Bank Selection Criteria:

Customers Bank Selection Criteria Dawit Tekletsadik, 2014-11-19 Commercial banks need to identify the criteria on which potential customers determine their bank selection decision in order to plan an appropriate marketing strategy for keeping present customers and attracting new ones. Consequently, the identification of factors deemed important to potential bank customers is a crucial step towards winning the battle. Therefore, this study is particularly intended to examine basic motivational factors of customer's bank selection criteria of private commercial banks in Addis Ababa and how customers rank the factors based on their importance level to patronize banks and banking services. It also intended to present an analysis of demographic nature of the customer in the relative importance of choice criteria in respect of selecting a bank and to elicit the opinion of bank customers on any extra services needed to be offered by banks. A Survey in Bank Selection Criteria of Greek Small and Medium-sized Companies Anastasios Adam, 1993 Bank Selection Criteria in the Cypriot Banking Industry Elif Senyücel, Doğu Akdeniz Üniversitesi, 2009 ABSTRACT Banking sector has shown rapid development not only in the south but also in the north of Cyprus. This issue raises the importance of quality in the services provided by banks as perceived by customers. This thesis for the first time investigates bank selection criteria of Turkish and Greek Cypriot citizens in Cyprus who benefit from bank services by using bank selection criteria instrument and incorporating SERVQUAL instrument of Parasuraman et al 1988 as bank selection criteria. Survey results of 350 respondents show that there aren't huge differences between Turkish and Greek Cypriots in giving priorities for bank selection criteria. Results from this study reveal that the most important bank selection criteria for Turkish Cypriots are availability of internet banking where it is paying higher interest on saving accounts for Greek Cypriots. Finally, bank selection criteria significantly differed between Turkish and Greek Cypriots at only alpha 0.10 level where SERVQUAL instrument of Parasuraman et al 1988 as bank selection criteria did not. Handbook of Research on Strategies and Interventions to Mitigate COVID-19 Impact on SMEs Baporikar, Neeta, 2021-06-25 The COVID 19 pandemic has affected every aspect of the modern world and its impact is felt by all. The pandemic particularly has had a large impact on businesses as they were forced to close, supply chains were disrupted and new health and safety precautions were adopted. As such, many businesses, especially small businesses, were faced with losses they could not afford. Governments and stakeholders across the world have thus needed to formulate various strategies and interventions to mitigate the negative consequences of the COVID 19 pandemic, particularly as they relate to small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs). The Handbook of Research on Strategies and Interventions to Mitigate COVID 19 Impact on SMEs is a comprehensive reference source that encapsulates the overall effect of COVID 19 on SMEs and a variety of strategies to overcome the negative effects and create more sustainable policies and organizations moving forward. The book offers a thorough overview of interventions and tactics to help organizations, entrepreneurs and institutions of higher learning overcome the negative impact of COVID 19 while preparing policies for a more effective post

Customers' Bank Selection Criteria Ibrahim Shaugee, 2012 Studies on bank selection criteria as well as knowledge level of banking principles and its effects on patronization have been done by numerous researchers in various countries However review of prior literature has turned up no evidence of such a study having been done in Maldives Therefore this study attempts to identify and rank the bank selection criteria perceived as significant by Maldivian banking customers In addition to this the study also attempts to categorize the level of awareness and understanding Maldivian banking customers possessed about Islamic banking its principles and products Furthermore attempts are also made to determine whether there is any relationship between the level of Islamic banking knowledge and the decision to patronize Maldives Islamic Bank The study involved a selfadministered survey with a sample of 398 respondents Friedman s test Pearson s chi square test and factor analysis was carried out on the data The results of the analysis show that Maldivian banking customers are able to differentiate between various bank selection criteria and have a perceived ranking of these factors according to its significance to them. The results further show that Maldivian banking customers value trustworthiness followed by availability of automated teller machines and cards above all the other criteria. Furthermore, evidence shows that Maldivian banking customers are highly aware of existence of Islamic banking but possess an average level of understanding of its principles. This understanding is especially poor when it comes to specific products. Similarly, there is also evidence of a relationship between customers' Islamic banking knowledge level and their decision to patronize Maldives Islamic Bank.

Global Trends and Challenges in Services Marianna Sigala, Evangelos Christou, 2006 The Role of the Federal Reserve in Check Clearing and the Nation's Payments System United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Operations. Commerce, Consumer, and Monetary Affairs Subcommittee, 1983 A Reader in International Corporate Finance Stijn Claessens, Luc Laeven, 2006-01-01

A Reader in International Corporate Finance offers an overview of current thinking on six topics: law and finance, corporate governance, banking, capital markets, capital structure, and financing constraints, and the political economy of finance. This collection of 23 of the most influential articles published in the period 2000-2006 reflects two new trends: interest in international aspects of corporate finance, particularly specific to emerging markets; awareness of the importance of institutions in explaining global differences in corporate finance. In the last decade, financial economics Islamic Banking and Finance Mondher Bellalah, Omar Masood, 2013-07-16

Islamic finance is founded on principles that constitute the guidelines governing any Islamic economic or financial dealings. Innovative financial engineering today constitutes one of the most critical needs of Islamic financial institutions. It represents the forces that will drive Islamic finance toward continuous growth and efficiency. The structuring of new financing and Shariah-compliant instruments plays an important role in the enhancement of Islamic financial markets and Islamic risk management practices. Combining basic Shariah-compliant financial instruments within Shariah structures to precisely identified needs. The financial engineering process in Islamic finance is a process that is very sensitive and complex. It requires multidisciplinary considerations involving deep knowledge of finance, economy, Shariah law, and commercial law. Divergence of opinions among different Shariah scholars and boards, as well as the absence or lack of effectiveness of a central regulatory body, is perceived as an obstacle to the growth of investment confidence in Islamic finance. Hence, innovation along with greater uniformity is essential to make Islamic finance an international financial system and to attract a greater number of customers. This book addresses the main issues of concern within Islamic banking, namely the development of conceptual framework, the viability of interest-free banking, and the assessment of its performance and future. In a world where conventional interest-based finance is the dominant framework, Islamic banking faces many challenges that must be addressed. This book discusses these issues and challenges and will be of great interest to both researchers and practitioners. It analyses the past experiences of Islamic banks worldwide and provides an objective assessment of their successes and failures.
