Reading Octavia E. Butler John Lennard, 2012-10-04 Octavia Butler's premature and sudden death in 2006 has been very widely lamented unhappily confirming her influence as a vital African American and female pioneer in SF Xenogenesis retitled Lilith's Brood in 2000 is one of Butler's most important works and comprises the novels Dawn 1987 Adulthood Rites 1988 and Imago 1989 The Notes cover Octavia Butler's life and work the background and structure of the trilogy Black SF in relation to race and gender the tradition of dystopias and the work in genetics that is central to the plot The Annotations pay special attention to the feminist and racial critique of human behaviour and to the scientific and religious themes that develop throughout the trilogy Each of the three novels is dealt with book by book and chapter by chapter An Essay called The Strange Determination of Octavia Butler considers the trilogy's two very different umbrella titles and Butler's unusual use of genetic science especially the discovery of mitochondrial DNA to critique racial essentialism It also argues for her use of cellular organelles as an metaphor for the African Diaspora driven by slavery The Bibliography provides a complete listing of works by Octavia Butler including short stories and work published on line It also has sections detailing works about Octavia Butler and SF and Useful Reference Works The Ex-Human Michael Bérubé, 2024-05-28 Facing threats like climate change and nuclear warfare science fiction authors have conjured apocalyptic scenarios of human extinction Can such gloomy fates help us make sense of our contemporary crises How important is the survival of our species if we wind up battling for an Earth that has become an uninhabitable hellscape What other possible futures do narratives of the end of humanity allow us to imagine Michael Bérubé explores the surprising insights of classic and contemporary works of SF that depict civilizational collapse and contemplate the fate of Homo sapiens In a lively conversational style he considers novels by writers including Ursula K Le Guin Margaret Atwood Liu Cixin Philip K Dick and Octavia Butler as well as films that feature hostile artificial intelligence such as 2001 A Space Odyssey Blade Runner and the Terminator and Matrix franchises Bérubé argues that these works portray a future in which we have become able to see ourselves from the vantage point of something other than the human Though framed by the possibility of human extinction they are driven by a vision of the ex human a desire to imagine that another species is possible For all science fiction readers worried about the fate of humanity The Ex Human is an entertaining yet sobering account of how key novels and films envision the world without us *Human Contradictions in Octavia E. Butler Chi-ming Yang,2024-12-04 An homage to the childhood genius of Black science fiction writer Octavia E Butler Bringing to view a selection of Butler's unpublished writings and drawings this book traces her fascination with human alien symbiosis to her early empathy with horses and other marginalized creatures The figure of the horse at once earthly and transcendent represented the contradictions of freedom and captivity that enabled young Octavia to develop her nuanced sense of voice and place Drawing on previously unknown archival research this volume illustrates how Butler's development as a writer was tied to her extraordinary resourcefulness and self-awareness growing up as an awkward bookish Black girl in segregated Cold War Pasadena. She persistently re-visited and revised her early writings on teenage angst, Martians, Westerns, and racial politics. In one way or another, her supernatural characters defied the constraints of gender, race, and class with equine-inflected resilience. In the spirit of Butler's passion for library research, this book is comprised of twenty-six short A-Z chapters on vocabulary, images, and themes central to her authorial formation. It is part childhood biography, art and literary analysis, and memoir. It interweaves the author's personal recollections with scholarly musings on poetry, film, and literature inspired by Butler's encyclopedic reading habits and experiments with genre. Just as cross-species kinships are at the heart of her Afro-futurist eco-feminist storytelling, Butler demonstrates that coming of age is an ongoing process and key to healing our damaged planet.

The Routledge Companion to Gender and Science Fiction Lisa Yaszek, Sonja Fritzsche, Keren Omry, Wendy Gay Pearson, 2023-02-10. The Routledge Companion to Gender and Science Fiction is the first large-scale reference work of its kind, critically assessing the relations of gender and genre in science fiction (SF), especially but not exclusively as explored in speculative art by women and LGBTQ artists across the world. This global volume builds upon the traditions of interdisciplinary inquiry by connecting established topics in gender studies and science fiction studies with emergent ideas from researchers in different media. Taken together, they challenge conventional generic boundaries, provide new ways of approaching familiar texts, recover lost artists, and introduce new ones. They connect the revival of old hate-based politics with the increasing visibility of imagined futures for all and show how SF stories about new kinds of gender relations inspire new models of artistic, technoscientific, and political practice. Their chapters are grouped into five conversations about the history of gender and genre, theoretical frameworks, subjectivities, medias, and transmedialities, and transtemporalities that are central to discussions of gender and SF in the current moment. A range of both emerging and established names in media literature and cultural studies engage with a huge diversity of topics, including eco-criticism, animal studies, cyborg and posthumanist theory, masculinity, critical race studies, Indigenous futurisms, Black girlhood, and gaming. This is an essential resource for students and scholars studying gender, sexuality, and/or science fiction.

The Postnational Fantasy Masood Ashraf Raja, Jason W. Ellis, Swaralipi Nandi, 2014-01-10. In twelve critical and interdisciplinary essays, this text examines the relationship between the fantastic in novels, movies, and video games and real-world debates about nationalism, globalization, and cosmopolitanism. Topics covered include science fiction and postcolonialism, issues of ethnicity, nation, and transnational discourse. Altogether, these essays chart a new discursive space where postcolonial theory and science fiction and fantasy studies work cooperatively to expand our understanding of the fantastic while simultaneously expanding the scope of postcolonial discussions.

Climate Propagandas Jonas Staal, 2024-09-17. How climate propaganda narratives shape our mis-understanding of the world and how to propagate a future of repair and regeneration instead. In Climate Propagandas, Jonas Staal reveals the propaganda narratives and the divergent realities they evoke that shape the climate crisis in the public imaginary It is often said that the climate crisis is a planetary one but the devastating impact of climate crisis is distributed unequally and its related ideological positions are as vast as they are irreconcilable A liberal might argue the crisis is the result of individual consumer behavior whereas a libertarian sees an opportunity for geoengineering markets A conspiracist might not believe the climate is at risk whereas an ecofascist sees a chance to double down on the argument about who has the superior racial right to survive extinction With an artist's eye and an activist's sense of urgency Staal explores how these stories are told and visualized through popular film and television internet culture climate fiction art architecture and industrial design If life threatening propaganda narratives have conjured our present climate catastrophe Staal suggests then surely stories of regeneration can propagate new planetary futures for all His book identifies narratives that don't follow the path of mass extinction but rather seek repair and regeneration of a world in crisis The Bloomsbury Handbook to Octavia E.
