering tolerance and peaceful coexistence Middle Eastern nations can work toward preserving the rich religious diversity that has defined the region for centuries      The Reckoning of Pluralism Kabir Tambar, 2014-04-16 The Turkish Republic was founded simultaneously on the ideal of universal citizenship and on acts of extraordinary exclusionary violence Today nearly a century later the claims of minority communities and the politics of pluralism continue to ignite explosive debate The Reckoning of Pluralism centers on the case of Turkey s Alevi community a sizeable Muslim minority in a Sunni majority state Alevi have seen their loyalty to the state questioned and experienced sectarian hostility and yet their community is also championed by state ideologues as bearers of the nation s folkloric heritage Kabir Tambar offers a critical appraisal of the tensions of democratic pluralism Rather than portraying pluralism as a governing ideal that loosens restrictions on minorities he focuses on the forms of social inequality that it perpetuates and on the political vulnerabilities to which minority communities are thereby exposed Alevi today are often summoned by political officials to publicly display their religious traditions but pluralist tolerance extends only so far as these performances will validate rather than disturb historical ideologies of national governance and identity Focused on the inherent ambivalence of this form of political incorporation Tambar ultimately explores the intimate coupling of modern political belonging and violence of political inclusion and domination contained within the practices of pluralism      Negotiating Identities, Language and Migration in Global London Cangbai Wang, Terry Lamb, 2024-01-16 This book explores the transnational practices of migrant groups in global London illustrating the complex relations between migrants and the city in the context of globalisation The chapters offer a starting point to examine migrants and the city from a comparative perspective by bringing together case studies of diverse migrant communities They use languaging as the central concept in the development of an interdisciplinary framework that creates an opportunity to talk across disciplines to engage with key issues crisscrossing migration cities and language The book promotes language based or language sensitive research drawing on the plurilingual repertoires and the language and translanguaging practices of migrant communities as the tool for data collection and ethnographic fieldwork This approach generates fresh insights into the complex issues of diasporic identities belonging and place making which have broad implications for migration studies in post Brexit Britain and beyond Media, Religion, Citizenship Dr Kumru Berfin Emre,2023-03-02 Alevis have been struggling for the right of recognition and equal citizenship in Turkey for decades Alevi media enables a particular form of transversal citizenship Emre presents Alevi media for the first time demonstrating the flourishing of ethno religious imaginaries through community media Alevis in Europe Tözün Issa,2016-07-22 The Alevis are a significant minority in Turkey and now also in the countries of Western Europe Over the past century many of them have migrated from rural enclaves on the Anatolian plateau to the great cities of Istanbul and Ankara and from there to the countries of the European Union This book asks who are they How do they construct their identities now and in the past in Turkey and in Europe A range of scholars writing from sociological historical socio psychological and political perspectives present analysis and research that shows the Alevi communities grouping and regrouping defining and redefining sometimes as an ethnic minority sometimes as religious groups sometimes around a political philosophy contingently responding to circumstances of the Turkish Republic s political position and to the immigration policies of Western Europe Contributors consider Alevi roots and cultural practices in their villages of origin the changes in identity following the migration to the gecekondu shanty towns surrounding the cities of Turkey the changes consequent on their second diaspora to Germany the UK Sweden and other European countries and the implications of European citizenship for their identity This collection offers a new and significant contribution to the study of migration and minorities in the wider European context Handbook of Rituals in Contemporary Studies of Religion ,2024-03-11 This book brings together leading international scholars with the aim of exploring ritual perspectives in the study of contemporary religions It combines significant theoretical and methodological reflections and applies it to four main fields relevant to the study of contemporary religions indigeneity new spiritualities and ecology lived religion with Islam and Africa as case studies and finally religion and embodiment The structure and content of the book takes its point of departure from the research topics and collegial network of the internationally acclaimed scholar of ritual studies Professor Anne Christine Hornborg The book is dedicated to her Turkey's Democratization Process Carmen Rodriguez,Antonio Avalos,Hakan Yilmaz,Ana Planet,2013-10-30 Since the end of the 1980 coup d tat Turkey has been in the midst of a complex process of democratization Applying methodological pluralism in order to provide a comprehensive analysis of this process in a Turkish context this book brings together contributions from prominent Turkish English French and Spanish scholars Turkey s Democratization Process utilises the theoretical framework of J J Linz and A C Stepan in order to assess the complex process of democratization in Turkey This framework takes into account five interacting features of Turkey s polity when making this assessment namely whether the underlying legal and socioeconomic conditions are conducive for the development of a free and participant society if a relatively autonomous political society exists whether there are legal guarantees for citizens freedoms if there exists a state bureaucracy which can be used by a democratic government and whether the type and pace of Turkish economic development contributes to this process Examining the Turkish case in light of this framework this book seeks to combine analyses that will help assess the process of democratization in Turkey to date and will be of interest to scholars and researchers interested in Turkish Politics Democratization and Middle Eastern Studies more broadly Turkish

