American Sanctions in the Asia-Pacific Brendan Taylor,2009-12-04 This book provides the first comprehensive treatment of US sanctions policy in the Asia Pacific Using the Bill Clinton and George W Bush presidencies as a basis for comparison it examines nine prominent episodes involving the US use of sanctions toward countries in this economically and strategically vital part of the world 'The Village and the World' Martin Mills,Nicole Mockler,Meghan Stacey,Becky Taylor,2023-05-29 It has been argued that too much research is conducted for the world of education research and not enough for the village of particular educational institutions like schools In this edited book the authors reflect on what it means for teachers to be engaged in and with educational research What is happening in the village of schools and how is that related to what is happening in the world of educational research What might the distinction between the village and the world mean today and is it still a useful one The chapters in this book explore the prospects of teacher research in an age in which educational data proliferates often used for accountability and surveillance purposes and in which instrumentalist notions of evidence based practice dominate They consider contexts ranging from Initial Teacher Education through to ongoing teacher professional learning in schools This volume concludes with an argument for turning the conversation from research as an add on to something that can be should be and arguably is a central feature of the everyday work of teaching It aims to envision positive futures for the kinds of villages and worlds that may be possible when enabling meaningful and rich research with for and by teachers This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Teaching Education
