Women's advancement in the German hospitality industry despite of the glass ceiling Maike Winkler,2011-09-29

Inhaltsangabe Introduction Today women represent 40 % of the labor force worldwide and continually climb up the hierarchical ladder of organizations However they do not overcome 20 % with regard to higher management levels Interestingly a share of only two to three percent of women is represented in executive management positions within globally relevant corporations This number points out that the lack of females in top levels is a global phenomenon According to Wirth the situation of females in the labor market has enhanced in the last decades However reports of the German Federal Statistical Office show that in 2004 only 1 7 million female workers were holding senior positions in comparison to 3 3 million male workers in the service industry throughout Germany Consequently these figures lead to the assumption that obstacles in terms of the glass ceiling metaphor seem to exist Knutson and Schmidgall characterized a glass ceiling as an invisible generally artificial barrier that prevents qualified individuals such as women from advancing within the organization and reaching their full potential Prior researches indicated that obstacles that result in the glass ceiling effect are linked to disparities in for instance gender stereotypes as well as equal employment opportunities In addition according to Oakley organizational behavioral cultural and structural explanations mirror barriers that lead to the glass ceiling The more senior and well paid the post the more likely it is to be filled by a man despite women s numerical predominance in the industry Keeping this meaningful quotation in mind this research was conducted in order to provide women in the hospitality sector in Germany with ideas and promising steps to advance in their career by breaking the glass ceiling Therefore in combination with a literature review in depth and open ended interviews with females working in leadership positions in the German hospitality industry were executed in order to identify personal experiences and interpretations of the issue In correspondence to the preliminary discussed background of the topic the research in this thesis is concerned with the question of how women can break the glass ceiling in order to advance to executive positions in the German hospitality industry The background analysis revealed that women seem to be underrepresented in valued and powerful jobs Thus taking this into consideration one Advancing the Human Rights of Women Andrew Byrnes,Jane Frances Connors,Lum Bik,1997 Guide to Human Rights Sources Women in Society Magdalena E. Thorne,2005 The path of women to achieve equal rights has been and remains a deeply uphill climb The recent Martha Stewart case is a prime example of unfair treatment of women Here is a women who could lose her business and go to prison for lying The same act Clinton Bush and Blair practice on a global scale If all the Wall Street titans and soliticians went to jail for lying we would have to build a prison on every street Women are moving upward in rockets against great resistance This book presents some of the achievements risk and challenges women are trying to deal with at the beginning of the 21st century Advancing Women
