Natural Resources and Conflict Dynamics in Federal Countries Eyene Okpanachi, 2025-07-02 This book examines the dynamics of oil and gas conflicts within the context of federalism in Canada an older federation with broadly a decentralized institutional design governing oil and gas and Nigeria a newer federation with a largely centralized design It traces resource ownership control or regulation and revenue sharing conflict processes over time and provides a focused comparison of conflict over the role of oil in intergovernmental fiscal transfers in both countries In so doing the book provides a much needed corrective to conventional static notions of oil conflict as either violent or nonviolent outcomes by carefully analyzing the evolution and ebbs and flows of conflicts hidden within conflict patterns that appear to be self reinforcing and entrenched The book demonstrates that de centralization dynamics especially the continuities and shifts in federal institutional structural and ideational rules about oil itself are central to the concept of conflict dynamics It highlights the endogenous processes of federal institutional development and lends credence to the historical institutionalists emphasis on the entanglement of institutions in their own transformation Yet the book also reveals that conflict dynamics did not emerge solely from the initial compromise between federal and provincial state actors regarding the allocation of competence over oil The renegotiation and reinterpretation of these rules over time which entails a redistribution of power resources in response to historical temporalities and shocks political agency and changing socioeconomic realities also generated unique patterns of conflict and conflict resolution within the federal institutional arenas

Focusing on both attitudinal and institutional repercussions of the pandemic and transcending Western centric narratives and study cases this book asks the question has the COVID 19 pandemic facilitated the adoption of more generous and inclusive social policies in Southeast Asia

Term Limits and the Modern Era of Municipal Reform Douglas Cantor, 2024-06-03
Term limits enjoy broad popularity among Americans yet scholarly literature has omitted two important questions from the study of municipal reform Why are term limits so popular and what are the causes of movements for term limits In this book Douglas Cantor exposes the causes of term limits at the local level of government to shed light on how and why the movement to adopt term limits came to exist Cantor begins his analysis by providing a history of term limits beginning with classical debates in Greek philosophy He describes the benefits of studying the causes of term limits and how term limits are a direct manifestation of older values rooted in the American traditions of municipal reform Part II examines 20 different municipalities across the continental United States that experienced a movement to implement term limits through a political campaign voter initiative or council led charter amendment Written to a common template and examining each case through the lens of the reform impulse Cantor argues that the institutional lineage of the Progressives namely council manager governments at large elections and nonpartisanship is largely responsible for movements to implement term limits somewhere in the United States in almost every election Term Limits and the Modern Era of Municipal Reform brings a new dimension to the Progressive era championing the study of local politics and its importance to understanding American politics

In and against Development: From New to Newest Development Economics Ben Fine, 2025-02-27 The Economics of Everything or Economics Imperialism now has a dominant presence in development economics and an agenda setting role in development studies with the World Bank taking a leading if contested role This volume examines how this happened charting the evolution from the old or classic development economics through the new newer and newest development economics Drawing critically upon the Kuhnian notions of paradigm shifts corresponding changes are contextualised materially intellectually and policy wise Covering key issues such as famine the developmental state and trade and industrial policy detailed attention is paid to the potential for alternatives for economics and economic policies

Business of the State Jewellord T. Nem Singh, 2024-06-26 As the world moves towards decarbonization and the race for clean energy technologies accelerates states in the global south are increasingly called upon to supply critical minerals to fuel the transition Business of the State details how mineral states might design effective growth strategies in this context of strategic competition and climate emergency via the rise of a hybrid developmental strategy during 1990s and 2010s the embrace of market conforming policies to attract FDI and the re assertion of state owned enterprises SOEs as players in industrial development Drawing from the experiences of Brazil s Petrobras and Chile s Codelco the book argues that SOEs might open new pathways for technological innovation and even support industrial policy if subjected to effective governance reforms and aligned with the private sector In this way the book shifts the analytical lens away from extractivism as a growth model and towards hybrid development strategies formulated through SOEs Business of the State asks fundamental questions about states and markets why do states seek to intervene in the affairs of public enterprises And what role might they play in structural transformation The book provides answers using a historical institutionalist framework process tracing the complex process of market reforms in highly strategic natural resource industries

North American Regionalism Eric Hershberg, Tom Long, 2025-02-01 North American Regionalism problematizes North America as an important region in its own right breaking with the area studies convention that divides the Global North and Global South portions of the Western Hemisphere at the US Mexican border By cutting across this division the theoretically sophisticated essays in this volume yield new insights about politics society and the economy of North America opening dialogues with the New Regionalism approach and the literature on comparative regional studies Drawing on a six year interdisciplinary collaboration among leading scholars from Canadian Mexican US and European universities the book brings North America back into International Relations study of regions and regionalism The book includes robust theoretical and empirical engagement with issues of trade migration security energy and climate and the rise of China
