Research in Reading at the Primary Level Doris Virginia Gunderson,1963 Cross-Language Studies of Learning to Read and Spell: C.K. Leong,R.M. Joshi,2013-03-14 The present volume is based on the proceedings of the Advanced Study Institute AS I sponsored by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO held in Alvor Algarve Portugal A number of scholars from different countries participated in the two week institute on Cognitive and linguistic aspects of reading writing and spelling The present papers are further versions with modifications and refinements from those presented at the Advanced Study Institute Several people and organizations have helped us in this endeavor and their assistance is gratefully acknowledged Our special thanks are to the Scientific Affairs division of NATO for providing the major portions of the financial support Dr L V da Cunha of NATO and Dr THo Kester and Mrs Barbara Kester of the International Transfer of Science and Technology of the various aspects of the institute and ITST for their help and support the staff of Hotel Alvor Praia for making our stay a pleasant one by helping us to run the institute smoothly Frontiers in the Acquisition of Literacy Claire M. Fletcher-Flinn,2015-09-28 Learning to read and to spell are two of the most important cultural skills that must be acquired by children and for that matter anyone learning a second language We are not born with an innate ability to read A reading system of mental representations that enables us to read must be formed in the brain Learning to read in alphabetic orthographies is the acquisition of such a system which links mental representations of visual symbols letters in print words with pre existing phonological sound and semantic comprehension cognitive systems for language Although spelling draws on the same representational knowledge base and is usually correlated with reading the acquisition processes involved are not quite the same Spelling requires the sequential production of letters in words and at beginning levels there may not be a full degree of integration of phonology with its representation by the orthography Reading on the other hand requires only the recognition of a word for pronunciation Hence spelling is more difficult than reading and learning to spell may necessitate more complete representations or more conscious access to them The learning processes that children use to acquire such cognitive systems in the brain and whether these same processes are universal across different languages and orthographies are central theoretical questions Most children learn to read and spell their language at the same time thus the co ordination of these two facets of literacy acquisition needs explication as well as the effect of different teaching approaches on acquisition Lack of progress in either reading and or spelling is also a major issue of concern for parents and teachers necessitating a cross disciplinary approach to the problem encompassing major efforts from researchers in neuroscience cognitive science experimental psychology and education The purpose of this Research Topic is to summarize and review what has been accomplished so far and to further explore these general issues Contributions from different perspectives are welcomed and could include theoretical computational and empirical works that focus on the acquisition of literacy including cross orthographic research Educational Records Bulletin ,1955 Human Development from Early Childhood to Early Adulthood Wolfgang Schneider,Merry Bullock,2010-10-18 Data generated from longitudinal studies allow researchers to better understand how context and experience interact with stable characteristics of the developing person over time This book summarizes a landmark longitudinal study of 200 children from the ages of 3 to 23 The Munich Longitudinal Study on the Ontogenesis of Individual Competencies LOGIC examined the development of individual differences over time and whether it is possible to predict later competencies from earlier ones Offering a snapshot of theory and data on personality social motor moral and cognitive development the contributors help us understand which individual differences can and cannot be altered through schooling and other experiences and how differences seen in the earliest stages are later reflected in adulthood The results provide valuable insight into the strengths and limitations of early prediction of individual differences This is the second volume to review the wealth of data generated by the study The first volume Weinert and Schneider 1999 traced development from ages 3 to 12 This volume continues the story integrating these early findings with the results from adolescence and young adulthood Each of the chapters provides an overview of current research and addresses how the data help us understand the presence and developmental effects of individual differences Among the findings are results on The relative stability of cognitive competencies The long term effects of shyness and aggression The relation between moral understanding and action and The role of education in the development or maintenance of performance differences Intended for researchers and advanced students in developmental educational personality social and cognitive psychology this book will also appeal to educators especially the chapters that focus on literacy development educational context scientific reasoning and mathematical reasoning Smart Tests Catherine M. Walker,Edgar Schmidt,Kat Mototsune,2004 High stakes accountability and the growing move towards standardized testing are placing teacher knowledge and assessment skills under ever increasing scrutiny Teachers know what is going on in their classrooms and have first hand reliable evidence of what their students can accomplish They can be the major factor in student assessment and help their students better demonstrate what they have learned Smart Tests shows educators how to create well structured evaluation tools that match assessment tasks to the purpose and content of instruction Teachers learn how to relate testing directly to classroom goals and activities and make assessment an integral part of learning and teaching not just the end result They will find the information they need to build assessment tasks that give students in grades K 8 the opportunity to succeed These tasks encourage students to apply new knowledge reflect and defend their thoughts and opinions and connect what they learn the world beyond the classroom School & Society James
