The Prophet By Yi Chongjun:

A History of Korean Literature Peter H. Lee, 2003-12-18 This is a comprehensive narrative history of Korean literature. It provides a wealth of information for scholars, students, and lovers of literature. Combining both history and criticism, the study reflects the latest scholarship and offers a systematic account of the development of all genres. Consisting of twenty-five chapters, it covers twentieth-century poetry, fiction by women, and the literature of North Korea. This is a major contribution to the field and a study that will stand for many years as the primary resource for studying Korean literature.

The Prophet and Other Stories Ch'ŏng-jun Yi, 1999 Yi Ch'ng Jun was born in 1939 and graduated from the department of German language and literature at Seoul National University in 1966. He has long been recognized as one of Korea's most prolific and demanding authors. Since his debut in 1965, he has enjoyed consistent critical and commercial success. His characters are ordinary people: writers, farmers, photographers, and artisans, all struggling to survive in an increasingly materialistic and complicated society. They search for life's significance in the whirlwind change of modern Korea, only to discover that the answers to their questions run deep beneath the surface of reality. This collection provides a cross section of Yi's work, beginning with the haunting novella The Falconer (1968) and ending with The Fire Worshipers, which won the National Literary Award from the Korean Culture and Arts Foundation in 1986.

The Secret Island and the Enticing Flame Edwin A. Cranston, 2010-03-31 The three essays in this book draw on the translator's work on love poetry: classical waka and the tanka of Yosano Akiko (1878-1942), but also introduce the prose poems and free verse of a contemporary surrealist poet, Mizuno Ruriko, whose themes are childhood and the loss of innocence. The Secret Island and the Enticing Flame shows the translator of poetry experimenting with three different ways to present the results of his craft. In the Dark of the Year is an essay in sequencing; Cranston arranges translations of fifty love poems in the tanka form, ranging from the ancient chronicle Kojiki to the contemporary poet Tawara Machi, in an examination of desire, melancholy, and despair. The arrangement, inspired by the technique of association and progression, suggests an ongoing love story and limns the essence of the classical love tradition. Young Akiko: The Literary Debut of Yosano Akiko (1878-1942) adopts a biographical approach. Richly documented with the astonishing tanka of the young poet who burst on the literary scene in 1900, this essay updates the author's article originally published in 1977 in Literature East and West. Finally, the longest essay, The Dark at the Bottom of the Dish: Fishing for Myth in the Poetry of Mizuno Ruriko, shows Cranston working outside his usual box on the poems of a contemporary surrealist whose deepest themes are childhood and loss of innocence. Mizuno, hitherto not well known outside Japan, is a master of the prose poem and free verse. Cranston's essay shows the translator searching for the mysterious power that draws him to a poetry quite different from any on which he has previously worked.

Years of Sadness Anyi Wang, 2011-03-31 This anthology focuses on autobiographical works by Wang Anyi, the most prolific and critically acclaimed woman writer in contemporary China, highlighting a personal and emotional dimension of her writing that is essential to a deeper understanding of her creativity and productivity The three pieces selected for this volume A Woman Writer's Sense of Self Utopian Verses and Years of Sadness explore some of the most fundamental and complex issues concerning Wang's identity as a woman and as a writer in early post socialist China the creative and emotional challenges she faced during her sojourn in the United States in the early 1980s and her memories of adolescent years a period of obsession uncertainty and loneliness during the Cultural Revolution

The Pursuit of Harmony Gustav Heldt, 2010-02-28 The Heian court of the late ninth and early tenth centuries represents one of the most innovative and influential periods in the history of Japanese poetry It witnessed the creation of entirely new forms of verse in poetry matches screen poems and officially sponsored anthologies none of which had a precedent in earlier times At the apex of these phenomena lay compilation of the Kokin Wakashū Collection of Poems Ancient and Modern whose status as the first imperial anthology of native poetry would make it integral to Japanese court culture for centuries afterward Despite the enormous historical significance of these new forms of poetry and the marked interest displayed by powerful individuals in patronizing them however little sustained attention has been paid to the ties between the practices of producing and performing verse and processes of economic ideological political and social change in this period This book is intended to address such issues through an investigation of the ways in which different members of the court community deployed poems in the pursuit of power

