Harald Weinrich,2012-01-01 Can language hide thoughts This question posed by the German Academy for Language and Literature in 1965 as the topic of its first essay competition was taken up by the philologist Harald Weinrich with far ranging results The most immediate was his claiming first prize with this volume s title essay published the following year as Linguistik der Lüge Weinrich s influential essay now in its sixth printing in Germany is presented here for the first time in English with an updated preface by the author and additional essays selected by him With wit and clarity Weinrich brings sophisticated thinking about semantics to bear on the question of how and how much language corresponds to thought He argues that lying is a function not of words but of sentences it belongs to the semantic aspect of language His survey of the different ways in which language is untrue forges striking links between linguistic and literary categories on the one hand and ethics and even good manners on the other In contrast with scholars of an earlier generation for whom literary and cultural theory circumscribed the issue of style within a fixed aesthetic framework Weinrich demonstrates that stylistic analysis is closely linked with analysis in the domains of sociology and anthropology The essays Jonah s Sign On the Very Large and the Very Small in Literature Politeness an Affair of Honor Politeness and Sincerity and The Style Is the Man Is the Devil complement The Linguistics of Lying in their focus on real and false representations in literature and in life and notably on the immensely destructive lies Adolf Hitler s in particular that marked the politics of the twentieth century Jakob the Liar Jurek Becker,1990-01-01 Acclaimed as the most remarkable novel of the Holocaust ever written in Germany Jacob the Liar breaks with the genre's tradition of unrelenting realism to offer a suspenseful and masterfully crafted tale of hope, desire, and the life-giving force of fiction. In the ghetto, the possession of a radio is punishable by death. Like thousands of his fellow prisoners, Jacob Heym is cut off from all news of the war until he is arrested one evening and brought to the German military office where he overhears a broadcast report of the Red Army's advance to a city some 300 miles away. Miraculously, he is allowed to return to his quarters, but when he tries to spread the good news, he discovers the only way to make people believe him is to tell a lie. How do I know I have a radio? Inevitably, one lie leads to another, and before long, Jacob finds himself feeding the entire ghetto fabricated reports of the Russians' advance, reports that save lives when, under the shock of renewed hope, suicides cease and the people of the ghetto take heart. Jacob is a hero and a liar. But how long can his web of lies hold? Here, for the first time, is Leila Vennewitz's authorized translation of this classic novel, which won the Heinrich Mann Prize for fiction and Switzerland's Charles Veillon Award.

The Portrayal of Jews in GDR Prose Fiction Paul

O'Doherty, 2023-04-12 This volume is the first comprehensive single study of Jewish themes in any of the post-1945 German literatures. It presents literature on Jewish themes by Jewish and non-Jewish authors in the cultural, social, and political context of the Soviet Zone (GDR) during the entire 45 years of its history from 1945 to 1990. It offers a brief history of Jews in the GDR before looking in four chronologically ordered chapters at the history of publishing on Jewish themes in the GDR. Some 28 texts by 19 different authors, including Anna Seghers, Stephan Hermlin, Arnold Zweig, Franz Fehmann, Johannes Bobrowski, Jurek Becker, Stefan Heym, Günter Kunert, Christa Wolf, and Helga Königsdorf, are then singled out for closer analysis. Such themes as historical anti-Semitism, the Holocaust, Jewish resistance, Jewish assimilation, Heinrich Marx, Moses Mendelssohn, Jewish survival, and Jews in the GDR are all discussed in the book. The volume also offers evidence of the political influences on publishing on Jewish themes at various stages in the GDR's history. In addition, a structured bibliography of some 1100 items is offered, approximately 750 of which were published in the GDR with a Jewish content or theme. The study should be of interest to students of contemporary German literature and politics, the GDR, and of Jewish studies in the wider context.

Dimensions of Storytelling in German Literature and Beyond Jennifer Williams, Kristy R.

Boney, 2018 Explores the storytelling of Anna Seghers and other 20th-century writers who faced the tensions between aesthetics and politically conscious writing between conformity and resistance. While Walter Benjamin, in his famous essay "The Storyteller" (1936), lamented the decline of the storytelling tradition in the age of the modernist novel, Anna Seghers and other twentieth-century German writers went on to chronicle the century's darkest days in creative and compelling ways. This volume is at its heart a tribute to Germanist Helen Fehervary, whose work, particularly on the prose of Anna Seghers, continues to inspire scholars who examine narration and storytelling. The subtitle quotation, for once telling it all from the beginning, is a translation of the phrase einmal alles von Anfang an erzählen from Seghers's exile novel Transit, in which she told not only her own story but that of countless others who faced existential challenges in their attempts to escape the Nazi regime This volume examines a number of such writers exploring the tensions between aesthetics and politically conscious writing as well as individual struggles involving conformity and resistance in a totalitarian state Contributors Peter Beicken Hunter Bivens Kristy R Boney Ute Brandes Stephen Brockmann Sylvia Fischer Jost Hermand Kristen Hetrick Robert C Holub Weijia Li Elizabeth Loentz Michaela Peroutkov Benjamin Robinson Christiane Zehl Romero Marc Silberman Andy Spencer Luke Springman Amy Kepple Strawser Jennifer Marston William Kristy R Boney is Associate Professor of German at the University of Central Missouri Jennifer Marston William is Professor of German and Head of the School of Languages and Cultures at Purdue University

The Culture of Yellow Sabine Doran, 2013-09-26 This is the first book to explore the cultural significance of the color yellow showing how its psychological and aesthetic value marked and shaped many of the intellectual political and artistic currents of late modernity It contends that yellow functions during this period primarily as a color of stigma and scandal Yellow stigmatization has had a long history it goes back to the Middle Ages when Jews and prostitutes were forced to wear yellow signs to emphasize their marginal status Although scholars have commented on these associations in particular contexts Sabine Doran offers the first overarching account of how yellow connects disparate cultural phenomena such as turn of the century decadence the yellow nineties the rise of mass media yellow journalism mass immigration from Asia the yellow peril and mass stigmatization the yellow star that Jews were forced to wear in Nazi Germany The Culture of Yellow combines cultural history with innovative readings of literary texts and visual artworks providing a multilayered account of the unique role played by the color yellow in late nineteenth and twentieth century American and European culture
