Research Anthology on Developing Effective Online Learning Courses Management Association, Information Resources,2020-12-18 In the current educational environment there has been a shift towards online learning as a replacement for the traditional in person classroom experience With this new environment comes new technologies benefits and challenges for providing courses to students through an entirely digital environment With this shift comes the necessary research on how to utilize these online courses and how to develop effective online educational materials that fit student needs and encourage student learning motivation and success The optimization of these online tools requires a deeper look into curriculum instructional design teaching techniques and new models for student assessment and evaluation Information on how to create valuable online course content engaging lesson plans for the digital space and meaningful student activities online are only a few of many current topics of interest for promoting student achievement through online learning The Research Anthology on Developing Effective Online Learning Courses provides multiple perspectives on how to develop engaging and effective online learning courses in the wake of the rapid digitalization of education This book includes topics focused on online learners online course content effective online instruction strategies and instructional design for the online environment This reference work is ideal for curriculum developers instructional designers IT consultants deans chairs teachers administrators academicians researchers and students interested in the latest research on how to create online learning courses that promote student success Language Learning in New English Contexts Rita Elaine Silver,Lubna Alsagoff,Christine C M Goh,2011-10-27 This edited volume is dedicated to the exploration of English language acquisition and development outside of the largely monolingual environments of North America the United Kingdom and Australia Specifically the studies investigate different facets of English language learning in Singapore and uses this experience to forge connections with other New English contexts Using empirical data drawn from a range of language classrooms the contributors emphasise the place of education within a global framework of English language learning. In so doing they examine economic, social and political factors influencing language education and present a refreshingly global perspective on English language acquisition. This comprehensive examination of language learning in New English contexts will be of interest to researchers in applied linguistics and world Englishes. Classroom Practice and Teacher Cognition Nicholas Bradley, 2024-10-26. This collection occupies the middle ground between teachers showcasing their work and academics presenting research that is often situated in irreplicable, uncommon or impractical classroom settings. The work presented here is provided by full-time university language educators who maintain a robust and active research agenda that focuses on their own classroom practice. Whether one wishes to label it under action research, exploratory practice, reflective practice or other, the findings of the research into their own practices and educational contexts are accessible and will resonate strongly with both practicing teachers and academics investigating classroom practice and teacher cognition. All articles are written with the aim of developing practice in a way that is recognisable to teachers and beneficial to their educational efforts. Indeed, recent literature calls for guidance to come from those actively engaged in classroom teaching and who apply sound research methods to the daily contexts lived by teachers and students. Handbook of Research on Innovations in Non-Traditional Educational Practices Keengwe, Jared, 2020-12-11. While many school districts and institutions of higher education still cling to the traditional agrarian school year with a factory model delivery of education and Carnegie units based on seat time when most people are no longer farmers, factory workers or reliant on learning in a classroom, there are bursts of promising practices that buck the norm by questioning the educational value of these traditions. Though researchers have investigated the potential of students learning in their own homes via personalized instruction delivered by computers rather than attending traditional institutions, the status quo in education has remained stubbornly resistant to change. Mixed reality simulations, year-round schooling, grouping students by competencies instead of age, and game-based teaching are just a few of the educational innovations that seek to maximize learning by recognizing that innovation is essential for successfully teaching students in the modern era. The Handbook of Research on Innovations in Non-Traditional Educational Practices is a comprehensive reference source that examines various educational innovations, how they have developed, workarounds to navigate traditional systems, and their potential to radically transform teaching and learning. With each chapter highlighting a different educational innovation such as experiential learning, game-based learning, online learning, and inquiry-based learning and their applications in all levels of education, this book explores the issues and challenges these educational innovations face as well as their impact. It is intended for academicians, professionals, administrators, and researchers in education and specifically benefits academic deans, vice presidents of academic affairs, graduate students, faculty, technology leaders, directors of teaching and learning centers, curriculum and instructional designers, policymakers, principals, and superintendents and teachers interested in educational change. Handbook of Teaching with Technology in Management, Leadership, and Business Stuart Allen, Kim Gower, Danielle K. Allen, 2020-09-25 Ever evolving technological innovation creates both opportunities and challenges for educators aiming to achieve meaningful and effective learning in the classroom and to equip students with a well honed set of technology skills as they enter the professional world The Handbook of Teaching with Technology in Management Leadership and Business is written by experienced instructors using technology in novel and impactful ways in their undergraduate and graduate courses as well as researchers reporting and reflecting on studies and literature that can guide them on the how and why of teaching with technology
