Social Structures, Aging, and Self-Regulation in the Elderly K. Warner Schaie, PhD, Laura L. Carstensen, PhD, 2006-07-06
This collection considers ways in which societal contexts influence aging by influencing self regulatory processes No one doubts that the social contexts in which individuals develop exert strong influence on life trajectories Those born into environments that provide high quality education supportive social relations and economic assets do better in old age than those born into environments bereft of such resources The extent of this influence however is only beginning to be revealed Recent research shows that life experiences influence basic brain structures e g the effect of musical training on neural organization and functions e g inflammatory processes and that social embeddedness may even protect against Alzheimer s disease Similarly education increasingly appears to have a real effect on neural integrity Thus societal contexts may not simply open or close doors for individuals but may influence self regulatory processes at the most basic levels of functioning Although social structures are generally seen as the independent variables that affect individual aging it is also possible to think of a lifetime development of self regulatory processes leading to behaviors in old age that can have impact on and modify societal structures Two parts of this book consider self regulation as the dependent variable asking how social contexts influence cognitive emotional and self regulatory processes The third part reverses the question treating self regulation as the independent variable and retirement and physical health as dependent variables In this part consideration is given to how the effectiveness of self regulation influences physical and economic outcomes in old age

Social Structures K. Warner Schaie, Peter Uhlenberg, 2007-03-23 Significant demographic changes are altering the structure of the American population Larger numbers of immigrants are entering the work force will become part of our aging population and increasingly are providing care for the elderly Family structures and communities are evolving as marriage childbearing divorce and cohabitation trends are changing The working population that supports the elderly physically and economically is also changing and will most likely become smaller and less able to support this growing population What does this mean for the well being of our aging population and our efforts to ensure the quality of life for our elderly now and that we will want to enjoy ourselves as we become part of this older population In this volume Drs Schaie and Uhlenberg and a host of leading scholars look at the current structure of the American population in an effort to determine the impact it will have on the lives of the elderly and those growing older with disabilities and chronic illness They examine the effects of the aging baby boomers on health care migration and immigration and how it can support or tax health care networks cultural issues regarding access to health care and changing cultural attitudes towards marriage and family that are affecting the relationships between the elderly and their communities

University-Community Engagement in the Asia Pacific Christopher S. Collins, 2017-01-12 This edited volume provides a framework for understanding academic public good and offers case studies and perspectives as in depth examples of the ways in which colleges and universities engage with the community to produce social benefits Focusing on the Asia Pacific region the authors discuss examples of engagement that produce consciousness partnerships and services that are broadly available to the public and enhance the progress of society The authors argue that unlike an individual degree these are public benefits that should be focused upon and featured more readily so that the breadth of university benefits come to be better understood Ageing in Europe - Supporting Policies for an Inclusive Society Axel Börsch-Supan, Thorsten Kneip, Howard Litwin, Michal Myck, Guglielmo Weber, 2015-10-16 SHARE is an international survey designed to answer the societal challenges that face us due to rapid population ageing How do we Europeans age How will we do economically socially and healthwise How are these domains interrelated The authors of this multidisciplinary book have taken a further big step towards answering these questions based on the recent SHARE data in order to support policies for an inclusive society Government Reports Annual Index ,1975 Government Reports Annual Index , Adult Development & Aging ,2017 Looking Forward Through the Lifespan: Developmental Psychology Candida C Peterson, 2013-12-17 When a local context really makes the difference The new edition of this original Australian text continues to offer the most balanced coverage of theory and research for Australian students and educators and appeals to students from many backgrounds It covers the domains of development including neurological cognitive social physical and personality The text is organised chronologically by chapter Within each chapter content is organised topically This structure allows for a degree of flexibility and lecturers can choose the way they wish to approach the content whether it is topically or chronologically Encyclopedia of Gerontology James E. Birren, 2007 Aging and Age-Related Disorders From Molecular Mechanisms to Therapies Vladimir Titorenko, 2019-08-19 Aging of unicellular and multicellular eukaryotic organisms is a convoluted biological phenomenon which is manifested as an age related functional decline caused by progressive dysregulation of certain cellular and organismal processes Many chronic diseases are associated with human aging These aging associated diseases include cardiovascular