Architecture And Film Publications:

Architecture and Film Mark Lamster, 2013-07-02 Architecture and Film looks at the ways architecture and architects are treated on screen and conversely how these depictions filter and shape the ways we understand the built environment. It also examines the significant effect that the film industry has had on the American public's perception of urban, suburban, and rural spaces. Contributors to this collection of essays come from a wide range of disciplines. Nancy Levinson from Harvard Design Magazine writes on how films from The Fountainhead to Jungle Fever have depicted architects. Eric Rosenberg from Tufts University looks at how architecture and spatial relations shape the Beatles films A Hard Day's Night, Help, and Let It Be. Joseph Rosa, curator at the National Building Museum, discusses why modern domestic architecture in recent Hollywood films such as The Ice Storm, L.A. Confidential, and The Big Lebowski has become synonymous with unstable inhabitants. I D Magazine writer Peter Hall discusses the history of film titling, focusing on the groundbreaking work of Saul Bass and Maurice Binder. Edited by Mark Lamster, it examines the anti-urbanism of the Star Wars trilogy. The collection also includes the voices of those from within the film industry who are uniquely able to provide a behind-the-scenes perspective. Film Edited by Bob Eisenhardt, comments on the making of Concert of Wills, a documentary on the construction of the Getty Museum, and Robert Kraft focuses on his work as a location director for Diane Keaton's upcoming film about Los Angeles. Also included are interviews with David Rockwell, architect of numerous Planet Hollywood restaurants worldwide and designer of a new hall to host the Academy Awards ceremony; Kyle Kooper, who created title sequences for Seven and Mission Impossible; and motion picture art director Jan Roelfs, whose credits include Gattaca, Orlando, and Little Women. Film, Architecture and Spatial Imagination Renée Tobe, 2016-08-25 Films use architecture as visual shorthand to tell viewers everything they need to know about the characters in a short amount of time. Illustrated by a diverse range of films from different eras and cultures, this book investigates the reciprocity between film and architecture. Using a phenomenological approach, it describes how we, the viewers, can learn how to read architecture and design in film in order to see the many inherent messages. Architecture's representational capacity contributes to the plausibility or reality possible in film. The book provides an ontological understanding that clarifies and stabilizes the reciprocity of the actual world and a filmic world of illusion and human imagination, thereby shedding light on both film and architecture. Architecture and Science-fiction Film David Terrance Fortin, 2011 The enduring paradoxes of the home are often brought to light in science fiction. SF writing and film. However, while crossovers between architecture and SF have proliferated, the home is often overshadowed by the spectacle of otherness. By examining the home from the estranging perspective of SF and, in particular, the films based on Phillip K. Dick's books, this work offers a unique critical analysis with particular relevance for contemporary architecture. Atlas of Emotion Giuliana Bruno, 2002 Maps a cultural history of spatio-visual art, emphasizing that sight and site, but also motion and emotion, are irrevocably connected. Walls Have Feelings Katherine Shonfield, 2003-09-02 For the first time, this book brings the insights methodologies and visions of film to the practice of architecture Walls Have Feelings poses unanswered questions from our immediate past crucial for the future of the city what was the cultural mindset leading to the triumph of Brutalism What is the urban and domestic impact of large scale office building Are there alternatives to the planners city of object and Why does your flat leak This book uniquely brings to bear questions of urgent cultural relevance on critical design decisions As such it is of as much importance to architects planners and students of design as to students of cultural history geography and all enthusiasts of cities and of film Architectural Publications Index ,2003 Architecture in Cinema Nevnihal Erdoğan,Hikmet Temel Akarsu,2024-04-26 In Architecture in Cinema more than 40 architects writers thinkers and academicians examine the magnificent works of cinema that contribute to the art of architecture and bring them to the attention of the architectural community The contributors have compiled essays on fifty masterpieces of classic and contemporary cinema including films such as The Cabinet of Dr Caligari Ben Hurr The Lord of The Rings trilogy Nomadland and more The book aims to stimulate the imagination of readers and offer approaches to understanding fantasy sociological concepts ecological problems and political ideas The contributors also focus on the elements of creativity such as utopian or dystopian themes aesthetics and artistry Architecture in Cinema is an informative reference for anyone interested in how architecture is featured in the cinematic medium Scholars of architecture urban planning fine arts humanities social sciences and various design disciplines will also find the book refreshing Writing and Publishing in Architecture and Design Anne Massey,2024-07-04 This book outlines the process of writing and publishing research in the field of architecture and design The book sets out to help researchers find a voice and find the best fit for their work Information about the different types of publication on offer is set out as well as how to make that important initial approach From pitching an idea for a review in a magazine to producing a journal article right through to the monograph Writing and Publishing in Architecture and Design maps out the different steps for the novice author Your first steps in publishing can be daunting and the book offers material which will inspire confidence by demystifying the publication process It also includes valuable nuts and bolts material such as planning and structure time management writing styles editing production of the final manuscript and picture research How do you turn your PhD into a book How do you turn conference proceedings into a publication Commissioning editors and authors share their experiences through interview and offer recipes for success as well as what to avoid Key titles from the past are included as case studies and their pathway to publication explored This is an invaluable book for anyone working in the fields of architecture and design with an ambition to publish The Chameleon Effect Dietmar Froehlich,2018-04-09 Architecture and film have many things in common Film narratives are embedded in scenes that visually support the story Sometimes architecture even performs the role of an actor Conversely film with its multifaceted changing atmospheres reveals new layers of architecture which outside the cinema would remain concealed In conclusion film as a mass medium influences the way architecture is perceived and its image in society Since the beginning of cinema architecture has formed a symbiosis with film. With its systematic analysis, this book offers a scientifically researched history of mutual influence starting with filmography as a typology of well-known film sets through to the description of the chameleon effect between film and architecture. Visualizing the City Alan Marcus, Dietrich Neumann, 2024-11-01 This anthology presents a range of interdisciplinary explorations into the urban environment through film photography, digital imagery, maps and signage. Contributors examine our fascination with the city through the history of art and architecture, urban studies, environmental studies, cultural geography and screen studies. Bringing together a wide spectrum of urban contexts, Visualizing the City's diverse essays explore visual representations of urbanism and modernity reflected through the prism of global cultures using an engaging variety of methods and texts.

