Manjali Dan Cakrabirawa By Ayu Utami:

Surat dari & untuk pemimpin TEMPO Publishing, 2013 Collective biography of prominent people in Indonesia

Producing Indonesia Eric Tagliacozzo, 2014-02-26 The 26 scholars contributing to this volume have helped shape the field of Indonesian studies over the last three decades. They represent a broad geographic background: Indonesia, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Australia, the United States, Canada, and have studied in a wide array of key disciplines: anthropology, history, linguistics, and literature; government and politics; art history and ethnomusicology. Together they reflect on the arc of our field, the development of Indonesian studies over recent tumultuous decades. They consider what has been achieved and what still needs to be accomplished as they interpret the groundbreaking works of their predecessors and colleagues. This volume is the product of a lively conference sponsored by Cornell University with contributions revised following those interactions. Not everyone sees the development of Indonesian studies in the same way. Yet one senses and this collection confirms that disagreements among its practitioners have fostered a vibrant, resilient intellectual community. Contributors discuss photography and the creation of identity; the power of ethnic pop music; cross border influences on Indonesian contemporary art; violence in the margins and the shadows inherent in Indonesian literature. These various perspectives illuminate a diverse nation in flux and provide direction for its future exploration.

Situated Testimonies Laurie J. Sears, 2013-06-30 The Indonesian writer Pramoedya Ananta Toer made a distinction between a downstream literary reality and an upstream historical reality. Pramoedya suggested that literature has an effect on the upstream flow of history and that it can in fact change history. In Situated Testimonies, Laurie Sears illuminates this process by considering a selection of Dutch Indies and Indonesian literary works that span the twentieth century and beyond, and by showing how authors like Louis Couperus and Maria Dermot help retell and remodel history. Sears sees certain literary works as situated testimonies, bringing ineffable experiences of trauma into narrative form and preserving something of the dread and enchantment that animated the past. These literary works offer a method of reading the emotional traces that historians may fail to witness or record: traces that elude archival constructions where political factors or colonial conditions have influenced processes of what is preserved and how it is shaped. Sears' use of Donna Haraway's notion of situatedness reiterates the idea that all of us speak from somewhere. Testimony, especially eyewitness testimony, is a gold standard in historical methodology and the authors of literary works are eyewitnesses of their time. But the works of authors like Tirto Adhi Soerjo and Soewarsih Djojopoespito are first of all written as literature and literary or stylistic devices cannot be ignored. Sears finds substantial evidence of the movement of psychoanalytic theories between Europe and the Indies/Indonesia throughout the twentieth century. She concludes that far from being only a Jewish or European discourse, psychoanalysis is a transnational discourse of desire that has influenced Indies and Indonesian writers for more than a century. Psychoanalytic ideas and the suggestion by French psychoanalyst Jean Laplanche and Indonesian author Ayu Utami that memories like literature can move us back and forth in time have inspired Sears thinking about historical archives literature and trauma Soekarno's words haunt this book as he haunts Indonesia's past Situated Testimonies rewrites portions of the literary and social history of Indonesia over a sweep of many decades Historians scholars of literary theory and Indonesianists will all be interested in the book's insights on how colonial and postcolonial novels of the Indies and Indonesia illuminate nationalist narratives and imperial histories

Missionaries, Anthropologists, and Music in the Indonesian Archipelago Anna Maria Busse Berger, Henry Spiller, 2025-03-18 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more Although the history of Indonesian music has received much attention from ethnomusicologists and Western composers alike almost nothing has been written on the interaction of missionaries with local culture This study represents the first attempt to concentrate on the musical dimension of missionary activities in Indonesia In fourteen essays a group of distinguished scholars show the complexity of the topic while some missionaries did important scholarship on local music making recordings and attempting to use local music in services others tried to suppress whatever they found Many were collaborating closely with anthropologists who admitted freely that they could not have done their work without them And both parties brought colonial biases into their work By grappling with these realities and records this book is a collective effort to decolonize the project of making music histories Pengakuan: Eks Parasit Lajang Ayu Utami, 2013-05-27 Essays on women marriage and sexuality related to the unfairness patriarchy system in religious and Indonesia culture

Traditions Redirecting Contemporary Indonesian Cultural Productions

Jan van der Putten, Edwin P. Wieringa, 2017-08-21 This volume is the result of a conference held in October 2015 in connection with the Frankfurt Book Fair discussing developments that are considered important in contemporary Indonesian cultural productions The first part of the book reflects on the traumatic experiences of the Indonesian nation caused by a failed coup on October 1 1965 In more general theoretical terms this topic connects to the field of memory studies which in recent decades has made an academic comeback The focus of the chapters in this section is how certain often distressing events are represented in narratives in a variety of media that are periodically renewed changed rehearsed repeated and performed in order to become or stay part of the collective memory of a certain group of people The second part of the book explores how forces of globalisation have impacted upon the local and linguistically surprisingly rather homogeneous cultural productions of Indonesia The main strands of inquiry in this second section are topics of global trends in religion responses to urban development the impact of popular literary developments and how traditions are revisited in order to come to terms with international cultural developments