Minorities and Diasporas in Turkey Fulvio Bertuccelli , Mihaela Gavrila , Fabio L. Grassi , 2023-05-15 The Republic of Turkey was born on 29 October 1923 as the final outcome of a very troubled historical process The Muslims of Anatolia and Eastern Thrace had faced the risk of disintegration and submission The father and leader of the new Turkey Mustafa Kemal felt the plurality that had characterized the Ottoman world as a source of weakness and danger In these nearly 100 years Republican Turkey has scored many admirable accomplishments but her genesis left a permanent imprint in the political and social development of the country Thus the Turkish State has perpetuated a suspicious and repressive attitude towards the particular identities This book stemmed from a conference held in November 2021 presents two introductory papers and six specific contributions where the issues of education and public discourse are among the main topics Yearbook of Muslims in Europe, Volume 2 Jørgen Nielsen, Samim Akgönül, Ahmet Alibašić, Brigitte Maréchal, Christian Moe, 2010-11-11 The Yearbook of Muslims in Europe provides an up to date account of the situation of Muslims in Europe Covering 46 countries of Europe from the Atlantic to the Urals the Yearbook consists of three sections the first section presents a country by country summary of essential data with basic statistics with evaluations of their reliability surveys of legal status and arrangements organisations etc Data have been brought up to date from the first volume The second section contains analysis and research

Effects of Alevi-Sunni Marriages on Children's Religious Education and Family Relations Dr. Fatma Kurttekin, 2024-12-31 In this study the views of parents in Alevi-Sunni marriages on the phenomenon of religion and their children's religious education are examined While there has been a growing body of research on the role and significance of religion in Alevi-Sunni families limited attention has been paid to their attitudes towards their children's religious education particularly within the context of cross-religious marriages Based on this this study aims to fill this research gap by examining the perspectives of parents in Alevi-Sunni marriages on their children's religious education and family dynamics using qualitative methods to provide in-depth insights Ten families living in Sivas, Ankara and Tunceli who were contacted through snowball and purposive sampling participated in the study in which qualitative research techniques were used The data used in the study were collected through questionnaires and semi-structured interview forms The data was analyzed with the content analysis It was determined that the Alevi-Sunni difference did not have a significant impact on the participants' religious attitudes or their children's religious education Almost all parents stated that they wanted their children to choose their own path by acquiring experience and knowledge about both religious interpretations and understandings The study identified two primary areas of difficulty in Alevi-Sunni families: familial opposition to the participants' decision to marry and conflicts surrounding the children's religious education These tensions may stem from societal pressures to conform to sectarian norms and the fear of losing religious identity through cross-mixed intrafaith marriages Such pressures highlight the need for open dialogue and acceptance within families which many participants reported as key to resolving conflicts The provision of religious education in the family and the religious identity of children have been discussed in a separate study Therefore in this study participants' views on compulsory religious education activities which are also a subject of debate in society were evaluated In parallel with the findings in the literature the participants' opinions were grouped in three categories: namely abolishing the courses, making the courses optional and improving the courses along with preserving their compulsory status Following the interviews it was seen that the participants could have arguments mostly due to external factors and that their own religious understanding did not have any impact on family life, religious attitudes or child rearing Attention was drawn to the need for freedom from prejudices, acceptance of the other as he/she is, honesty, trust and a communicative environment of dialogue in order to reduce the tension in these two areas

The Alevis in Turkey and Europe Elise Massicard, 2013 This book examines the development of identity politics amongst the Alevis in Europe and Turkey which simultaneously provided the movement access to different resources and challenged its unity of action While some argue that Aleviness is a religious phenomenon and others claim it is a cultural or a political trend this book analyzes the various strategies of claim making and reconstructions of Aleviness as well as responses to the movement by various Turkish and German actors Drawing on intensive fieldwork Elise Massicard suggests that because of activists many different definitions of Aleviness the movement is in this sense an identity movement without an identity
