Chapter 3. Archetype Semantics: How It Corresponds To The Concept Of "An Image." How Archetypal Are Images? Andrey Davydov,Olga Skorbatyuk,2017-09-16 An image is archetypal only when it is an individual value which through natural analogs allows a person to learn about himself obtain information about his individual qualities recorded in the individual structure of psyche which ultimately allows a person to legalize his own innate qualities The authors reason that logically an archetype in its traditional consideration cannot be that prototype preimage which as an initial idea determines the individual human psyche because by definition it belongs to culture it is its artifact Consequently

according to existing semantics an archetype can be anything except an archetype as an idea This scientific paper examines whether semantics of an archetype in its traditional sense corresponds to the concept of an image if an image is considered in terms of a copy a duplicate can an archetype of culture be seriously considered as something that directly forms individual human psyche as a structure that appeared long before symbolism The authors think that not every image is archetypal because not every image is equal to prototype preimage as an initial idea corresponding to the concept of an archetype An image is archetypal only when it is an individual value which through natural analogues allows a person to learn about his own self and learn about his individual qualities recorded in the individual structure of psyche which as a result provides a person with a possibility to legalize his own innate qualities Collage as a Creative Coaching Tool Andréa
