

Interpretation: Although the map is somewhat difficult to read, there is a legend in the bottom right corner that allows us to interpret the information. It is a map of the world showing the distribution of the world's population. The map is a choropleth map, meaning that the colors represent different levels of population density. The legend indicates that the colors represent different levels of population density, with the darkest color representing the highest density and the lightest color representing the lowest density.

Interpretation:

World's Population Density

100

Interpretation: The map shows that population density is highest in Europe, Asia, and North America, and lowest in Australia, Canada, and parts of South America and Africa.
