casts a new light on recent architecture Starting with the lead up to events in the 1990s links are established between the global dominance of the North Atlantic economies architectural style and a dramatic increase in international architectural practice The widely observed homogeneity of the global consumer economy is examined in relation to branding tourism and international competition between cities and parallels are drawn with universal architectural and urban types iconic architecture and the rise of the star architect Contrasting pressures to maintain differences are identified in the break up of nation states identity politics targeted marketing and environmentalism and these are related to attempts to reinforce local identity through architecture and urban design Using social political and economic change as a guide to new directions in architecture and urban design the book ends by tracing the changes in global power revealed by the 2008 Western financial crash and its immediate impact on the built environment By comparing past patterns of cultural influence the book speculates on how architecture and urban design may come to reflect wider global trends The Architecture Reader Krista Sykes,2007 The Architecture Reader brings together for the first time texts written by architects of international esteem

Valences of Historiography Gevork Hartoonian,2024-12-30 The compiled essays offer various themes and ways of approaching historiography Each chapter probes the state of contemporary theorization of architecture histories working toward the theme of critically re writing history Essential to each author s contribution are specific traditions created by the mole of history burrowing through the past This book concerns the historian s conjectures towards capturing the past and present zeitgeist Temporality is the theme running through the narrative of this volume It raises the question of whether the ever growing body of work on architectural history should be considered as history More specifically what is the intersection between history and architectural history Furthermore can every text focused on architecture s past be considered categorically historiographic In what capacity does architectural history index history beyond contingencies and without reducing the text to empirical realities and the historian s interest in a specific subject including those collected through archival research itself an emblem of textuality This book upholds the conviction that the past should be recalled accurately and that there is no history but historical criticism the scope of which exceeds the historicity of Humanism Dialectically the timeline experienced across contemporary techno economic and cultural domains aesthetics offers an opportunity to explore architecture produced outside the Euro American continents Valences of Historiography offers a fresh take on architectural history that is useful for academics researchers and architecture students The Cambridge Introduction to
