Ageing Corporeality And Embodiment Key Issues In Modern Sociology:

Ageing, Corporeality and Embodiment Chris Gilleard, Paul Higgs, 2014-11-01 Ageing Corporeality and Embodiment outlines and develops an argument about the emergence of a new ageing during the second half of the twentieth century and its realisation through the processes of embodiment The authors argue that ageing as a unitary social process and agedness as a distinct social location have lost much of their purchase on the social imagination Instead this work asserts that later life has become as much a field for not becoming old as of old age The volume locates the origins of this transformation in the cultural ferment of the 1960s when new forms of embodiment concerned with identity and the care of the self arose as mass phenomena Over time these new forms of embodiment have been extended changing the traditional relationship between body age and society by making struggles over the care of the self central to the cultures of later life New Challenges to

Ageing in the Rural North Päivi Naskali, Joan R. Harbison, Shahnaj Begum, 2019-08-26 This book provides an underexplored view of ageing one that conceives older people as valuable resources in their communities as active citizens with both voice and an agency that includes the capacity for resistance It acknowledges that becoming old with dignity means also paying attention to caring good health services and the possibility of good death The book defines age and ageing as multiple culturally and historically constructed phenomena that are only loosely connected to the years of one's life In focusing on the peripheral North located in the Nordic Canadian and Russian north it highlights important questions and viewpoints that can be found and adapted to other rural areas The book answers the following questions What is the relevance of legislation and international legal agreements in ensuring the rights of elderly people under political and economic changes What challenges do geographic isolation changing age structure and cultural and ecological transformations pose to possibilities for meeting older people's needs for engagement in society as well as for their care As such this book will be of interest to all those working in population aging A New Ethic of 'Older' Bridget Garnham, 2016-10-04 Through its themes of subjectivity surgery and self stylization this book critically examines the cultural constraints and incitements that shape the practice of cosmetic surgery by older people The book problematizes anti ageing discourses to provide a nuanced descriptive ethical and political reading of older identity politics nested within the contemporary ethico political terrain of self care A New Ethic of Older aims to de territorialize the older subject from normative discourses of ageing and theorize becoming older Evidence of an active cultural politics of older emerges from the critically reflexive engagement of older people with cosmetic surgery This engagement constitutes a cutting critique of ageing discourses enmeshed in an aesthetic mode of subjectivation that underpins a new ethics of old age The book will appeal to those in the fields of Cultural Gerontology Ageing Studies Critical Psychology Sociology and Cultural Geography The methodological approach will be of interest to academics and students exploring the application of Foucault's work on care of the self to contemporary contexts and practices The Asian

that investigate the way Asian migrants experience think about perceive and utilize their bodies as part of the journeys they have embarked on In exploring how bodies are physically and symbolically marked by migration experiences this edited volume seeks to move beyond the immediate effects of hard labour and potentially exploitative or abusive situations It shows that migrants are not only on the receiving end where it concerns their bodies nor are their bodies only utilized for their work as migrants they also seek control over their bodies and to make them part of strategies to express themselves The collective papers in The Asian Migrant's Body argue that the body itself is a primary site for understanding how migrants reflect on and experience their migration trajectories

On the Scale of the World Musab Younis, 2022-11 This expansive history of Black political thought shows us the origins and the echoes of anticolonial liberation on a global scale On the Scale of the World examines the reverberations of the transnational struggle for Black anticolonial liberation Between the 1920s and 1940s Black intellectuals established theories of colonialism and racism as world spanning structures that must be understood and resisted on a global scale In this book Musab Younis gathers the work of writers and poets journalists and editors historians and political theorists whose anticolonial insights speak urgently to contemporary movements for liberation Bringing together literary and political texts from Black writers in Nigeria Ghana Sierra Leone France the United States and elsewhere Younis excavates this vibrant and understudied tradition of international political thought From the hypocrisy of French colonial assimilation to the economic crisis in West Africa and the attacks on Haiti Liberia and Ethiopia On the Scale of the World shows how counternarratives of global order enabled original ways of thinking about race nation and empire

Sport and Physical Activity across the Lifespan Rylee A. Dionigi, Michael Gard, 2017-11-27 This edited collection problematizes trajectories of health promotion across the lifespan It provides a distinctive critical social science perspective of the various directions taken by dominant policies in their approach to promoting sport for all ages It offers an array of theoretical and methodologically diverse perspectives on this topic and highlights the intersections between different life stages and social economic and cultural factors in the developed world including class gender ability family dynamics and or race Sport and Physical Activity across the Lifespan critically explores dominant policies of age focussed sport promotion in order to highlight its implications within the context of particular life stages as they intersect with social cultural and economic factors This includes an examination of organised sport for pre schoolers at risk youth sport programmes and the creation of sporting sub cultures within the mid life market This book will be of interest to those wanting to learning more about how age and life stages affect the way people think about and participate in sport and to better understand the impacts of sport across the lifespan Rethinking the Sociology of Ageing Paul Higgs, Chris Gilleard, 2025-02-12 In this important book Paul Higgs and Chris Gilleard demonstrate how an invigorated sociology of later life is crucial for understanding the role of later life in 21st century societies Materialities of Age and Ageing: Concepts of a Material Gerontology Grit Höppner, Monika Urban, 2019-06-18 In gerontological research the understanding of age and ageing changed in the last decade Biologic determined explanations no longer prevail in this research field Instead ideas of social constructivism are frequently used These ideas define the state of age and the process of ageing as social constructions steeping ageing in social and cultural assumptions ascriptions and expectations From a social constructivist perspective age and ageing are not just identified as dependency deficit and need for care as it was foremost accelerated from a biological perspective but with the life course and thus with individual lifestyles experiences attitudes and practices as well as institutional and economic structures A prominent social constructivist concept is doing age Similar to doing gender the concept of doing age assumes age as taking place in the form of a social praxis within everyday life interactions between people and thus in performances embedded in discourses through which social hierarchies and ideals proceed Despite the paradigm shift that social constructivist concepts enable in gerontological thinking they reveal their blind spot when it comes to the materiality of ageing and thus to fleshy sensual experiences human and non human ontologies and agencies Addressing these materialities of ageing brings up its own critique on definitions of ageing bodies and material environments This framing does not presume that age and ageing are solely products of human to human interactions or those of formative environments or of discourses Rather humans non humans and discourses become essential parts of ageing processes Such a material framing enables us new insights into forms of age and ageing and thus offers an opportunity for scholars to engage critically with materialities of age and ageing This eBook explores theoretical methodological and empirical concepts of such a Material Gerontology The Lived Body Gillian A. Bendelow, Simon J. Williams, 2002-09-11 The Lived Body takes a fresh look at the notion of human embodiment and provides an ideal textbook for undergraduates on the growing number of courses on the sociology of the body The authors propose a new approach an Embodied Sociology one which makes embodiment central rather than peripheral They critically examine the dualist legacies of the past assessing the ideas of a range of key thinkers from Marx to Freud Foucault to Giddens Deleuze to Guattari and Irigaray to Grosz in terms of the bodily themes and issues they address They also explore new areas of research including the fate of embodiment in late modernity sex gender medical technology and the body the sociology of emotions pain sleep and artistic representations of the body The Lived Body will provide students and researchers in medical sociology health sciences cultural studies and philosophy with clear accessible coverage of the major theories and debates in the sociology of the body and a challenging new way of thinking
