The Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics Célestin Monga,Justin Yifu Lin,2015 A popular myth about the travails of Africa holds that the continent's long history of poor economic performance reflects the inability of its leaders and policymakers to fulfill the long list of preconditions to be met before sustained growth can be achieved These conditions are said to vary from the necessary quantity and quality of physical and human capital to the appropriate institutions and business environments While intellectually charming and often elegantly formulated that conventional wisdom is actually contradicted by historical evidence and common sense It also suggests a form of intellectual mimicry that posits a unique path to prosperity for all countries regardless of their level of development and economic structure In fact the argument underlining that reasoning is tautological and the policy prescriptions derived from it are fatally teleological low income countries are by definition those where such ingredients are missing None of today's high income countries started its growth process with the required and complete list of growth ingredients Unless one truly believes that the continent of Africa and most developing countries are ruled predominantly if not exclusively by plutocrats with a high propensity for sadomasochism the conventional view must be re-examined debated and questioned This volume the second of the Oxford

Handbook of Africa and Economics reassesses the economic policies and practices observed across the continent since independence. It offers a collection of analyses by some of the leading economists and development thinkers of our time and reflects a wide range of perspectives and viewpoints. Africa's emergence as a potential economic powerhouse in the years and decades ahead amply justifies the scope and ambition of the book. International Commerce, 1965. The Future of Entrepreneurship in Africa. Anthony Abiodun Eniola, Chux Gervase Iwu, Abdullah Promise Opute, 2022-12-30. For many years entrepreneurship has been considered as one of the most important solutions to the three pronged challenges: poverty, unemployment, and inequality of most African countries. A recent development that has undoubtedly compounded the challenges that African entrepreneurs face and further impede the economic growth impact is Covid 19. This pandemic has exerted severe damage to economies and businesses globally. For the African setting, the implications of Covid 19 on businesses and individuals would be enormous as African societies are rarely equipped to absorb unexpected shocks of this magnitude as the social and welfare schemes are far below requirements. This book illuminates entrepreneurship in the African setting, focusing on the prospects, challenges, and the post Covid 19 pandemic future. It aims to offer a rich repository of information on strategies and techniques for sustaining entrepreneurial activities that can enrich African nations and will be of relevance to academics, researchers, advanced students, entrepreneurs, governments, and government agencies who are interested in understanding issues relating to entrepreneurship development within the African continent. The Department of State Bulletin, 1962. Brian Boniface, Chris Cooper, 2024-04-30. Worldwide Destinations: The Geography of Travel and Tourism is a unique text that explores tourism demand, supply, organisation, and resources for every country worldwide in a logically structured and accessible format. The ninth edition is fully updated to include the following features: Greater exploration of current issues such as climate change, the impact of COVID 19 on destinations and subsequent recovery strategies, regenerative tourism, changes in consumer behaviour, and sustainability. New and updated case studies throughout. Increased emphasis on South America and a new chapter focussing on the tourism geography of Antarctica. Enhanced online resources for lecturers and students including PPTs, web links, video links, MCQs, and discussion questions. The first part of this book comprises thematic chapters that detail the geographic knowledge and principles required to analyse the tourism appeal of destinations. The subsequent division of this book into regional chapters enables the student to carry out a systematic analysis of a particular destination by providing insights on cultural characteristics as well as information on specific places. This volume is an invaluable resource for studying every destination in the world, explaining tourism demand evaluating the many types of tourist attractions and examining the trends that may shape the future geography of tourism This thorough guide is a must have for any student undertaking a course in travel and tourism
