Palliative Care in Surgical Oncology, An Issue of Surgical Oncology Clinics of North America, E-Book Bridget N. Fahy, 2021-06-04 This issue of Surgical Oncology Clinics guest edited by Dr Bridget N Fahy is devoted to Palliative Care in Surgical Oncology Dr Fahy has assembled expert authors to review the following topics Current guidelines for integration of palliative care in oncology Management of malignant bowel obstruction Management of peritoneal carcinomatosis Artificial nutrition in patients with advanced malignancy Selecting patients for palliative procedures in oncology Palliative radiotherapy Indications and outcomes Ethical considerations for caring for patients with advanced cancer Evaluation and management of malignant biliary obstruction Systemic anti cancer treatments for advanced cancer patients What a surgical oncologist needs to know Role of palliative medicine training in surgical oncology Navigating difficult conversations Breaking bad news and exploring goals of care in surgical patients Strategies for optimizing perioperative pain management for the cancer patient and more Current Issues in Perceptual Training: Facing the Requirement to Couple Perception, Cognition, and Action in Complex Motor Behavior André Klostermann, David Mann, 2020-01-16 ECRM2016-Proceedings of the 15th European Conference on Research Methodology for Business Management " Vladlena Benson, Fragkiskos Filippaios, 2016-05-20 Palliative Care for Chronic Cancer Patients in the Community Michael Silbermann, 2020-10-29 The new global cancer data suggests that the global burden has risen to 18.1 million new cases per year and 9.6 million cancer deaths per year. A number of factors appear to be driving this increase in particular a growing and aging global population and an increase of exposure to cancer risk factors linked to social and economic development. For rapidly growing economies the data suggests a shift from poverty or infection related cancers to those associated with lifestyles more typical in industrialized countries. There is still large geographical diversity in cancer occurrence and variations in the magnitude and profile of the disease between and within world regions. There are specific types of cancer that dominate globally lung female breast and colorectal cancer and the regional variations in common cancer types signal the extent to which societal economic and lifestyle changes interplay to differentially impact on the profile of this most complex group of diseases. Unfortunately despite advances in cancer care a significant proportion of patients at home experience sub optimal outcomes. Barriers to successful treatment outcomes include but are not limited to access to oncologists in the primary health centers non adherence lack of experienced oncology and palliative care nurses in the community inadequate monitoring and the lack of training of family and pediatric physicians. Telemedicine approaches including telephone triage education telemonitoring teleconsultation and status tracking through mobile applications have shown promise in further improving outcomes in particular for chronic cancer patients following their hospitalization. Lessons can be learned from existing hospices in North America the United Kingdom Australia Centers of Excellence in African Uganda and modern community services in India Kerala. An important goal of this book is to describe and encourage professionals to develop new community programs in palliative care which include training and empowering physicians and nurses in the community on the principles of palliative care The Middle East Cancer Consortium MECC together with the American Society of Clinical Oncology ASCO and the American Oncology Nursing Society ONS have conducted multiple courses ranging from basic palliative care to more specialized training in palliative care for multiple nationalities in Europe Asia and Africa Our experience clearly indicates that to promote such activities one needs strong leadership and confirmed political will to support the endeavor The new book will emphasize the importance of having a core of multiple stakeholders including community leaders government NGOs and media to be actively involved in advocating for the cause and generating public awareness This text will provide the reader with a comprehensive understanding of the outside of the hospital treatment of cancer patients by medical paramedical and volunteer personnel In doing so this text will encourage the creation of new palliative care services improving upon the existing ones and stimulate further research in this field Part 1 of the text will begin with an overview of the current state of affairs of services provided to cancer patients while being cared for by primary health centers It will also review the current literature regarding medical and psychological based therapy options in the community for cancer patients at different stages of their disease Part 2 will address the unique role of the community nurse within the framework of the multidisciplinary team treating the patient in the attempt to provide optimal evaluation and care in very challenging situations such as with terminal patients Part 3 will provide insightful models of this new discipline and serve as a valuable resource for physicians nurses social workers and others involved in the care of cancer patients The book will take a multidisciplinary approach integrating clinical and environmental data for practical management to enhance the efficacy of treatment while relieving suffering Part 4 will also discuss the application of modern technological approaches to track symptoms quality of life diet mobility duration of sleep and medication use including pain killers in chronic cancer patients in the community Part 5 of the book will also be devoted to modes of developing a collaborative program between governmental and non governmental organization sectors This includes volunteer workers in close collaboration with medical professionals for providing emotional and spiritual support nursing care nutritional support and empowering family caregivers Such a model makes palliative care in the community a people s movement thus transferring part of the responsibility and ownership to the community

Promoting Global Competencies Through Media Literacy Yildiz, Melda N., Funk, Steven S., De Abreu, Belinha

S., 2017-11-30 It is imperative that the 21st century population develops media literacy competence at several levels. Schools possess a crucial role in achieving these competencies and as such teachers need to be equipped with effective methods and training. Promoting Global Competencies Through Media Literacy is an advanced reference publication featuring the latest scholarly research on transdisciplinary and transformative assessment practices from primary level to university level educational settings. Including coverage on a broad range of topics such as digital storytelling, virtual environment and cross cultural communication, this book is ideally designed for academicians, researchers and librarians seeking current research on current trends in media literacy in educational settings. Neonatal Palliative Care for Nurses Alexandra Mancini, Jayne Price, Tara Kerr-Elliott, 2020-01-22

This textbook details the nursing care of babies with life limiting conditions and sets the context within the philosophy of internationally collaborative neonatal palliative care, emphasising emotional and practical support for their families. Currently increasing interest from nursing and medical fields regarding palliative care for babies in the antenatal and neonatal period is evident. This innovative and unique text provides experienced nurses and student nurses alike with realistic guidance in caring for babies with palliative care needs alongside the crucial support for their families and identifies important strategies for professional self care. Nursing experts in this field collaborated to develop a reference book which supports holistic and integrated clinical practice. Parents' experiences of what they consider helpful or not so helpful are interwoven throughout the chapter. There is currently no other textbook which offers the above information and guidance specifically for nurses and allied health professionals. As such, this book will appeal to all nurses and health professionals working within the neonatal palliative care specialty in a global context. Neuropalliative Care, 2023-01-03

Neuropalliative Care Part Two Volume 191 covers a type of care that is given when there is no cure for the neurological disorder and the patient is in distress. It provides a scholarly background of neuropalliative care from historic underpinnings to its practice in various geographical regions along with best practices for specific neurological disorders. It covers the work of multi or interdisciplinary teams whose care is intended to make the patient as comfortable as possible and includes partners and families in treatment plans. Summarizes research in neuropalliative care. Identifies current practices in different geographic regions. Provides best practices for specific neurological disorders and patient populations. Includes advanced care planning. Oxford Textbook of Palliative Medicine Nathan I. Cherny, Marie T. Fallon, Stein Kaasa, Russell K. Portenoy, David C. Currow, 2021
