

"Letter From a Birmingham Jail"

From 1960 to 1963, Dr. King and his followers continued to organize marches, sit-ins, and demonstrations throughout the South. In 1963 the Birmingham Campaign began with the following goals: (1) desegregation of all lunch counters, restrooms, and drinking fountains in stores and (2) the hiring of Blacks by local business and industry.

On Good Friday, Dr. King led a march in defiance of a court injunction in order to go to jail to demonstrate his commitment. Dr. King was arrested, his 13th arrest in his fight for civil rights.

While in prison, he wrote the famous "Letter From a Birmingham Jail," in response to a published letter written by eight Christian and Jewish clergy who advised African Americans to wait patiently for justice. Dr. King's response outlined in concise terms exactly why African Americans could not wait any longer for their freedom. The letter was so forceful and persuasive copies were circulated and printed all over the world.

Letter From The Birmingham Jail By Martin Luther King Jr:

Letter from the Birmingham Jail Martin Luther King (Jr.),1994 Martin Luther King Jr rarely had time to answer his critics But on April 16 1963 he was confined to the Birmingham jail serving a sentence for participating in civil rights demonstrations Alone for days in the dull monotony of a narrow jail cell King pondered a letter that fellow clergymen had published urging him to drop his campaign of nonviolent resistance and to leave the battle for racial equality to the courts In response King drafted his most extensive and forceful written statement against social injustice a remarkable essay that focused the world s attention on Birmingham and spurred the famous March on Washington Bristling with the energy and resonance of his great speeches Letter from the Birmingham Jail is both a compelling defense of nonviolent demonstration and a rallying cry for an end to social discrimination that is just as powerful today as it was more than twenty years ago
