Velmahos, Elias Degiannis, Dietrich Doll, 2011-09-28 Surgery needs skill Skill needs knowledge Knowledge of tricks moves and tools This book is about such knowledge Expert authors have contributed technical pearls gained by years of experience The short how I do it chapters offer the reader a quick and effective guide that will be invaluable when addressing any penetrating injury The book is not intended to serve as a comprehensive volume of pathophysiology and management in trauma rather the goal is to provide practical solutions on how to treat injuries surgically It describes the steps that you must take when in the middle of the night confronted with devastating bleeding you will have only one chance to save a life Trauma Team Dynamics Lawrence Marshall Gillman, Sandy Widder, 2025-09-12 The majority of medical errors are non technical in nature stemming from faulty decision making asynchronous information gathering lack of situational awareness and ineffective communication and team leadership Reviews of accidents from other high risk industries including the airline industry have had similar findings This led the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA and the airline industry to develop crew now crisis resource management CRM training These team based training strategies address non technical skills to counteract human error and improve team and patient safety Medicine has begun adapting this training especially within the realms of anesthesia and critical care Trauma surgery has been slower to utilize this work however simulation based training is increasing in popularity The first edition of Trauma

Team Dynamics was a revolutionary book in the field of trauma care. It was the first text that integrated the complexities of trauma care but illustrated how these could be streamlined and improved through a team-based focus and training. CRM and team-based training has grown substantially in the past six years since this text was conceived and there have been significant developments both in the breadth of the training as well as refinement in the topics covered, teaching methods utilized, and strategies employed to overcome the multitude of challenges still faced in this area. The second edition of this text expands greatly on the initial CRM topics covered in the opening section of the book. Hot topics in CRM training including the concepts of followership and conflict resolution and highlights strategies such as mindfulness and others to manage stress and reduce burnout are discussed. The text also expands into novel areas of trauma care including less invasive bedside endovascular treatments such as REBOA (Resuscitative Endovascular Balloon Occlusion of the Aorta) and a more in-depth discussion of teleresuscitation and trauma care in austere environments. Featuring 28 new chapters, the second edition of Trauma Team Dynamics is written by experts in trauma, critical care, emergency medicine, nursing, respiratory therapy, and pre-hospital care and includes NASA and United States military-affiliated experts. It is intended for use as both a day-to-day clinical resource and a reference text and includes self-assessment questions as well as guidance on CRM curriculum design and implementation.

Armed Conflict Injuries to the Extremities Alexander Lerner, Michael Soudry, 2011-04-28. This book is designed to meet the continued need to relearn the principles of treatment of complex war injuries to the extremities in order to minimize post-traumatic and post-treatment complications and optimize functional recovery. Most of the chapters are based on the unique experience gained in the treatment of military personnel who have suffered modern combat trauma and civilian victims of terror attacks at a single large level 1 trauma center. The remaining chapters present the experience of leading international authorities in trauma and reconstructive surgery. A staged treatment protocol is presented ranging from primary damage control through to definitive functional limb reconstruction. The organization of medical aid, anesthesiology, diagnostic imaging, infection prophylaxis, and management of complications are reviewed, and a special chapter is devoted to the challenging dilemma of limb salvage versus amputation in the treatment of limbs at risk.

Pain Management and Regional Anesthesia in Trauma Andrew D. Rosenberg, Ralph L. Bernstein, Christopher M. Grande, 2000. This new multi-contributed book is a comprehensive yet highly practical guide to the critical issues pertaining to prehospital, preoperative, intraoperative, and postoperative pain management. It contains detailed and clear instructions on how to perform techniques as well as highlighting the advantages, disadvantages, and pitfalls associated not only with the problems but also the solutions. The book is divided into four major sections: Basics of Trauma and Pain, Location-Based Pain Management, Perioperative Pain Management, and Regional Anesthesia and Pain Management for Specific Trauma Populations. Internationally renowned and respected team of expert editors and contributors in this area. Clear guidance on procedures and techniques. To be published under the auspices of ITACCS which frequently runs courses.
