A Connected Metropolis Maxwell Johnson, 2023-07 In A Connected Metropolis Maxwell Johnson describes Los Angeles's rise in the early twentieth century as catalyzed by a series of upper class debates about the city's connections to the outside world By focusing on specific moments in the city's development when tensions over Los Angeles's connections or lack thereof emerged Johnson ties each movement to two or three contemporary figures who influenced the debates at hand The elites' previous efforts to secure nationwide and global connections for Los Angeles were wildly successful following World War II As a result the city became a landing spot for African American migrants Cambodian and Laotian refugees and Mexican and Central American immigrants Johnson argues that the city's history is more defined by external relationships than previously understood and those relationships have given the history of the city more continuity than originally recognized At the turn of the twentieth century the politics of connection revolved around initiatives to tie Los Angeles to other places both tangibly and metaphorically Elites built tangible connections to secure among other things the water that irrigated the citrus farms of Los Angeles the capital that propelled its businesses and the people who migrated from the Midwest to buy its houses To build metaphorical connections that located the city amid transcontinental and trans Pacific movements elites themselves often transcended nearby borders and pursued connections at will Los Angeles stood as a focal point for elite ambitions a place with a more ambivalent relationship to external connections The true story of Los Angeles s rise lies in the spectacular visions and rambunctious activism of a group of elite men dedicated to transforming a remote frontier town into a global metropolis

Land of Smoke and Mirrors Vincent Brook,2013-01-22 Unlike the more forthrightly mythic origins of other urban centers think Rome via Romulus and Remus or Mexico City via the god Huitzilopochtli Los Angeles emerged from a smoke and mirrors process that is simultaneously literal and figurative real and imagined material and metaphorical physical and textual Through penetrating analysis and personal engagement Vincent Brook uncovers the many portraits of this ever enticing ever ambivalent and increasingly multicultural megalopolis Divided into sections that probe Los Angeles s checkered history and reflect on Hollywood s own self reflections the book shows how the city despite considerable remaining challenges is finally blowing away some of the smoke of its not always proud past and rhetorically adjusting its rear view mirrors Part I is a review of the city s history through the early 1900s focusing on the seminal 1884 novel Ramona and its immediate effect but also exploring its ongoing impact through interviews with present day Tongva Indians attendance at the 88th annual Ramona pageant and analysis of its feature film adaptations Brook deals with Hollywood as geographical site film production center and frame of mind in Part II He charts the events leading up to Hollywood s emergence as the world s movie capital and explores subsequent developments of the film industry from its golden age through the so called New Hollywood citing such self reflexive films as Sunset Blvd Singin in the Rain and The Truman Show Part III considers LA noir a subset of film noir that emerged alongside the classical noir cycle in the 1940s and 1950s and continues today The city s status as a privileged noir site is analyzed in relation to its history and through discussions of such key LA noir novels and films as Double Indemnity Chinatown and Crash In Part IV Brook examines multicultural Los Angeles Using media texts as signposts he maps the history and contemporary situation of the city s major ethno racial and other minority groups looking at such films as Mi Familia Latinos Boyz N the Hood African Americans Charlotte Sometimes Asians Falling Down Whites and The Kids Are All Right LGBT