Film, Architecture and Spatial Imagination Renée Tobe, 2016-08-25 Films use architecture as visual shorthand to tell viewers everything they need to know about the characters in a short amount of time. Illustrated by a diverse range of films from different eras and cultures, this book investigates the reciprocity between film and architecture. Using a phenomenological approach, it describes how we, the viewers, can learn how to read architecture and design in film in order to see the many inherent messages. Architecture's representational capacity contributes to the plausibility or reality possible in film. The book provides an ontological understanding that clarifies and stabilizes the reciprocity of the actual world and a filmic world of illusion and human imagination, thereby shedding light on both film and architecture.

Consuming Architecture Daniel Maudlin, Marcel Vellinga, 2014-03-05 Projecting forward in time from the processes of design and construction that are so often the focus of architectural discourse, Consuming Architecture examines the variety of ways in which buildings are consumed after they have been produced, focusing in particular on processes of occupation, appropriation and interpretation. Drawing on contributions by architects, historians, anthropologists, literary critics, artists, film makers, photographers and journalists, it shows how the consumption of architecture is a dynamic and creative act that involves the creation and negotiation of meanings and values by different stakeholders and that can be expressed in different voices. In so doing, it challenges ideas of what constitutes architecture, architectural discourse and architectural education, how we understand and think about it and who can claim ownership of it. Consuming Architecture is aimed at students in architectural education and will also be of interest to students and researchers from disciplines that deal with architecture in terms of consumption and material culture.

Cine-scapes Richard Koeck, 2013 Cine scapes ignites new ways of seeing, thinking and debating the nature of architecture and urban spaces. Drawing on the author's extensive knowledge, it offers insight into architecture and urban debates through the eyes of a practitioner working in the fields of film and architectural design, emphasizing how filmic, cinematic tendencies take place or find their way into urban practices. It can be used as a tool for educators, students and practitioners in architecture and urban design to communicate and discuss design issues with regard to contemporary
