four years later he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps preparing to serve the obligated four years payback for his free education. It seemed like a good plan but life often has little respect for planning. Within three years he was on Okinawa separated from his wife and their two newborns for a thirteen month deployment. On his return he joined the faculty at the Army Artillery and Missile School. Then it was another thirteen months away this time in Vietnam. Reassigned to Frankfurt Germany he commanded Marine Security Guards in twenty seven diplomatic posts in Europe including six behind the Iron Curtain. Upon graduation from the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk he and a classmate were informed by Headquarters Marine Corps that they both were to be reassigned to WestPac western pacific for a year with one going to Okinawa and the other to Vietnam. Headquarters asked for their preferences. Both wanted to return to Vietnam. He lost the coin toss and it was back to Okinawa. That coin toss was to significantly restructure his career and his life. The subsequent years included managing the security at the Naval Air Station Alameda California made turbulent by the prevailing civil rights and antiwar environment contributing to the Marine Corps becoming the only military service to support every dollar spent with explicit cost benefit analysis in spite of opposition by the Army and the DoD fielding a totally new light armor combat capability into the Marine Corps with an innovative acquisition program completing within budget and only 2 25 years from concept to production conducting Arctic exercises in North Norway including a night amphibious landing unseen by Russians just a mountain range away in Murmansk commanding the largest artillery organization in the world and trying unsuccessfully to contribute to a peaceful resolution to conflict in Lebanon in 1983.

The Cambridge History of Classical Literature: Volume 1, Greek Literature, Part 1, Early Greek Poetry P. E. Easterling, Bernard M. W. Knox, 1989-05-04

The period from the eighth to the fifth centuries B C was one of extraordinary creativity in the Greek speaking world. Poetry was a public and popular medium and its production was closely related to developments in contemporary society. At the time when the city states were acquiring their distinctive institutions epic found the greatest of all its exponents in Homer and lyric poetry for both solo and choral performance became a genre which attracted poets of the first rank writers of the quality of Sappho Alcaeus and Pindar whose influence on later literature was to be profound. This volume covers the epic tradition the didactic poems of Hesiod and his imitators and the wide ranging work of the iambic elegiac and lyric poets of what is loosely called the archaic age. The contributors make use of recent papyrus finds particularly in the case of Archilochus and Stesichorus to fill out the picture of a cosmopolitan and highly sophisticated literary culture which had not yet found its intellectual centre in Athens      Budget of the United States Government United States.
