Affordable Uk University Education Modular:

Disability & the Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel, Scot Danforth, 2008 Disability and the Politics of Education An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education For nearly two decades global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All EFA and the Salamanca Statement Yet according to UNESCO reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community Today millions of the world s disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education particularly in countries with limited resources Even in the wealthiest countries many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches

Higher Education in the Arab World Adnan Badran, Elias Baydoun, Joelle Mesmar, 2022-09-29 This book presents selected case studies from the Arab world on the universities responses to the pandemic This book will look in detail at the priorities of the higher education sector in the post COVID 19 era and the changes that must be adopted by universities and governments These changes will allow the higher education sector to emerge from the crisis and build short and long term resilience The onset of the COVID 19 pandemic has induced sudden changes worldwide by setting a global lockdown that has impacted all industries and sectors affecting our daily lives and forcing us to adapt to a new normal This book is the first major account of how the pandemic has shaken universities and higher education institutions in the Arab world today and tomorrow Crucially it examines the responses of universities to COVID 19 highlights their current position and addresses the negative and positive outcomes Has this crisis become an adversity or an opportunity for higher education institutions What are the pillars that will ensure the success of the Arab higher education sector post COVID 19

The Contribution of Universities Towards Education for Sustainable Development Walter Leal Filho, Thais Dibbern, Salvador Ruiz de Maya, María-del-Carmen Alarcón-del-Amo, Longinos Marin Rives, 2024-04-01 The book gathers inputs from universities and research organizations working on matters related to sustainable development in a variety of contexts It also provides a platform for the dissemination of information on the latest initiatives paving the way for technology transfer and networking Furthermore the book intends to provide a fertile basis upon which universities may cooperate more closely in this key area Universities as centers of education research and innovation have a unique position and responsibility in promoting sustainability They can offer degree programs courses and workshops focused on sustainability environmental studies and related fields educating students and the wider community about the principles and challenges of sustainability Also universities can conduct cutting edge research to address sustainability challenges such as climate change resource depletion and biodiversity loss They can develop innovative technologies and solutions that promote sustainable practices in various sectors including energy agriculture transportation and urban planning There is a perceived need to better understand and engage universities further on sustainability initiatives Against this backdrop and in order to facilitate a broad discussion on the contribution of universities toward sustainability this book is being produced Last but not least a further aim of the book is to present methodological approaches and experiences deriving from case studies and projects which aim to show how sustainability may be incorporated as part of university programs

Routledge International Handbook of Outdoor Studies Barbara Humberstone, Heather Prince, Karla A. Henderson, 2015-11-19 The outdoors is a physical and ideological space in which people engage with their environment but it is also an important vehicle for learning and for leisure The Routledge Handbook of Outdoor Studies is the first book to attempt to define and survey the multi disciplinary set of approaches that constitute the broad field of outdoor studies including outdoor recreation outdoor education adventure education environmental studies physical culture studies and leisure studies It reflects upon the often haphazard development of outdoor studies as a discipline critically assesses current knowledge in outdoor studies and identifies further opportunities for future research in this area With a broader sweep than any other book yet published on the topic this handbook traces the philosophical and conceptual contours of the discipline as well as exploring key contemporary topics and debates and identifying important issues in education and professional practice It examines the cultural social and political contexts in which people experience the outdoors including perspectives on outdoor studies from a wide range of countries providing the perfect foundation for any student researcher educator or outdoors practitioner looking to deepen their professional knowledge of the outdoors and our engagement with the world around us

The Trouble with Higher Education Trevor Hussey, Patrick Smith, 2012-04-04 The Trouble with Higher Education is a powerful and topical critique of the Higher Education system in the UK with relevance to countries with similar systems Based on the authors experiences that span over 30 years of fieldwork the issues discussed focus on the problems facing the principle responsibilities of universities teaching learning and research The first half of the book identifies a number of problems that have followed the growth of mass education It examines their causes and explains their damaging effects The second half of the book offers a broad vision and makes a number of practical suggestions for ameliorating the problems and improving higher education Supported by research the suggestions include ways of managing universities proper inspection better ways of organising students learning improving teaching and learning better approaches to assessment and the proper use of ideas such as learning outcomes Topics discussed include Chronic under funding the replacement of student grants with loans and the introduction of tuition fees The growth of managerialism The emphasis on accountability and decline of trust The growth of a competitive market ethos Modular degrees knowledge treated as a commodity and students seen as customers The drift towards a two tiered system with teaching colleges and research universities Casualisation of the academic profession The Trouble with Higher Education is aimed primarily at a professional audience of academics educationalists managers administrators and policy makers but would interest anyone concerned about higher education It is suited to professional development courses and Master s and doctoral level studies

Farmers' Rights - Educational Module V Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2021-09-27 The role of farmers as custodians and innovators of plant genetic diversity that feeds the world population was not formally recognized at the international level until the adoption of the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture The International Treaty is the first legally binding instrument that recognizes the enormous contribution of local and indigenous communities and farmers worldwide to the development and conservation of crop diversity This module examines its origins and provisions in the International Treaty and presents some practical activities for the realization of Farmers Rights It aims to i understand the crucial role of farmers in the conservation and sustainable use of plant genetic resources for food and agriculture ii describe the evolution of Farmers Rights up to their recognition by the International Treaty iii explain the components of Article 9 of the International Treaty iv illustrate the implementation of Article 9 at the national level with practical examples and best practices and v strengthen stakeholders capacities for implementing Farmers Rights as reflected in Article 9 of the International Treaty The realization of Farmers Rights falls under the responsibility of national governments and the adoption of measures for the promotion of Farmers Rights therefore remains at the discretion of national authorities Although there is no binding agreement for the implementation of Farmers Rights it is clear that farmers need to be supported to continue their role as stewards of plant genetic diversity in agriculture Online Postgraduate Education Katharine Stapleford,Kyungmee Lee,2024-01-29

Providing a comprehensive examination of the nature of online higher education this book proposes effective ways in which it can be conceptualised and designed to be more accessible and authentic for adult learners Against the backdrop of differing historical origins which have resulted in multiple misaligned understandings applications and interpretations of online and distance education this book presents an empirical research study which uses a narrative approach to explore the lived experiences of online postgraduate students It positions two arguments on the in accessibility and in authenticity of online education side by side effectively demonstrating how they can be conflict and contradict each other Using narrative data the authors re examine the concepts of distance and interaction in order to present a new understanding of the concept of openness relevant to the for profit postgraduate distance learning sector This book illuminates the postgraduate distance education experience and presents a set of alternative theoretically informed conceptions which the authors present as three essential pillars of online postgraduate education openness distance and interaction Carefully presented and supported using real online higher education scenarios the book will enable higher educators practising online education in a range of pedagogical contexts to re imagine their practices further to create more accessible and authentic learning opportunities for their learners A Philosopher's Perspective on the UK's Higher Education Brendan Larvor,2024-02-14

In this collection of research articles and reflective essays Brendan Larvor argues that the principal task of teachers in higher education is to find ways to pursue the creative romantic and liberal goals of the ideal university when real universities are rationalised bureaucracies according to the thoughts of Max Weber Larvor reflects on the differences between teaching philosophy undergraduates expert practitioners and prisoners He insists on the importance of the affective dimension of learning and the unpredictability of the encounter between students and curricula This book will interest anyone concerned about the current condition of higher education and anyone interested in the relationship between the intimate human activity of teaching and the bureaucracies in which it takes place Perspectives and Practices of Education for Sustainable Development Rehema M.