diseases chronic obstructive pulmonary disease chronic kidney disease diabetes osteoarthritis osteoporosis sarcopenia stroke neurodegenerative diseases including Parkinson s Alzheimer s and Huntington s diseases and many forms of cancer Studies in yeast roundworms fruit flies fishes mice primates and humans have provided evidence that the major aspects and basic mechanisms of aging and aging associated pathology are conserved across phyla The focus of this International Journal of Molecular Sciences Special Issue is on molecular and cellular mechanisms diagnostics and therapies and diseases of aging Fifteen original research and review articles in this Special Issue provide important insights into how various genetic dietary and pharmacological interventions can affect certain longevity defining cellular and organismal processes to delay aging and postpone the onset of age related pathologies in evolutionarily diverse organisms These articles outline the most important unanswered questions and directions for future research in the vibrant and rapidly evolving fields of mechanisms of biological aging aging associated diseases and aging delaying therapies Aging in a Second Language Steven L. Arxer, Maria del Puy Ciriza, Marco Shappeck, 2017-05-30 This unique account of English language acquisition by Latino elders shines intimate light on the increasingly complex concerns of aging immigrant minority populations Rich qualitative findings detail sociocultural barriers to and social and emotive factors that promote second language acquisition in older age The book s case study highlights diverse cognitive and social processes as elders establish a sense of self as learners and as part of a learning community and a sense of place as newcomers navigating a challenging environment And first person comments from the group members deftly illustrate the intricacies of being an immigrant in a rapidly changing America as well as the myriad intersections of race ethnicity gender culture and country that shape immigrant life Included in the coverage Minority aging in an immigrant context Late life second language acquisition cognitive and psycholinguistic changes challenges and opportunities Building emotions for self identity and learning Practicing safe language socialization in private and public spaces Language resocialization and gender allies Aging second language acquisition and health Aging in a Second Language gives clinical social workers gerontologists health and cross cultural psychologists sociologists educators and other professionals deep insights into the lives of an emerging active elder population It also pinpoints challenges and opportunities in research literacy program design pedagogy clinical outreach education policy and service delivery to immigrant elders Government Reports Announcements & Index ,1977-03 Economic Foundations for Creative Ageing Policy Andrzej Klimczuk,2015-08-12 Ageing populations are a major consideration for socio economic development in the early twenty first century This demographic change is mainly seen as a threat rather than as an opportunity to improve the quality of human life especially in Europe where ageing has resulted in a reduction in economic competitiveness Economic Foundations for Creative Ageing Policy mixes the silver economy the creative economy and the social economy to construct positive solutions for an ageing population Klimczuk covers theoretical analyses and case study descriptions of good practices to suggest strategies that could be internationally popularized The Alcohol and Other Drug Thesaurus: Annotated alphabetical list National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (U.S.),2000 From Action to Cognition Claes Von Hofsten,Kerstin Rosander,2007-10-19 Extensive neurophysiological and neuropsychological evidence show that perception action and cognition are closely related in the brain and develop in parallel to one another Thus perception cognition and social functioning are all anchored in the actions of the child Actions reflect the motives the problems to be solved and the constraints and possibilities of the child s body and sensory motor system The developing brain accumulates experiences which it translates into knowledge used in planning future actions Such knowledge is available because events are governed by rules and regulations The present volume discusses all these aspects of how action and cognition are related in development Aging and Leisure Michael L. Teague,Richard D. MacNeil,1992 Clinical Biomechanics in Human Locomotion Andrew Horwood,Nachiappan Chockalingam,2023-04-10 Clinical Biomechanics in Human Locomotion Gait and Pathomechanical Principles explores the clinical management of gait disturbing or gait induced pathologies and biomechanical variances during gait between individuals The book discusses what is required to make terrestrial human locomotion safe and what causes pathology within a context of high locomotive and morphological variability The interaction of genetics epigenetics developmental biology and physiology under the influence of locomotive biomechanics and metabolic energetics drives evolution Such biological pressures on survival are essential in understanding the locomotive biomechanics of modern humans In addition lifestyle including gait speed adaptability established during the growth influences of anatomical development is also considered Links human locomotive biomechanics to medicine physiology evolutionary anatomy and medicine Prepares students bioengineers and clinicians for the reality of utilizing biomechanical principles in clinical practice while also informing researchers of environmental limits Includes further concepts in gait mechanics such as lower limb length gait speed and how to calculate locomotive costs