The Routledge Companion to Korean Literature Heekyoung Cho, 2022-03-15 The Routledge Companion to Korean Literature consists of 35 chapters written by leaders in the field who explore significant topics and who have pioneered innovative approaches The collection highlights the most dynamic current scholarship on Korean literature presenting rigorous literary analysis interdisciplinary methodologies and transregional thinking so as to provide a valuable and inspiring resource for researchers and students alike This Companion has particular significance as the most extensive collection to date of English language articles on Korean literature it both offers a thorough intellectual engagement with current scholarship and addresses a broad range of topics and time periods from premodern to contemporary It will contribute to an understanding of literature as part of a broad sociocultural process that aims to put the field into conversation with other fields of study in the humanities and social sciences While presenting rigorous and innovative academic research that will be useful to graduate students and researchers the chapters in the collection are written to be accessible to the average upper level undergraduate student and include only minimal use of academic jargon In an effort to provide substantially helpful material for researching teaching and learning Korean literature this Companion includes as an appendix an extensive list of English translations of Korean literature

The Residue of Dreams Tsung-i Jao, 2016-07-31 The Residue of Dreams is the first English language publication of the classical style poems of Jao Tsung-i b 1917 a prominent artist calligrapher scholar poet and polymath living in Hong Kong Jao's poems in various traditional forms reflect the tumultuous history of twentieth century China but also demonstrate the enduring resonance of its classical culture The Residue of Dreams contains a broad ranging selection of Jao's poems covering topics from the Second World War and his travels in Southeast Asia to Nietzsche and the scribes of medieval Dunhuang. The poems give a vivid impression of one of the most erudite minds of our time and show a new side of contemporary Chinese literature that has mostly been overlooked in English language publications. All poems are presented both in the original Chinese text and in English translation accompanied by scholarly notes with identification of many of Jao's allusions and cultural references. The introduction places Jao's poetry in the context of modern Chinese literary studies and elucidates its cultural background for general readers.

Portrait of a Suburbanite Seung-Ja Choi, 2015-01-31 This volume is a translation of Choi Seung Ja's 1991 anthology titled Portrait of a Suburbanite. Published in the series of 100 Prominent Korean Poets by Mirae Press, the poems in this volume were selected from four of Choi's previous works titled Love of This Age (1981), Merry Diary (1984), House of Memory (1989), and the subsequently published My Tomb Green (1993). Speaking with a fierce sense of equality and independence, Choi Seung Ja's poetry battled ossified forms of language not only on the political but also the personal front. Like her male colleagues, Choi parodied and critiqued the idol of the father but even further she insightfully explored irreverent content to reveal the gendered constraints of the lyric form. In particular, Choi exposed the idolatrous power of the lover, the basis of exploitation and injustice at the most intimate level. On top of their political disempowerment as citizens, the private and domestic alienation of women as daughters, lovers, and wives form a deep stratum of repression. When Choi's women personae broke this long silence of compliance nurtured by the traditional lyric and voiced themselves as exploited and traumatized yet fearless and tenacious human beings, the shock of this transgression shook the nation. In turn, it demonstrates how long and how powerfully the gender constrictions had been imposed on Korean women.

China on the Margins Sherman Cochran, Paul G. Pickowicz, 2011-03-31 Should modern Chinese history be approached from the center looking out or from the margins looking in? The contributors to this book have explored a variety of relationships between the center or centers and the margins in China under the Qing dynasty, the Republic, and the People's Republic.

Reading Wang Wenxing Shu-ning Sciban, Ihor Pidhainy, 2015-12-31 The first book-length study of Wang Wenxing in English offering biographic, cultural, textual, literary, and linguistic readings of his work. The essays cover topics such as Wang's writing principles, typology of characters, analysis of lexicon, employment of stream of consciousness, musicality, relationship to Modernist writers of the West, relationship to Lu Xun, and issues of translating Wang's works into Western languages. Original contributions by Wang Wenxing illuminate his own writing through a discussion of his way of reading and a biographical essay by Chen Chu-yun, his wife, who shares with the reader moments in their private life and the writing habits of her husband. In addition, this manuscript appends outlines of Wang's novels and bibliographies that are valuable to both students and scholars in their studies of Wang Wenxing's writing in particular as well as to the understanding of Taiwanese and Chinese literatures in general.

The Wind from Vulture Peak Stephen D. Miller, 2013-06-30 The Wind from Vulture Peak addresses the history of the gradual incorporation of Buddhist concepts into Heian waka poetry and the development among court poets of a belief in the production of that poetry as a Buddhist practice in itself Chinese Walls in Time and Space Roger Des Forges, Minglu Gao, Chiao-mei Liu, Haun Saussy, 2010-03-31 Are walls remnants of ancient and medieval societies destined to become anachronistic in modern and post modern times Or will they persist shaping as well as adjusting to new conditions Do walls necessarily constrain and even isolate those who live within them or can they act as a medium of support and communication for people on both sides This volume addresses these questions Authors from six disciplines history art law medicine communication and film provide multiple perspectives on various kinds of walls material ones around and within states cities and towns as well as virtual ones regulating the administration of justice the flow of pathogens and the transmission of information Like Clouds or Mists Elizabeth A.
